Touch the picnic lemonade lightly. Long columns of hot weather advice are not needed. The best is the shortest—"Keep cool."

Until the earth gets softer aeroplaning is hardly likely to become as safe a sport as croquet.

This is the best month in the year in which to get statistics about the kissing germs.

Cuba has four times too many star boarders in public office. They are eating up all the revenues.

Radium will not soon become a household necessity. It is quoted at $9,000,000 a pound.

Soon airplane accidents will be as fashionable as appendicitis operations were a few years ago.

The north pole seems to have fewer chances of remaining undiscovered now than ever before since the world began.

The fine growing weather of the last few weeks will tell on the cost of food before long, and the story will be of the right kind.

It is all right to sing and talk and rave over the scent of the new-mown hay, but take a thought of the chaps who have to harvest it.

It is said that the Cubans have no love for Americans, which was to be expected after we have done so many favors for them.

After having been caught in sudden showers two or three times the intelligent man learns to carry an umbrella and thus bring on a protracted drought.

The Chicago University professor who says that woman is to blame for everything ought to be ashamed at this late date to be falling in line with the generations of plagiarists of Adam.

All the world loves a lover, no matter what his salary; but when he assumes the responsibilities of matrimony at $3 per week society's sympathy justly becomes a desire to spank.

And now comes the disillusioner to remark that man-eating lions are the old, decrepit fellows with bad teeth. It is too bad. Next they will be telling us that gorillas do not twist gun barrels around their necks.

The season is at hand for the annual Sunday drownings. Every summer the warning for prudence and care is given, and just as regularly the warning is disregarded. This season will probably have its due share of water-pleasure tragedies.

Great indignation is being expressed in Chicago over high poker playing by fashionable women and homes are being disrupted. There must be some stop put to this continual encroaching by women on masculine privileges.

A man has just died in New Jersey who left a fortune of $100,000, made out of a penny toy shop. This was absolutely untainted money, for every cent of it meant a child's happiness given in return, which is rather a rare record as fortunes go in these days.

It is said that the best residents of Newport are to organize a revolt against freak entertainments, monkey dinners and the like. They are joining the safe and sane procession, so far as the summer season is concerned. And the monkeys will be quite as well pleased as the best residents.

Messina has had another earthquake visitation. Comparatively little damage was done, for the grim reason that the destruction wrought last December was so complete. But so severe were the shocks that, had the city been in the former condition, the disaster might have been on a frightful scale. The circumstances would seem to discourage the idea of rebuilding in so dangerous a locality.

The action of King Manuel of Portugal in decorating his mother for bravery in trying to defend him at the time of his father's assassination and his bestowal of honor on the policeman who killed the murderer of his father will doubtless make him doubly popular. There is too much human appeal in this tribute to mother love and to heroism in humble life not to arouse response in the popular heart.

A New Orleans inventor claims that he has a wireless device by which warships may be blown up at a distance of four or five hundred miles. The best that can be said about such inventions is that they make people careful about giving provocation to use them. Otherwise, they do not tend to show the progress of the humane in humanity.

It turns out that the suspicious vessel on the coast of North Carolina which was under the vigilant surveillance of Uncle Sam's revenue cutters, was not intended for a filibustering expedition in aid of Castro, but for the use of the Venezuelan government. So the ship has been allowed to go on the way rejoicing and no harm done, while other nations have had an object lesson as to the vigilance of the United States in preventing illegal enterprises.

The state board of health of Washington is experimenting in Yakima or chards with a fly trap that is guaranteed to catch a bushel of the insects every 24 hours. A trap that can catch a bushel a day in an orchard ought to be able to catch the comparatively few that manage to get into houses during the same period of time; and if this can be demonstrated there will be a market for traps and a reduction of the annoyances and dangers of "fly time."

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hunted of Dorchester celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary at their home here. The golden wedding ceremony was read by the Rev. C. L. Walter Berger, the 18-year-old farmer lad who is in jail in Crawford in connection with the attempted wrecking of the Burlington train near that place, according to officials, has confessed. He now tells the officers that he alone did all the work of piling rails on the track which might have put the heavy Burlington train into the ditch.

George Meyers, a former resident of Beatrice, was killed at Palmer, Kas., where he has been employed the last few weeks with a threshing outfit. The members of the crew with whom Meyers was working had finished threshing at a farm in the Palmer vicinity and were on their way to another farm when the accident occurred.

The police department of Grand Island is making diligent effort to ascertain the identity of a man, woman and child who passed through that city in an automobile, presumably from the eastern part of the state and bound for Kearney. When the machine approached the canning factory it ran into and killed a horse. The automobilists put on speed and disappeared in a cloud of dust.

Mrs. John Singleton of North Platte has received a pocketbook containing $5 in money from the matron of the Union depot at Omaha. A year ago she found this pocketbook in the Union depot and turned it over to the matron of the depot and was advised that if the owner was not found within a year it would be returned to the finder. The owner was not found and the matron kept her word.

Civil service examinations will be held at North Platte on the 25th and 26th of this month to secure eligibles for appointment of a translator in the United States patent office and inspector of electric light plants. These will be the first civil service examinations held in North Platte, a recent order having placed North Platte on the list of places for holding of civil service examinations.

Railroad attorneys appeared before the railway commission and asked that the hearing of proposed classification of freight rates be postponed until after the federal court has heard and passed on the evidence in the case now on file there. It was argued by the attorneys that the rates in effect in 1907 and filed with the commission were not compensatory and that the rates proposed by the commission are not compensatory.

The state fair management has arranged for a series of lectures to be delivered during the fair which it is believed will be of interest and benefit to the farmers of the state. Tuesday, during the fair week, B. F. Kingsley will deliver a lecture on draft horses. E. W. Hunt will lecture on the conservation of the natural resources on Wednesday and Prof. O. G. Holden will lecture on Thursday to the farmers.

The board of directors of the state Odd Fellows' home met in Fremont and voted to erect a $50,000 two-story brick building at York. It will be a thoroughly modern structure with all conveniences and have accommodations for fifty inmates. Judge Loomis, who is chairman of the board, was directed to have plans and specifications prepared and bids submitted which will come before the grand lodge at the October meeting.

Henry Seymour, secretary to the State Board of Equalization, has written letters to a number of county assessors regarding the bank stock listed on a number of abstracts of assessment. Gage county last year returned bank stock, both state and national, at an assessed valuation of $12,906 and this year bank stock was reported at an assessed value of $151. Mr. Seymour feels satisfied that a mistake has been made by the assessor.

President William H. Taft will visit Omaha Monday, September 20, arriving at 4:30 in the afternoon and remaining until 11 o'clock that evening. This word came to Omaha in telegrams from Senators Burkett and Brown.

Stephen Starling, for thirty years a resident of Gage county, was found dead at the home of C. H. Kelley, where he had been living. A coroner's inquest was held and the jury returned a verdict that death was due to natural causes. Mr. Starling was 54 years old and leaves a widow in the hospital at Lincoln.

A tornado struck Bartley doing considerable damage by twisting off telephone poles, tearing down buildings, unroofing cars of grain in the Burlington yards and blowing down several of the Lincoln Land company's alfalfa stacks.

Sheriff Fenton and Deputy McFarland arrested a man named Jake Erwin of Nemaha county, who is wanted across the river in Missouri for robbing two stores and a barber shop. He had some of the stolen goods with him when arrested. He was taken across the river in a boat and turned over to the Missouri authorities.

Rate Clerk Powell of the railway commission has made a comparison of the business done by the railroads in the month of April in the years 1908 and 1909. The detailed reports shows the ticket sales of the Rock Island amounted to about $2,000 more than the revenue from its freight business. The revenue from less than car lots decreased, while the revenue from the shipment of car lots increased in freight forwarded. The same is true of freight received.

Action Against Telephone Company.
Attorney General Thompson will begin an action against the Johnson County Home Telephone company. It is alleged that the rates of the company were changed without permission from the commissioners.

Extra Session Probable.
Governor Shallenberger has received a copy of the proposed amendment to the federal constitution from Philander C. Knox, secretary of state. It was announced at the office of the governor that no extra session would be called merely for the purpose of adopting the amendment, but that one may be called for "some unfinished business" and the ratification of the amendment would be incidental to that.

No Union Depot.
Lincoln seems far away from a union depot. The Burlington has offered its depot for a union station and the matter seemed to be in a fair way of settlement, but now a lot of wholesalers have come across with serious objections and there may nothing result from the offer.

Good May Move to Lincoln.
Ellis E. Good of Peru, formerly a member of the state legislature, having served both in the house and the senate, has bought a lot in Lincoln and is contemplating making this city his home.

Republicans to Move.
The republican state headquarters will be moved to the Lincoln hotel to the rooms directly south of Teeter's jewelry store, on the ground floor.

Sample Ballots Mailed.
Secretary of State Junkin mailed out sample ballots to be used in the coming primary. The ballots under the new primary law are of the blanket variety. They are 2 feet 4 1/2 inches wide and 9 inches long. Across the top is the party designations: Democrat, republican, pro-independent, prohibition and socialist. Mr. Junkin has rotated the names of the candidates on the sample ballots, and the samples will be different in the various counties insofar as it is possible to make them different.

Soft Drink Men Blackmailed.
Levi Munson and Dan Raymer, the former proprietor of the Royal hotel and the latter, the owner of a soft drink emporium, have reported that they feel mortally certain they have been done for $10 each. Munson said one of his roomers settled a $10 board bill by agreeing to prevent a certain other roomer from complaining against the hotel for selling beer, and Raymer gave up $10 on the same kind of talk. Both are positive no liquor or beer had been sold, but to avoid publicity suffered the holdup.

HOSTS OF GRAND ARMY OF THE REPUBLIC IN GREAT PARADE

Spectacular Review Is Climax of the Forty-third National Encampment, in Salt Lake City--Veterans Are Warmly Received and Well Cared For in Utah's Capital.

Salt Lake City, Aug. 11.—To-day was the climax of the forty-third national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, the day on which the men who nearly half a century ago fought to preserve the union once again fell into line, answered the roll-call, and marched bravely, though often with faltering steps, to the music of the life and drum.

Never in all the years of its existence has the Grand Army had a national encampment review that surpassed the one of to-day in spectacular and pathetic features. The parade formed at the beautiful Eagle gate on South Temple street. First in line were the regulars of the Fifteenth United States Infantry and the entire National Guard of Utah, acting as escorts. Next came the forty-four departments of the Grand Army of the Republic, the Naval Veterans, the Ex-Union Prisoners of War, and in carries the surviving members of that devoted band of women, the Army Nurses.

Scattered through the line were numerous military bands and file and drum corps.

Greeted with Cheers and Tears.

At the word of command the parade marched west to Main street and turned south down that thoroughfare, proceeding seven blocks between solid walls of cheering men, women and children. As the grizzled veterans passed the enthusiasm was tremendous and many a spectator wept unashamed as he realized that this was undoubtedly the last grand review for scores of the feeble heroes who trudged along with eyes on the flag for which they had given some of the best years of their lives.

When Seventh South street was reached the paraders themselves broke out in mighty cheering, for there they turned in front of the most beautiful feature of the day, the "Living Flag." On an immense stand were 3,000 children dressed in the national colors and so arranged that they made a perfect representation of a waving American flag.

The little ones had been drilled for many weeks, and while the old soldiers passed they sang patriotic airs. At the reviewing stand.

Counter-marching, the parade now moved north on Main street back to

City and County Building.

South Temple street. Here, just to the left of the Brigham Young pioneer monument and close to Temple square, the reviewing stand had been erected. It was occupied by Commander-in-Chief Henry M. Nevius, Gov. William Spry of Utah, the chief executives of other states and a large number of other officials and distinguished campment. Many thousands of the veterans and their families and members of all the organizations allied to the Grand Army have participated in the exercises and entertainments, and are unanimous in their praise of the

Don't Gush.
There is no trait in a woman more objectionable to the sensible-minded than gushing. A little flattery now and then is most certainly relished by all of us, and tickles our vanity immensely. To be effective, it must be administered in small doses and at well selected moments. The woman who gushes not only sacrifices the respect of others but self-respect, too; for in time she comes to live up to the reputation she has gained for herself of being insincere.

Not Slighted.
A minister's little daughter was visiting a family in a parish which her father had recently left. One day she explained to her hostess that he hoped the people of the church would not send for him to conduct funerals, but would have the present pastor of the church. Thinking perhaps she might have given offense she looked up with a bright smile and added: "But of course he would be very glad to attend your funeral."—The De-linicator.

committees on public comfort and private accommodations, and at the 24 information bureaus at the various railway stations and convenient places about the city. During the entire time of the encampment these committees have had the services of 300 high school cadets, whose duties have been to render every possible assistance to the visitors.

The decoration of the city has been on a lavish scale. Every prominent building has been elaborately draped with bunting, handsome arches span the streets, and there is scarcely a residence in the city that does not display at least a flag.

Henry M. Nevius, the commander-in-chief, arrived here Saturday with his staff and inspected the arrangements. On Sunday the city's guests began arriving by the thousand, and on Monday they came in so fast that the committee had to work like sailors to get them all housed in such a manner as to avoid congestion in any part of the city.

Big "Greetings" Meeting.
Monday evening came the first public event on the program—a great camp-fire in the assembly hall in the Temple grounds. All that night and throughout Tuesday the stream of arrivals continued, but by Tuesday evening practically all the visitors had been received and distributed. That night the greatest function of the encampment took place. This was the "Greetings" meeting in the Mormon Tabernacle. The immense building easily seats 10,000 persons, and it was filled to its capacity.

Col. Frank M. Starrett, the executive director of the encampment, called the vast assemblage to order and introduced William H. King of Salt Lake City, who acted as temporary chairman. He made a brief address and was followed by Gov. William Spry of Utah, Mayor John S. Bradford of Salt Lake City, and L. H.

Fireworks on a Mountain.
After a good rest, the city's guests all turned out again this evening and witnessed the magnificent display of fireworks on the top of Ensign peak. This peak lies immediately north of the city and is the highest point of the Wasatch mountains, rising 1,200 feet higher than Temple square. The pyrotechnic display is a mighty feature of the encampment week.

Salt Lake City has thrown open her arms to the old soldiers, and never has the Grand Army been more enthusiastically received or more generously entertained than at this en-

The Allied Organizations.
Then came the turn of the allied organizations, and greetings to the veterans were uttered by President Genevieve Hagar Longfield Lane of the Ladies of the G. A. R., President Mary E. Gilman of the Woman's Relief Corps, President Clara E. Hoover of the Daughters of Veterans, Commander-in-Chief Edgar Allen of the Sons of Veterans, and President Rebecca Smith of the Army Nurses. The speechmaking was varied by the playing of patriotic airs by a band.

The exercises were brought to a close by the presentation of a handsome testimonial to Charles G. Burton, past commander-in-chief of the Grand Army.

Head On, Only.
Any remark which might possibly be construed into unfavorable criticism of his old master or any of his belongings is instantly resented by Pomp, an old southern negro. A young granddaughter from "up north" was looking over the family portraits and commenting freely, while Pomp stood, a sable image, at her side.

"I don't think much of that horse's tail," said the girl, nodding her head toward a portrait of her spirited ancestor seated on the horse which carried him through the civil war. "It looks rather moth-eaten to me."

"Deys wasn't nobody from de north eber saw dat hoss' tail in wah times," answered Pomp, his voice charged with indignation.—Youth's Companion.

AN EASY WAY.

How to Cure Kidney Troubles Easily and Quickly.

It is needless to suffer the tortures of an aching back, the misery of back-aches, rheumatic pains, urinary disorders, or risk the danger of diabetes or Bright's disease. The cure is easy. Treat the cause—the kidneys—with Doan's Kidney Pills. H. Mayne, Market St., Paris, Tenn., says: "Weak kidneys made my back stiff and lame. The urine was cloudy and irregular and I had to get up many times at night. I lost energy, became weak and could not work. Doan's Kidney Pills removed all the trouble and restored my health and strength."

Remember the name—Doan's. Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

A Sunday Sermon.
One must accept life as it is. It gives us great happiness if we are wise enough to see it, and it balances the scales by sending great sorrows, too.

But that is life. If you would make the world brighter try to forget your hurts, dry your eyes and turn to help those who need the pressure of a friendly hand, the encouragement of a smiling look.

Sorrows and troubles of all kinds should teach one a great lesson—the lesson of universal kindness.—New York Times.
