Mr. H. W. Shipley who this spring moved on the Kerr farm, five miles southwest of Loup City, is a new reader of the Northwestern and a most enterprising young man. He has in fifty acres of corn and twenty-five acres of oats, all of which are in the finest possible shape for magnificent crops.

Miss Beatrice Nightingale returned home from University Place last week Wednesday suffering from ill-health. She expects to return as soon as she fully recovers her usual health. Miss Nightingale has a musical class at University Place and has taxed her energies too severely and undoubtedly a much-needed rest will make complete restoration of health.

Frank W. Burieligh, the editor's son terminates his furlough today and turns to his company Friday morning at Fort Crook. His furlough proper lasts till the 6th of July, but the fact that his services as bugler are needed in a target practice his company will take the 20th instant up into South Dakota, accompanied by the desire of his commanding officer that he might see fit to return to his company by the 15th instant, takes precedence over the pleasure of a longer visit at home.

A few lines from Ward Ver Valin, who is at Fremont as a county delegate to the 41st annual convention of the Nebraska Sunday school association, gives the names of the Sherman county delegates to the convention as follows: Ray Kearns, Ada Smith and Mamie Truelsen from the Presbyterian; Robt. Dinsdale, Adeline Leiminger and Mamie Anderson from the Methodist and Minnie Gilbert from the Baptist Sunday schools of Loup City, and J. T. Campbell of Litchfield. All the delegates have good places to stay.

Sad Insanity Case.

Last Thursday afternoon, Mrs. E. E. Margritz of Bristol township was brought before the county board of insanity, declared of unsound mind and committed to the asylum at Hastings. The unfortunate lady was brought to town by her husband, Elmer E. Margritz, accompanied by his mother, his brother and a young sister of his afflicted wife, all of whom testified as to her mental condition. The testimony showed this to be the third attack she has had, one when a young girl, and was placed in the asylum at Norfolk, from which she was later discharged as cured, another instance some four years ago, after her marriage, and while living in Dodge county, when she was committed to the asylum at Lincoln, from which she was discharged after six months treatment. She seemed all right till about two weeks since, when she began to show signs of mental disarrangement which has been growing rapidly worse till two or three days previous to her being brought to town, when it culminated in a series of troubles, in which she attempted the life of her husband's mother, of her own, and threats of injury to others around, when it was found necessary to have her re-committed to an asylum. Two children have been born to Mr. and Mrs. Margritz, the youngest of whom is some five or six years of age, making the mother's case especially sad to the husband and father, as well as to the practically motherless children. It is hoped, however, that the unfortunate lady may yet recover her mentality and be restored to home and loved ones. She was taken to the asylum at Hastings Friday morning by Sheriff Williams, accompanied by Mrs. Margritz, Sr.

A two-inch rainfall was reported at Austin early Tuesday morning.

Misses Meroe and Emma Outhouse returned home from school Tuesday evening.

We understand Miss Eleanor Bradley of this city and Mr. Chas. Bradley, a barber of Pleasanton, were married at Grand Island on Tuesday of this week.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Goodwin at Grand Island, Tuesday morning, June 9, 1908, a daughter. Mrs. Goodwin was formerly Miss Belle Mulick of this city. The Northwestern hastens to tender congratulations to the happy parents.

The regular morning services will be held next Sunday at the Baptist church. Preaching at 10:30, Sunday school at 11:30. In the evening the Children's exercises will follow B. Y. P. U. instead of the preaching service. We are anticipating a good time. All are cordially invited to attend.

Elmer Babcock was in to see us yesterday and says his father-in-law, A. M. Corbin, and brother-in-law, Louis Day, were both in the tornado that visited Fairfield last Friday, their houses being reduced to kindling wood. Mr. Corbin is a veteran of the civil war and visited here last year.

The supper given at the reading room last Saturday by the ladies of the various churches in financial aid of the young men's society netted some $47. The supper was nicely gotten up, plenty of it and well patronized by the business men and people generally, in spite of the miserable weather prevailing on that evening.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Paige, now of Mitchell, Neb., will regret to hear of the death of their 8-month-old baby boy, which occurred last Sunday. Mrs. Paige is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theo. Wilson of Ashton township. Mrs. L. H. Currier and Clyde Wilson of Ashton, brother and sister of Mrs. Paige, went to Mitchell Monday to attend the obsequies.

The county board of supervisors convened on Monday of this week in the regular June session. Monday was for the most part consumed over the award of contract for the building of the new steel bridge over the Loup at Rockville, which was finally given to the Capital Bridge Co., of Lincoln for $4800. There was a glorious scrap on between some five or six companies, as we understand. Tuesday and Wednesday the board sat as a board of equalization, and the session may last over the better part of the week.

Rev. D. W. James, the new pastor of the Baptist church, arrived here Friday afternoon, accompanied by his good mother, and is now fairly at home in the parsonage. Pastor James' father and mother will live with him. He is a recent graduate of college and this is his first pastorate. He is a very pleasant and intelligent appearing young man and our Baptist friends express themselves as more than satisfied with their choice. The Northwestern, with our people generally, wish unlimited success may attend his efforts here.
