Poor Beush is such a huge joke himself, that everything appears to him in that light. As a higher joke than the Northwestern editor's candidacy for representatives, we suggest that Beush take to the Chautauqua platform and deliver lectures, and less he might not be able to select a more interesting subject, we suggest the timely topic of "How I got to be postmaster."

In an item in the Northwestern last week, the figures made us say that the veteran harnessmaker, J. B. Flint, came to Sherman county and to Litchfield in 1896, when it should have been 1886 instead. That makes Friend Flint an earlier comer by ten years. In this case, at least, figures could lie. So lay all the blame to the figures, and none to the always correct Northwestern.

The Northwestern contained an item last week in regard to the Graack Brothers, which was very incorrect, in that we had it that Peter and his bride had moved to Iowa, while Hans and wife remained. The reverse was true. Hans going and Peter remaining. Otherwise the item was in keeping with the fact.

Quite a number of changes occurred in business relations the past number of days. Tenus Biemond purchased the Wes Pedler garage, which he later traded to W. H. Garner for the latter's blacksmith shop. Still later, Mr. Biemond sold the blacksmith shop to Jim Kay. Mr. Garner will probably rent the garage to some party who will open a new garage repair and auto selling shop, though we have no facts on which to base further particulars. Mr. Kay is an industrious, energetic and go ahead young man, who will undoubtedly make good in his line.

If you to buy a farm see W. D. Zimmerman, he has them to sell at right prices. Easy Payments.

We had intended to make an exhaustive write-up of the famous fat-lean bawl-ball game at the park last Thursday afternoon, but our thought got mixed up with the muses and our poetic reporter took the edge off of same by rhyming the event in better shape, and we let it go at that. It was however, a bewildering maze of disappointments to the heavyweights who just could not get into action with their beefy propensities and the sorannies put the kibosh all over them to the tune of 21 to 4, and had not the skeletons took pity on them and put Mutti in the box, the fat squabs would have had nothing but goose eggs to their credit. Oh, you poor rolly-pollies.
