Last week Wednesday night this section got a rain 2 and a quarter inches, the first of any consequence since the 29th of July. Hans Dietz got more than he bargained for as hail accompanying ravaged a goodly section of his corn field, cutting the deuce out of things. However, Hans, says he will have more corn than would have been the case had the splendid rain not come along.

Lost—A black sow weighing about 250 pounds, please notify N. P. Nelson route 2.

Has the primary election law any friends in Nebraska? If so we can not find them. Everyone recognizes that it is the worst and most expensive way of getting tickets in the field. But no patriot has the nerve to propose a change in the law that will eliminate the evils thereof.—Ord Quiz

Litchfield Monitor: We solicit the support of the voters of the county in behalf of our people of our brother editor J. W. Burleigh for representative of the 57th district, Sherman county. Mr. Burleigh is a republican and has always stood by the party, that is not all we believe if he gets the nomination and is elected to the office he will do good work for Sherman county.

Kathlyn is Coming

Hundreds of thousands of people have watched with breathless the adventures of this young lady as they have been flashed on the moving picture screens from coast to coast. Through rare good luck we have secured the story which many claim is the best ever written by that well known author, Harold MacGrath, and will run it in the Northwestern beginning with an early issue. This is one story that you cannot afford to miss, even though you do not make a habit of reading the splendid stories we have been giving. Take our advice and watch for the first installment of "The Adventures of Kathlyn" and read it from beginning to end.

My Discovery of M'Carthy

(Continued from Fourth Page) ing and trust in fighting entirely. At the gong, Irslinger rushed at Mac, only to be met with a stiff right. "Go into a clinch," he heard his second yelling and he tried to, but was brushed aside by Tommy's brawny arms. Then his seconds counseled him to mix it and he tried that, stopping a shower of heavy punches while doing it. One haymaker caught him full in the mouth and he swallowed one of his teeth, two others falling out into the ring. McCarthy, seeing his foe was helpless, let up; but was told by the referee to keep fighting or he would get nothing for his work. The next Irslinger remembers is hearing one of his seconds tell him that it was a "right cross, hard enough to kill an ox that did it," says Henry.

"I rose unsteadily to my feet, still more than half out, and speaking to the audience generally, said: "Well, just return my teeth and we'll let the matter drop." I remember hearing a roar of cheering and laughter and then was led out of the ring.

"The next morning when I arrived at Lewiston the train was met by a big crowd. One boy was carrying a huge wooden tooth mounted on a pole and above it was a transparency reading, "Give me back my tooth." Well, the joke was on me and I laughed it off. Now I wear one of those teeth on my watch chain and Tommy McCarthy wears the other. I am managing Tommy; he has won a great many fights for me and he is going to be the next champion of the world. No? Well, you wait and see. But that was some way to discover a coming champion, what?"
