The following is a telegram to the State Journal, regarding the sad accident which resulted in the death of Mrs. Baldwin, mother-in-law of Cashie Conger.

Grand Island Neb., Dec 11.—A most distressing accident occurred at 9 o'clock this morning. Mrs. C. A. Baldwin, an elderly lady, being run down by the incoming St. Joseph and Grand Island passenger train and instantly killed. At the point where the accident occurred, only half a block from the Baldwin home, the Union Pacific and St. Joseph and Grand Island tracks run parallel, on the same right-of-way. Mrs. Baldwin had been on the north side of the track to see the woman who does the washing for the family. She was compelled to wait on account of a westgoing U P freight train. She had apparently not seen the St. Joseph train approaching in the distance, as the freight blocked her view, and as soon as the freight had passed the passenger train was almost upon the crossing. As soon as the last car of the freight had passed she attempted to cross, coming right in front of the swiftly running passenger train. She was thrown high in the air and fell alongside the track. Beyond a gash in the left side of her body was not cut or mangled. Her daughter, Mrs. Conger, witnessed the horrible accident from the window of her home, and at once went to her mother's side, reaching it before the train crew had stopped the train and arrived at the place where she lay. She was then dead. Several fractures occurred to arms and limbs. She leaves a husband, two sons, a daughter and two stepsons. Coroner Hawk has summoned a jury to fix the responsibility.
