Miss Louise Kuhl, the 18-year-old daughter of Henry Kuhl, died this (Thursday) morning at 8 o'clock. We have no particulars, but suppose the death must have been caused from scarlet fever, as the home is quarantined for that dread disease.

An accident happened at the home of Fred Johnson Monday that nearly cost the life of their 18-months-old baby girl. In some manner the little girl fell into a barrel of rain water, which was partly below the ground at the corner of the house, and one of the children see the baby fall in, ran into the house and told the father and mother what had happened. When they reached the barrel the little darling was in the water up to its neck and was holding on to a piece of pipe in the barrel and not injured in the least.
