The very finest The ne plus ultra. The creme de la creme. That's HARPER Whiskey in three languages.

E. Brewer arrived from Muncie, Ill. last Friday and will spend a few of the summer months with us when it is his intention to visit his daughter at Lincoln.

Dr. Romine, the St. Paul dentist will visit Loup City Tuesday, May 22, and remain until the evening of May 24th.

We learn that W. S. Waite and wife are back from their extended visit to Mexico. They passed through St. Paul Monday to Ord, where they will visit her parents, Mr and Mrs. A. Sutton.

A. P. Coffey is having the old primary school building cut in two parts and will move the west end into the corner east of the St. Elmo hotel and convert it into a store building.

A letter from Mrs. L. E. Walsworth, now of Chicago, received last week, stated that D. C. Doe, who left here the week before, was at her home suffering from an attack of appendicitis, and a letter later says that an operation had been performed and he was slowly recovering though chances were slim.

Rev. W. E. Matthews, in his usual shrewd manner started with a paper last week and in a short time had gathered enough money to send the little boy of Mr. John Clark to the hospital at Omaha for treatment.

While at Lincoln last week we had the pleasure of meeting our young friend, Ernest Pilger, who is attending the mechanical engineering department of the State University.

We find a number of people in our travel that will look askance at a newspaperman because he reports things as they are or get riled at a little joke at their expense.

The school board passed a resolution at their last meeting that the teachers for the next year be hired by the old board.

Poteen. This wild west of Ireland is the natural home of "poteen," or illicit whiskey. It is because the loneliness and remoteness of the spots chosen for making it, almost inaccessible through the mountains and bogs save to those who know something about the country, are all in favor of the smugglers escaping detection, while its network of mountain lakes and small running streams affords the necessary cold water for condensing the distilled fumes into spirit during the cooling process.

Dear beyond any "parliament whiskey" by which expression he denotes that sort which has paid the tax imposed by the brutal Saxon government—is this fiery fluid to the heart of every true peasant son of Connaught, and daughter, too, for that matter, for the fair sex, especially if at all in years, takes its fair share. And, in the interest of truth, it must be added that those who inhabit the coast counties from Kerry to Donegal, inclusive, are also fully alive to its seductive merits.

A patient of one of the leading specialists who treat polypi in the nose and throat is a woman well known for her work in Sunday schools in this city. She has a record as the organizer of a number of anticigarette leagues among the schoolboys. She came to her doctor the other day. He cheered her greatly by telling her he could cure her quickly and without the use of the knife.

Patrols on Russian Railroads. The Transiberian railroad is very closely guarded, the management feeling personally responsible for the people they carry on their trains. The road is divided into sections of one, two, or five-eighths of a mile. In a neat little log house, usually in a garden, live the guard and his people.

Chinese Inquests. Coroners' inquests are well known among the Chinese. One of the chief differences between their system and ours is that the Chinese doctors never dissect. In fact, Chinamen have a perfect horror of dissection.

His Resentment. A Memphis young lady who is very fond of her sister's little child, boy of 2 or 3 years, who is visiting her now, was trying yesterday to get him to let her "fix him up" to have his photograph taken. She got her curling tongs and was trying to coax him to let her curl his hair. But with true boyish disgust at the idea of having his hair treated like a girl's he refused to submit to the process.

Wounded in Battle. An army loses far more of its strength through its wounded than through its killed. In the first place there are four or five wounded to one killed, and in the second place the dead men give no trouble, while the wounded require an immense number of noncombatants to attend to them. A great many of the wounded return again to duty, their wounds being comparatively slight, but as a rule more than half of them take no more part in the war.—London Answers.

The Poet's Choice. "I don't care for your poem, 'The Song of the Lark,'" remarked the editor. The poet sighed wearily. "To tell the truth," he replied, "I myself much prefer the lay of the hen."—Philadelphia Record.

Among birds the swan lives to be the oldest, all come cases reaching 300 years. The falcon has been known to live over 100 years.

The average duration of marriages in England is 28 years; in France and Germany, 25; Norway, 24; Russia, 30.

Lady Churchill's Patriotic Retort. Lady Churchill has inherited the wit of her father, as she demonstrated upon one occasion to an eminent British politician. He was somewhat annoyed at the campaign she had made and said: "I really don't understand, Lady Churchill, why or how it is that American ladies refuse to enter political life in their own country, but overwhelm us here in England."

Why She Could Smile. "Your wife always wears such a happy expression, Mr. Williams. She always seems to be smiling." "Yes, she didn't have to earn the $47 worth of gold that she wears in her front teeth."—Cleveland Leader.

J. Q. Hood, Justice of the Peace, Crosby, Miss., makes the following statement: "I can certify that One Minute Cough Cure will do all that is claimed for it. My wife could not get her breath and the first dose of it relieved her. It has also benefited my whole family." It acts immediately and cures coughs, colds, croup, grippe, bronchitis, asthma and lung troubles. Odendahl Bros.

The Truthful Prince. In his book about Persia, "The Land of the Lion and the Sun," Dr. Willis says that he was once conversing with the king's son, and a large circle of courtiers and priests filled the room. The prince narrated his exploits in hunting the antelope the previous day and gravely stated that while pursuing a pair of them when riding a very restive horse his headstall broke.

"What should you have done, doctor?" asked the prince. "I should have tried to stick on as long as the ground was good and, expecting an accident, have awaited it." "Ah, that was because you were not a prince," he said. "I leaped forward, and, unclasping my belt, placed it in the horse's mouth as a bridle, and, thus directing him, pursued my game and killed both antelope."

All the circle applauded, as of course they were bound to do. Dr. Willis was silent. "You don't mean to say you don't believe that?" said the prince. "Speak out if you don't. I shan't be offended in the least."

"Well, your highness, I don't believe it." "Quite right, darogh bood" (it was a lie), unblushingly replied his royal highness and burst into a fit of laughter quite unabashed. The circle of courtiers, of course, were convulsed.

She Smoked. A patient of one of the leading specialists who treat polypi in the nose and throat is a woman well known for her work in Sunday schools in this city. She has a record as the organizer of a number of anticigarette leagues among the schoolboys. She came to her doctor the other day. He cheered her greatly by telling her he could cure her quickly and without the use of the knife.

"But you must promise to follow my directions," said the doctor, with the suspicion of a twinkle in his eye. "Oh, I promise," said the lady. "Without qualification?" asked the physician. "Absolutely without qualification," answered the lady.

"Well, then, you must smoke cigarettes." The lady gasped. Visions of what might happen if she were seen with a cigarette between her teeth by any of her pupils floated before her, and she almost fainted. But the doctor was inexorable. The lady followed his directions, and in a week the foreign growth in her nose had disappeared. But that doesn't mean that the lady is now a confirmed cigarette smoker.—United States Tobacco Journal.

An Epidemic of Whooping Cough. Last winter during an epidemic of whooping cough my children contracted the disease, having severe coughing spells. We had used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy very successfully for croup and naturally turned to it at that time and found it relieved the cough and effected a complete cure.—JOHN J. CLIFFORD, Proprietor Norwood House, Norwood, N. Y. This remedy is for sale by Odendahl Bros.

I consider it not only a pleasure but a duty I owe to my neighbors to tell about the wonderful cure effected in my case by the timely use of Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I was taken very badly with flux and procured a bottle of this remedy. A few doses of it effected a permanent cure. I take pleasure in recommending it to others suffering from that dreadful disease.—J. W. LYNN, Dorr, W. Va. This remedy is sold by Odendahl Bros.
