Political Announcements

FOR COUNTY TREASURER
I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of County Treasurer on the Democratic ticket, subject to the action of the electors at the primaries. O. F. PRINSON.
FOR SHERIFF
I hereby announce myself as a candidate for re-election to the office of Sheriff of Sherman county, Nebraska, subject to the will of the Republican voters at the coming primary elections. Respt., L. M. WILLIAMS.

It is thought that some of these days the Lincoln club will win a game of ball.

Look out for the total eclipse of the sun this evening, beginning about 6:10 and lasting some two hours.

Talking about base ball, a 24-inning game was held in San Francisco the other day. That's going some.

Edward Everett Hale, the veteran chaplain of the U. S. senate, died last Thursday, aged 89 years. He was one of the greatest literary men of the past century; a truly great man.

Are you a candidate for county office this fall? If so, let the people know it with the best possible publicity—announcement in the county papers, and of course, especially through the Northwestern.

Judge, the little Indian outlander of the Lincoln team is doing the same fine work this season that distinguished him last year. He is covering a lot of territory in the outer garden and hitting the ball hard. Jude belongs to the Chippawa tribe of Indians.

The democrats of Nebraska are building great hopes over the report that Bryan will be a candidate for the U. S. senate. They want a representative in the senate and of course they have only one man, prophet and seer—Bryan and he is their only hope.

Some one informs us that Gibson's "Standing Joke," Honest Bill, had another open letter in the Dinky last week, exploded in this direction. As the Northwestern only exchanges with reputable papers, the exudation from the silky pores of the musky affair has not come under the observation of the writer.

W. H. Harrison of Grand Island has cast the political horoscope with his thoroughness. He sees not only one but two county option platforms in Nebraska in 1910. One will be adopted by the republicans of course. The other he sees adopted by the democrats. Why? Because the impression is getting stronger every day that Nebraska is a dry state, and the democrats don't want to get licked.—State Journal.

The death of such a man as Edward Everett Hale occasions much leaping at the sun by those who feel called to put in a sentence or two the life he lived and its meaning. So long and fruitful a life is not so briefly disposed of. The sage who has just left us lived and did in a way to gain a rare homage. Tolstoy, Julia Ward Howe, Florence Nightingale—who else now living can be listened with him in world wide veneration? It is worth searching volumes by him and about him to learn the secret of the reverence in which he was universally held. Unless appearance and common opinion are misleading the secret will be found an old and simple one; great personal power coupled with extraordinary unselfishness. Who ever heard or thought of Edward Everett Hale except as doing something for somebody else?—Lincoln Journal.

The fact of the total eclipse of the sun this evening from 6 to 8 o'clock, recalls to the editor the total eclipse of Old Sol in 1869. The writer at that time was a youth of 15 years and living at Boone, Iowa. As the sun became darkened, everybody procured a piece of smoked glass, and every house top and vacant space where good sight could be had was used by the people. One instance we very well recall, was that of a young German about 20 odd years of age, who was imbued with the idea that the world was coming to an end, and so frightened did he become that he went into the Odd Fellow lodge room in the second story of a store building on Main street and could be heard lustily praying the meanwhile, and as the darkness intensified his prayer became louder and more urgent, until he might be heard for more than a block away. As the shadow passed away and the face of the sun began to lighten the earth, the young fellow decended the stairway very crestfallen and shamed-faced, only to hasten away from the smiles and joking remarks of those who had gathered to witness the outcome. As the eclipse neared totality, fowls seemed to think night had come and went to roost in the nearest convenient places, and all nature took on the aspect of night. If we remember right, the time the sun was completely hidden was but a few seconds but to the anxious observer the time from the beginning of the shadow till the total eclipse seemed to move so slowly that it appeared it would never come. The eclipse then, if we remember correctly, was about noon time or a little after.

To the voters of Sherman County, Nebraska

Soliciting your support and votes for the nomination to the office of County Treasurer and applying for endorsement by the People's Independent and the Democratic Party organizations, I here make known my candidacy for this nomination. To this announcement and the race for the office and its emoluments, I confess that I am not urged by "Many Friends" as is the custom, nor is there that loud and persistent call at large for my services—as it should regularly be—but the announcement proceeds, so far as I know, not from any weightier reasons than my desire to hold the office with your kind indulgence. Very truly yours, LOUIS REIN.

Mayor Dahlgren may sound all right to the people of Omaha, but the people of Nebraska will never stand for Governor Dahlgren.—St. Paul Press (dem.)

While the State Journal has been one of the leading papers of the state for nearly forty years, yet its most rapid growth has been recently, during which time it has come to be recognized by many as Nebraska's greatest paper, making most of those things that interest Nebraskans most in this way creating a place for itself in the daily life of thousands of Nebraska homes. The country press generally could be quoted as saying that the editorial page of The Journal is exceptionally strong and fearlessly independent. It is also unusually bright, Bixby himself being a gem. No writer in Nebraska ever had the warm admiration of so many people as Bixby. His column in the Journal is alone worth the price of the paper. His wholesome philosophy will put sunshine and cheer into the most chronic gloom. The state university, the state house and all other public institutions at Lincoln make the Journal peculiarly a paper for the state people. It is clean, excluding all liquor and impure medical advertising. Its sporting department is clever and there with the goods. More money is spent for state telegraphic news than by other state dailies. If you want to know what is happening in Nebraska, as well as the whole world, The Lincoln Journal is the paper for you. Why not give it a trial subscription?

Two physicians were called Monday to see Clark Allman's little daughter, Edith.

Anyone on Route 2 receiving an important letter up to Monday, and which requires an immediate answer, can find carrier at A. J. Lindgren's until 12:35 p. m.

Miss Lizzie Petersen on Route 1 has been on the sick list the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lindgren were trading in Loup City Wednesday.

Mrs. N. P. Nelson is on the sick list this week.

W. J. McLaughlin drove to Litchfield Tuesday.

H. G. Hosier took a party of ladies out to L. P. Squires' Monday.

There are now 4027 rural routes in the United States, of which 655 are tri-weekly. There are only ten routes that are just 34 miles in length, and Route 2 is one of them.

Carrier Williams, since he has become a happy father, says he will now have no further trouble about a substitute carrier on Route 3.

Miss Essie Reed called at carrier Conger's while in town last Saturday.

Henry Reed, who has been helping on the bridge grading at Rockville is at home again. Mrs. Reed is suffering from a bad case of asthma.

Clark Allman's little girl had a boil formed just below the knee joint last week and while getting into the buggy later she hit it against something, making her deathly ill. She was taken into the house and put to bed and a high fever culminated, changing into chills at times. However, after the boil broke she became better, but for a time she was a very sick child.

Will Engle went to Kearney again last Friday for treatment, accompanied by Mrs. Engle. Will was at Kearney again last week for treatment and had only returned home a few days when he was taken worse. Mr. Engle's children were very ill at the time with a threatened attack of typhoid fever, but at the present time are much better. The parents have the sincere sympathy of all in troubles and added troubles.

Mr. and Mrs. Romeo Conger and daughter Hazel were guests last Sunday at the home of J. W. Conger.

W. M. Knoefel took two loads of hogs to market Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Brodork were trading in Loup City Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Boushausen visited at the home of Will Hawk last Sunday.

Miss Maude Peterson visited at her home on Route 1 over last Sunday.

Rufus Hiddleston visited at his home in Loup City last Sunday.

Jim McBeth attended Odd Fellows lodge in Loup City last Saturday evening.

B. B. Fitzjerold had a narrow escape from death Saturday night while riding along the divide road towards Litchfield in a thunder storm about 9 o'clock. When within a few yards of the L. P. Squires home, himself and horse were knocked to the ground by a bolt of lightning, but fortunately only stunned by the shock and soon recovered. John Squires also received a shock from the same bolt while engaged in shutting off his windmill. It was close enough that it burned his arm a little. Very little rain fell at this point but was heavy south and east, about 9 miles wide and reaches as far as Ravenna.

Please do not fail to raise the signal on your mail boxes when you mail a letter, as carrier does not have to stop at the box unless signal is up or he has mail to deposit in the box.

Get all your money orders of the carrier. It helps the route. Mail all your letters and packages and buy all your stamps and envelopes of him and if you spoil one the carrier will give you 2 cents for it on return. Also take a county or daily paper. It makes the route more interesting for the mailman.

The rural carriers and postmaster and wives of Litchfield have organized into a society the object of which is to celebrate their birthdays as they come. This is a move in the right direction.

Tom McFadden traded in Loup City last Friday.

Elmer Jurdenson is here visiting his brother this week.

Mrs. V. Allman visited at Clark Allman's last Friday.

Andy Gray was at Loup City last Wednesday trading.

A. D. Peters took a load of corn to Loup City Monday.

Fritz Bickel commenced cutting alfalfa Monday.

Winter wheat is in bloom. Alfalfa first crop being cut. Some potatoes are in bloom. Pastures look good. Stock is commencing to look slick. Most corn cultivated over once; some fields are being cultivated the second time.

M. V. Wescott, E. Beal and P. B. Beel were the first patrons on Route 2 to commence cutting alfalfa. They started Monday.

Castel brothers fixed a bad piece of road for carrier last week.

There will be another dance in P. G. Petersen's new barn Saturday evening.

Never since the early settlement of Sherman county has there been so much new land broke out as there has been this spring. The high price for wheat and corn and the increased demand for farms is the cause.

Louie Spahr, Frank Grow, Ashly Conger, Edgar Draper and Will George were camping out last Saturday night west of Loup City on the river banks. They were all out for their health.

Luther Goodwin went to Rockville on the I. O. O. F. special Sunday to attend the picnic.

Fritz Bickel's new house was ready for the plasterers Monday.

Look for the eclipse of the sun at 6:10 this evening.

Mrs. A. W. Fruite of Kinney, Ill., was visiting at the home of L. P. Squires the past week.

Peter Rowe has the contract to lath Fitz Bickel's new house, which will be a daisy when completed.

A physician was called out to see L. P. Squires Thursday last.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Leschinsky visited at the L. P. Squires Thursday last.

Carrier is at your mail box each day at exactly the same time. Please mail your letters on the route. It makes it more interesting for the carrier on his rounds.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Hale visited their son and daughter last Friday. They are putting in all the land, except a few acres, to alfalfa. Mr. Hale is also putting up a fine house and barn, the barn to be just like the one in Loup City. This will be a good improvement for this part of the route taking the place of old tumbled down sheds. The cement blocks for the foundations are already on the ground and every thing will be rushed as fast as possible.

A heavy wind and rain storm on the route last Saturday night south-west of Chas. Snyder's.

Ernest Daddow has newly painted his house and all out buildings.

Carrier travels in miles on the routes, 848 miles per month or 10176 miles per year. No wonder that the horses, wagon and harness wear out.

Ladies aid society of Wiggle creek met at the home of Mrs. Nick Dadow last Wednesday.
