RAILROADS PROSPEROUS

C. F. Parker, vice president in charge of purchases for the Illinois Central Railroad company, recently gave a demonstration of how to create a business boom. He accepted delivery of an order of five thousand box cars, costing approximately $5,000,000, confirmed an order for 1,000 new refrigerator cars valued at $1,200,000, and announced that he was getting ready to order 100 new gondola cars.

When interviewed on the subject, Mr. Parker said: "It is all a capitalization of our optimistic feeling. The railroads are quick to seize upon an indication, and we have not let up on our buying. Business men everywhere are optimistic. The manufacturers of the middle west are all confident, and that means business. The outlook is excellent for the railroads, and they are next to agriculture in importance. The roads already have given contracts amounting to millions of dollars, but there will be more buying than ever within the next two months. The opening up in weather conditions will give employment to thousands of rough laborers on construction and other right-of-way work and cleaning up. This usually begins about March 1. No one expects a heavy year in new construction, but the lines will continue projects now contracted for.

"ONE-EYED PETE"

The department of zoology at Harvard recently undertook to find out certain things about the worm family which they suspected but of which they were not quite certain. A worm was put in a box with two holes cut in it, through which it could crawl in and out. Across the path leading to the exit he would naturally use, there was a wire charged lightly with electricity. The worm crossed the wire and got the shock. He tried again and took the unpleasant current. The third time he had the same experience. He only needed three lessons, and then he became wise. He never tried that door again, always went out and in by the one that had no live wire in front of it. This worm, which the professors call "One-Eyed Pete," might teach some people who never learn by experience, people who will run up against the same snag, but their heads up against the same stone wall of opposition, be shocked by the same electric current of warning time after time with no wisdom learned by experience.—Christian Herald.

The value of western history is being more and more appreciated as the subject is investigated. Nebraska's history is as interesting and important as that of Massachusetts; the story of the development from Indian occupancy to present conditions is as full of heroic deeds as the recorded history of any of the New England states. The State Historical Society has been busy for many years gathering and preserving historical data and relics for posterity. By ceaseless effort a very valuable collection has been secured. In 1907 a building was begun for the purpose of providing fire-proof quarters for its display. A bill recently introduced in the legislature provides for the completion of this building by a quarter mill levy for two years, which would be a light burden relatively, only $1.00 on property worth $10,000. Nebraska's records and relics are worth it.

In furtherance of Postmaster General Burleson's "economy policy," it is reported that whole crews of railway mail clerks have been laid off in some of the eastern divisions of the service, and that a general order providing for the granting of "leave without pay" to all the clerks in the service may be issued. In line with this policy of the department there is under consideration a cut in the pay of carriers and collectors and the suspension of the promotion with advances in pay that has been the custom in the department heretofore.

On April 2, a woman's political meeting at Chicago broke up in a row, nearly terminating in a riot, and was brought to an end when the managers of the theatre in which the meeting was held dropped the big steel curtain and sent in a riot call for the police. The women of Illinois have had the vote only a short time and are learning fast, but from all the evidence now at hand they will have to wear their hair short if they wish to retain that adornment.

The state legislature is now working overtime without pay, their time limit expiring several days ago. Governor Morehead is making a record of introducing two new bills a day and members of both houses are working overtime to bring the session to a close. A great deal of the taxpayers' money has been spent and the state treasury probably will be in good condition again two years hence when the next legislature convenes.

While this winter has been a very hard one in many respects with deep and permanent snow, roads in a terrible condition and muddy, rough roads still in evidence, the fact remains that the small grain crops are practically assured. Many farmers are still unable to work in their fields and are considerably behind with spring work.

One day last week in the Nebraska House of representatives sixty-eight bills were killed at one shot. While pot shooting is frowned upon by true sportsmen the rule is excepted to in the above case, the only objection being that the "bill killing" was not commenced some time ago.

Now that the city election is over we can give our attention to planning a Fourth of July celebration, park opening or other events for the social benefit of the citizens of the town and the people of the surrounding territory

A Cleveland, Ohio, woman has been awarded damages in the sum of $2,500 as a result of an automobile accident which left a permanent wrinkle in her face.

The cheerful songs of the birds are heard on every hand. Spring is here, and though rather late is made doubly welcome by that fact.

There are also many graduates of the correspondence school of experience, but they rarely frame their diplomas.

The neighborhood pest goes out looking for a job when he leaves school, but mama's pet usually "embarks on a career."

If someone would only invent a tango that could be danced at the washtub the laundries would all be forced out of business.

It isn't the nerve in the tooth that causes a fellow to suffer with toothache—it's the lack of nerve of the galoot who owns the tooth.

American women are the fairest the sun ever shone on, and since the new fashions came in they are not discouraging the sun to any great extent.

Jack Johnson, licked and exiled from his own country, and not welcomed anywhere he goes, certainly is the most unpopular man in the world today.

CIRCLE TOURS TO THE PACIFIC COAST

In planning "The Perfect Coast Tour" or the "See America Tour." Scenic Colorado is of first importance. No coast tourist could afford to say that he had not included "Scenic Colorado" either one way or the other in this world's greatest rail journey. Go one way via Seattle, Portland, and during the season visit either Glacier or Yellowstone National Park. Link together these scenic routes with the Ocean Coast voyage between San Francisco and Portland.

Through the season, various publications, special folders and the like will be available, descriptive of the Burlington circuit rates and through service routes.
