THE HOME TOWN

By Nels Darling

I know of a farmer living near a town in Illinois who refused four hundred dollars an acre for his land. His is a good farm and yet there is just as good and productive soil on the Nile river. Farms in that locality are practically off the market. Why? Because of their proximity to a real wide-awake thriving town. That town has excellent schools, modern churches, stores that are up-to-date and that are giving service. The people appreciate these stores—they patronize them. They are run by men who know how to buy right—sell right and advertise. They meet competition through correct methods. If some customers wish cheap goods that are not quite up to the standard, at low prices, these merchants furnish them that kind of merchandise. If they haven't the article in stock they send and get it. They tell the truth about their merchandise. When they advertise a twenty percent reduction sale, they put it on. Everybody is treated with courtesy and all are made to feel that their trade is appreciated. These stores are giving service. That word service is a summary of the standard for measuring the value of a man in a community.

The person who appreciates service will not buy groceries of a mail order house and expect the local grocer to make quick delivery on telephone of something overlooked in giving the regular order for the day's dinner. The fair person will not ask the merchant to charge item after item, until quite a bill has been run up, if the ready money is being sent out of town to a mail order house.

When you compare prices, do not overlook the cost and the value of service.

Mr. Farmer, if you are a regular patron of these great catalog houses, do not complain when you fail to find in your local stores, some particular article you want. Do not ask for long credit when your crops are short, and give the home dealer the short end of your money when the crops are long.

Would you trade your spare time for an automobile? That's the proposition—you want that auto and the Northwestern wants an increased subscription list—we are willing to trade.

Our big offer is still in its infancy, but already several people realize what an opportunity it is for them, and they are preparing to take advantage of it. There is room for more and none of you can lose a thing. In fact you can't work in the contest without making a profit. That's fair enough, isn't it? We know you would like that auto and you have just as good an opportunity of winning out as anyone else.

Everybody boost, now. If you are not in the Northwestern's contest yourself, you certainly have a friend on the list. Boost! Help yourself or your favorite win. Maybe your subscription is in arrears, if it is pay up and cast your votes for someone.

That special prize. To the contestant who turns in the most money on subscriptions up to and inclusive of October 21st, we will give a $5 set of silver knives and forks or they may select any article of that value from the jeweler's stock so go after the subscriptions without delay and be the one to win that first special. Votes will be issued according to printed schedule which appears in the paper, these votes will count on both special and grand prizes.
