NEBRASKA UP NEAR THE TOP

The value of farm property in Nebraska per capita of farm population is 56 1/2 per cent greater than the average per capita farm value of the ten states of the corn belt. This is shown by a chart compiled by W. D. Fisher of Alliance, secretary of the Nebraska Associations of commercial clubs. The chart shows there are thirteen states in the union which have farm property in excess of $1,000 per capita for their people who live on farms. Nebraska is the second state in the union in per capita value of farm lands.

The value of the farm lands in Nebraska runs 56 per cent higher per person on the farm than the average of the following states: Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri and Kansas.

Nebraska stands second in the per capita value of the corn crop, according to this bulletin. The state brings an annual per capita value to its farmers of 45 1/2 per cent more than the average of the ten states named.

Nebraska stands second in the per capita value of its wheat crop and brings an annual per capita value of wheat to its farmers of 94.7 per cent more than the average of the corn belt states.

This state ranks fifth in value of the oat crops annually and leads five of the corn belt states 58 1/2 per cent in the per capita value of this crop.

Nebraska ranks fourth in the value of rye, fourth in potatoes in the corn belt, second in per capita value of horses, fourth in per capita value of dairy cattle, first in per capita value of beef cattle for the corn belt states, second in the per capita value of swine for the corn belt states.

Nebraska has the smallest farm population of any of these ten states, its farm population being only 57 percent of the average population of the ten states of the corn belt.—Omaha Bee.

FREAK LAWS IN OTHER STATES

Despite Publicity And Ridicule Of Press Lawmakers Continue To Pass Many Freak Laws—Dry State Enacts Law Licensing Soft Drinks.

Despite the publicity given to freak laws and the satirical comment passed upon them by thoughtful newspapers, legislators continue to make laws which are so absurd that their enforcement is impossible, and politicians bend the statutes to suit their own ends and personal advancement regardless of the good of the state. Wisconsin, which has been more or less in the limelight for freak laws, has passed a law making it compulsory for a person to pay $5 for a license to give away cigarettes. Cigarette smokers who have been in the habit of "bumming the makings" or asking a friend for a cigarette cannot do so without subjecting the friend to a sixty day jail sentence.

The legislature of Georgia has passed a law to prevent legislators from entering the legislative halls in an intoxicated condition. Although Georgia is a dry state, she is the only state in the union which has deemed it necessary to pass such a law. The "soft drink" men of Georgia are also up in the air over a new "soft drink" bill which has just been introduced. By this bill, every soft drink stand in the state will have to pay a license of from $25 to $50 a year; every bottling plant shall pay a license of $100 a year; all manufacturers of soft drinks shall pay a tax of ten cents per gallon on all syrups, twenty-five cents on all tinctures and fifty cents per gallon on all extracts used in soft drinks.

Texas, also, steps into the light with a curious perversion of law for the purpose of reprisal. The wet and dry forces of Wichita Falls have been about equally divided. Recently the bartenders refused to vote for the candidates of the labor unions, and now all labor unions are going to get even by voting out the saloons and depriving the recalcitrant bartenders of their jobs. Landlords in the business section of the town are going to be made to suffer also. They turned down recently a petition to reduce rents. Now these renters are going to vote out the saloon in order to throw 27 vacant store rooms on the real estate market and thus force down rents. In Chicago a woman is urging the passage of an ordinance to force milkmen to wear rubber heels on their shoes.

LOUP CITY GUN CLUB.

At the practice shoot held last Sunday Thompson won the spoon trophy, by breaking twenty-five targets straight. Leslie Hiddleston shot well in the last event breaking twenty-five straight. Some poor shooting was done, however, on account of the hot sun. Following are the scores:

Shot	Broke
Thompson.....	75 70
Tockey.....	75 68
Elsner.....	75 60
Schuman.....	75 60
Elsner.....	75 39
Johansen.....	50 46
Hiddleston.....	50 40
Graffe.....	50 25
