taken from cattle that died in stalk fields.

Antone's Aim Was Very Poor.
PLATTSMOUTH, Neb., Dec. 10.—Charles Antone, one of Plattsmouth's old citizens, went home about 12 o'clock and shot himself through the left shoulder. His wife says he intended to shoot her and their child. He was under the influence of liquor. He may recover unless blood poison sets in.

May Lose Entire Arm.
CALLAWAY, Neb., Dec. 10.—Postmaster J. J. Douglas, who has been seriously ill from the effects of an operation that was performed on him when fifteen years old, at which time a portion of the bone between the elbow and the shoulder was removed, was again operated on and as a result is resting much easier, though somewhat weak from the loss of blood and the effects of the chloroform. The arm was cut open and the dead part of the bone removed, but as the diseased part is so near the shoulder joint it is feared that sooner or later the arm will have to be amputated at the shoulder.

One man of every 203 is more than six feet tall.

Cattle Disease Infects Locs.
NORTH LOUP, Neb., Dec. 10.—The cattle disease is working sad havoc in this section of the country. Farmers and feeders report the loss of from three to twenty or more out of their herds. It is also reported that forty-five hides per week have been brought into Ord for several weeks, all Building and Loan Association.

LINCOLN, Dec. 10.—Dr. P. L. Hall, secretary of the State Banking Board, has completed his report of the Nebraska building and loan associations. The appended summary, taken from the report, shows in tabular form the remarkable growth of this class of institutions. It takes the associations from the first year that authentic reports were made down to the present year, which period includes 1892, remembered for its expanded credits and wild speculations, and embraces the years 1893, 1894 and 1895, which were marked by panic, drought and destruction of values, and the years 1896 to 1900, inclusive, which have been years of reaction and restoration of values. The summary follows:
Nonp table

Year.	No. of Ass'n's.	No. of shares.	Total assets.
1892	72	45,012	$2,460,557.67
1893	74	61,964.1	3,653,098.83
1894	85	71,231.6	3,888,001.31
1895	81	70,615.	3,929,778.27
1896	73	64,708.75	3,774,858.52
1897	68	67,377.6	3,554,788.08
1898	64	79,974	3,428,728.11
1899	56	85,288.6	2,987,781.67
1900	60	105,825	3,297,350.06

In commenting upon this summary Dr. Hall said that it was the best evidence that could be found which would show how well the building and loan associations of the state stood the strain of disastrous commercial conditions and how certainly they are making safe, conservative basis for future growth and strength.

Washington County Bond Case.
BLAIR, Neb., Dec. 10.—The board of supervisors held a special meeting to take action concerning the S. C. & P. bonds against Washington county. Many petitions were on file, many asking that the county compromise and settle for the bonds, while others asked to appeal. After much discussion a motion was carried to appeal the case from the decision rendered last week in Omaha. This bond question has been before the people a long time and the general opinion is that it should be settled in some way.

Second Call for Mayors.
FREMONT, Neb., Dec. 10.—Mayor Vaughan has called a meeting of the mayors of Kearney, Hastings, Grand Island, Beatrice and Nebraska City, to take place in Fremont December 15, when a second attempt will be made to frame an incorporation act for cities of this class. The first attempt was made some weeks ago, when a meeting was held at the Lindell hotel in Lincoln. Owing to the small attendance at that time nothing was accomplished and the representatives from the different places adjourned sine die.
