> Ex.Gov. Geo. Sheldon gives it out that he is a receptive candidate for U. S. senator; that is, he will not take the initiative, but is in the hands of his friends, so to speak. Georgie speaks very bitterly of being turned down (for governor) after holding down the executive chair one term, and don't propose to take the "initiative" in another chance to get it in the neck. The Northwestern is of the opinion that there are a whole lot of better men for office in this state and unnecessary to bring this overrated young fellow out of his enforced retirement.
