

Our Loans.

The loans of this bank amount to about $160,000, which is being used by good, responsible business men and farmers of this community.

This entire sum is only a part of nearly $200,000 of money that belongs to our depositors. $35,000 of capital stock and surplus besides undivided profits, and private resources of stockholders.

In this way, our bank serves the community in a two-fold purpose; safe-guarding their wealth and loaning it out to produce more wealth for the community. This bank has never failed to take care of the needs and interests of its customers, whether depositors or borrowers.

Last Friday afternoon, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. W. Conger, aged some two years, lost her equilibrium while sitting on a little stool, falling backwards into a pail of water, from which she was rescued with difficulty by the mother, who fortunately was in the room at the time, but not before the baby was nearly strangled, being so wedged in the pail that it required strenuous work on the part of the frightened mother to extricate the little one.

E. G. Taylor left Wednesday morning for Omaha, where to attend a meeting held in the interest of Foreign Missions. Three years ago such a meeting was held in Omaha and over one thousand delegates were present, several being from foreign countries. Last evening a dinner was given at the First Presbyterian church, after which Secretary A. W. Halsey, D. D., of New York City, will deliver an address upon "The Outlook for the World's Evangelization in this Generation," followed by an address by Rev. W. S. Marquis, D. D., of Rock Island, Ill., on "The Omaha Convention Standard and the New Missionary Era." Other important addresses will be given, after which they will proceed to organize what is to be known as "The Omaha Standard Men's Club of the Presbyterian church of U. S. A." The Omaha church looks toward a greater interest, and larger donations toward foreign missions and wish to increase its work until each communicant gives $5 per year in the Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Mary A. Gardner received a visit last Tuesday from a nephew, Mr. Lum Warner of Shenandoah, Ia., whom she had not seen for 27 years, or since he was a little shaver in knee pants, while now he is a grown man, with hair even tinged with gray. Such cases are events in one's life.

Pleasant Wedding

At the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Detlef Petersen, in Logan township, Sunday, Feb. 6, 1910, at high noon, occurred the marriage of their daughter, Ida M. Petersen, and Ernest A. Johnson of Davis Creek, Rev. Brink, pastor of the Davis Creek M. E. church, officiating, and witnessed by a large company of friends and relatives. Miss Blanche Petersen was bridesmaid, and Mr. Jake Zwink best man to the groom. Monday evening a reception was given at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnson on Davis Creek. There were many and valuable presents given the happy pair in token of the esteem in which they were held. We understand they will make their home on Davis Creek, where the groom will have charge of his father's farm the coming year. The Northwestern joins with the host of friends in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Johnson a happy and prosperous wedded life. They left Wednesday morning for a two weeks' visit at the home of the groom's uncle at Newton, Iowa.

In Memoriam

The death of Mrs. John W. Long after a month's illness, in the noonday of her beautiful life, came as a shock to our people and filled the hearts of all with inexpressible grief and pain. There is that in the very announcement that is heartbreaking; that one who has lived such a beautiful and helpful life in our midst for almost eleven years, radiating so much of good cheer, sunshine, love and happiness should be taken away from those she loved so well, is like Nature's chastening rod and has smitten our entire community.

As we have listened to the expressions of sympathy and love on the lips of our people, our heart tells us that her loving husband and little children have lost the only life that so overflowed with love and sacrifice for them. Their home life was ideal and she was the center of its life and joy, her gentleness and tenderness always ministering to their every need, and now that those ties are broken, the husband must go on to the end trying to bind up the wounds his little ones suffer and bear his own great burden and loss, and the dear mother, sister and brother also.

Will sigh for the touch of a vanished hand, And wince at the note of a buried voice. On December 27th, Mrs. Long accompanied her husband to Omaha on a business trip, arriving home on New Year's Eve, apparently in her usual health, which for years had been delicate. On New Year's Day she was taken ill and for about two weeks confined to her home, suffering from a return of an acute attack of stomach and heart trouble caused by thyroidism or exophthalmic goitre, about two weeks before her death taking to her bed and gradually growing weaker until her spirit passed away on Monday, January 31st.

The funeral services were held from the Methodist church, February 2nd, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and although the day was stormy and bitter cold, our sympathizing and sorrowing people crowded the church, and on every hand was the most beautiful display of flowers, attesting the affection of friends at home and abroad. At the home a beautiful service was rendered by the P. E. O. sisterhood and at the church Rev. W. C. Harper spoke the words of comfort to the mourning ones, and the Eastern Star chapter gave their touching ritualistic service, after which all that was mortal of the departed was laid to rest in Evergreen cemetery.

Our hearts go out today in tenderest sympathy to the loved ones at home; those alone who had the privilege of entering the charmed circle know the void left there. To the heartbroken husband, always worthy of her love, devoted to her and ever dear to her; to the sweet children bereft of a mother's care and love; to the dear mother who idolized her, and to her sister and brother and friends who yet remain, these were her jewels. Her blessed life will be enshrined in their memories as long as life shall last.

OBITUARY

Zella Margaret Rawson, daughter of George V. and Jennie S. Rawson, was born at Lafayette, Ind., May 3rd, 1870. The family removed to Michigan City, Ind., in November, 1874, where she received a public school education, graduating from the High School in June, 1889, after which she attended the Chicago Art Institute and subsequently taught art in the public schools at Wellsville, Ohio, and Delavan, Wis. She came to Loup City with her widowed mother and a sister in September, 1889, and was married to John Wallace Long on the 5th day of April, 1899, residing here continuously ever since. She leaves to mourn her loss a loving husband, a son John, and sweet little daughter Margaret, besides her mother, Mrs. Jennie S. Rawson, and a sister, Mrs. Alice Sleeth of this city, and a brother, Dr. Vance Rawson of Danville, Kentucky.

CARD OF THANKS:

We take this occasion to extend our sincere thanks to the many kind friends and neighbors for their help and sympathy during the illness and subsequent death of our loved one. May an all-wise Providence be unto them the consolation and aid they have been to us in our affliction.

J. W. LONG AND CHILDREN,
MRS. JENNIE S. RAWSON,
MRS. ALICE SLEETH,
DR. VANCE RAWSON.

MEMORIAL

The hand of Death has for the first time entered Chapter A. Q. P. E. O. God in his infinite wisdom has called to higher service our sister, Zella Rawson Long. In P. E. O. the circle is unbroken, while the star of our sister is set from a higher plane and to it is added a brightness, a reflection which radiates the rare combinations of high and beautiful qualities of mind and heart, which joined with her unusual sweetness, courtesy and tact, together with all the sweeter relations as wife, mother, sister and friend must tend to draw our circle closer.

Be It Resolved: We do hereby extend our deepest sympathy to those of her family so greatly bereaved, and especially to her husband, son and little daughter upon whom this affliction most heavily falls.

EMILY S. NIGHTINGALE,
BLANCHE S. STARR,
FRANCES B. OUTHOUSE.
