Gen. Sir Ian Standish Monteith Hamilton, in supreme command of the British-French army now landed on the Gallipoli peninsula to co-operate with the British-French fleet for the conquest of the Dardanelles and Constantinople, is a poet-soldier, with the tough, wiry frame of the Scotch and the Scotsman's long, narrow head, strong nose and bold chin, and with the big ears of the generous Irishman and the Irishman's ingratiating smile. The eyes are shrewd and calculating, as becomes a canny Scot. but no less emotional and full of fun -the endowment of a son of Erin. The son of a Scotch father, stern industrious and far-sighted, a distiaguished military man himself, and of an Irish mother, fascinating, vi vacious and artistic, Hamilton was born sixty-two years ago in the fortress at Corfu.

Hamilton came under the notice of Roberts in the Boer war of 1880, where he went with the Gordon Highlanders, and where, at the British defeat at Majuba hill, he discovered that there wasn't a British soldier in a hundred who knew how to handle his musket, and not one in a thousand who appreciated the necessity of learning how.

Wounded at Majuba hill and taken to the hospital, Hamilton was given for dead. He revived when Sir Evelyn Wood dashed up, covered with up mud from a long ride, to tell him that the dispatches home were going 'o mention his bravery. It was the first of a series of honor records which now have become so numerous that they would fill a book, while his medals and clasps, if he wore them all at the same time, would weigh him down like a coat of mail.

Hamilton has written books of poetry and ballads, a history of the Jap-This pen or creep should be covanese campaign in Manchuria and a book on military methods. SING SING'S NEW WARDEN

When Governor Glynn appointed Thomas Mott Osborne warden of Sing Sing prison he said he did so that those who claim the present method of trying to reform men who have gone bad is wrong might have a chance to prove that their theory is the correct one. Mr. Osborne is unhampered by any power except the laws, and the trial of his system of treating prisoners is being watched by the country with keen interest.

Mr. Osborne, who is heir to a large fortune, has been intensely interested in prison reform, and he believes there is something good in everybody, even in the unlucky wretch who has to wear prison gray and sleep in a cell. Not only does Mr. Osborne believe in the men in the cells, but he goes further. He does not believe in the cells. If he could have his way, there would be no Sing Sing; there would be no more of the dank cells, dark and gloomy, with their walls dripping moisture and breeding disease; there would be no more of the wearing down a man with solitary confinement, shattering his health and ruining his self-respect so that he is indelibly stamped "prison made" when he again gets out and tries to get a job.

As soon as there is danger of frost the vines should be pulled up. A fork should be run under the hill, loosening the ground so all the nuts may be pulled up with the vine. The vines may be allowed to remain in the field if the weather is good, or they may be taken to the barn and the nuts picked off at any time.

If the vines are not allowed to get wet they make excellent hay. There will be many culls or imperfect nuts that are worth nothing and should be left on the vines for the stock.

OF BERKSHIRE HOG

Animal in Good Condition Is Attractive in Appearance-Noted for Prolificacy.

In general form a modern well-bred Berkshire, in good condition, is sym metrical throughout, attractive in ap pearance and recognized at once as an animal of more than ordinary worth

The improved Berkshire is further characterized by the superior quality and proportionate quantity of its flesh which is tender and juicy, the hams and shoulders being nicely marbled with fat and lean meat, while the sides are also noted for their excellence in these respects, making them especially desirable for curing as bacon. There is less loss in dressing a wellfitted Berkshire than in dressing any other kind of hog. From the fattening pen to the packing house he suffers of his cattle. If he is not any of these less loss than any other breed, and after he has gone through the curing process and has found the consumer the percentage of waste is the smallest of any breed.

Berkshire swine are also noted for their docility and prolificacy, the sows found in the personal equation. It's usually bringing large litters and proving themselves gentle mothers.

ILLINOIS' FIRST WOMAN MAYOR

Mrs. Angela Rose Canfield of Warren, first woman mayor in Illinois, who was elected over two other candidates by a plurality of four votes, has ideals for her little city.

Warren, situated within half a mile of the Wisconsin state line in Jo Daviess county, is not a bad place at all, she says. She will try to make the city even more attractive than it is during the two years she will oversee its municipal affairs

For the most part she worked inside, but on a number of occasions was sent out into the region on missions which she invariably carried through successfully. Now she is a milliner.

"DEAR OLD BEN"

His intimate friends refer to him affectionately as "Dear Old Ben." His superiors describe him with the single word "loyal." His subordinates call him "human." And, in brief, coupled with his record for steady advancement and absolute dependability, which has made him the prototype in the navy of what Brig. Gen. Hugh Scott, chief of staff, stands for in the army, these characteristics give perhaps as good an idea as can be obtained of the kind of man Rear Admiral William Shepherd Benson, chief of naval operations, really is. But be not misled by the nickname, or by the fact that he was graduated in '77, and is nearing his sixtieth birthday, into picturing him as a crotchety and bewhiskered old seadog; for after you have heard his heard how he has spent 22 years at sea, circumnavigating the African Shalls & Fritt coast at one time and going to the

The chief bookkeeper in a large business house in one of our great Western cities speaks of the harm coffee and tea did for him:

"My wife and I drank our first cup of Postum a little over two years ago, and we have used it ever since. to the entire exclusion of tea and coffee. It happened in this way:

"I had an attack of pneumonia which left me with dyspepsia, or neuralgia of the stomach. My 'cup of cheer' had always been coffee or tea. but I became convinced, after a time, that they aggravated my stomach trouble. I happened to mention the matter to my grocer one day and he suggested that I give Postum a trial. "Next day it came, and we liked it so much that we will never change back; for I am a well man today and have used no medicine.

"My work as chief bookkeeper in our Co's branch house here is of a very confining nature. During my coffee drinking days I was subject to nervousness and the 'blues' in addition to my sick spells. These have left me since I began using Postum and I can conscientiously recommend it to those whose work confines them to long hours of severe mental exertion."
