In mentioning the fate of the Lusitania the other day to A. Anderstrom, it developed the fact that he took a trip six years ago on this ill-fated steamer, from New York to Liverpool, her second trip across the ocean. At that time the Lusitania was considered the fastest steamer afloat. Mr. Anderstrom has crossed the water three times and two of the vessels he traveled on now lie at the bottom of the ocean.—Ashton Herald.

At the state meeting of Nebraska commercial clubs held last week at Lincoln, more towns were represented by delegates than ever before in the history of the association. W. D. Fisher of Alliance, was elected secretary and promised to make the next year a hummer. The newspapers of the state were praised for their hearty co-operation in spreading favorable publicity for the clubs and for Nebraska.

The oldest horse that served the country in the war of the Rebellion is still alive, at the age of 53 years, at Horseheads, N. Y. It is owned by P. A. McIntosh who shows the government brand on the animal's hip, which reads "I. C. 1865." Horse and man served in the same regiment. Although bent with age, his hair turning gray and his teeth becoming worn, the old war-horse is still able to eat 12 quarts of oats and take his master to town several times a week. It is estimated the animal is at least 53 years old. Farmers say the average life of a horse is about 15 years.

Ora Tockey was quite seriously hurt last Sunday morning while operating a trap at the blue rock shoot. He was standing near the trap, thinking he was in the clear, when it was sprung, the heavy arm catching him under the knee cap, making a very bad wound. It took about a dozen stitches to close the wound, and it is feared that the knee will be stiff after the wound is healed, but it is hoped that no such result may occur.

A Missouri editor, who was asked by his son to help him with some problems assigned to him by the teacher, says he can't see how a kid learns anything who is sent home with problems something like this one: "If it takes a 4-months old woodpecker with a rubber bill nine months and thirteen days to peck a hole through a cypress log that is large enough to make 117 shingles, and it takes 165 shingles to make a bundle worth 93 cents per bundle, how long will it take a cross-eyed grasshopper with a cork leg to kick all the seeds out of a dill pickle?"

Smart Clothes

are not a sign of affluence in these days. It costs the wearer no more to wear clothes that fit perfectly and are correctly tailored than it does to have ill-fitting and poorly made garments. Our clothes are the acme of style, fit and finish and the price is within the reach of all.

Summer Shirts

As the warm days approach and a desire to go coatless comes on, one naturally begins to think of appropriate shirts for hot weather wear. We have a line that will surely attract the man who wants the coolest fabrics and most artistic patterns.
