Mrs. Emma Fleissner, 1412 Sixth Ave., Seattle, Wash., Worthy Treasurer Sons of Temperance, writes: "I suffered over two years with ir-regular and painful periods. My health was in a very precarious condition and I was anxious to find something to restore my health and strength.

I was very glad to try Peruna and delighted to find that it was doing me good. I continued to use it a little over three months and found my troubles

"I consider it a splendid medicine and shall never be without it, taking a dose occasionally when I feel run-down and tired." Our files contain thousands of testimonials which Dr. Hartman has received from grateful, happy women who have been restored to health by his remedy, Perula.

Beautify Your Walls and Ceilings! Alabasting

A Rock Cement in white and beautiful tints. Does not rub or scale. Destroys disease germs and vermin. No washing of after once applied. Any one can brush it on-mix with cold water. Other finishes, bearing fanciful names and mixed with either hot or cold water, do not have the cementing property of Alabastine. They are stuck on with glue, or other animal matter, which rots, feeding disease germs, rubbing, scaling and spoiling walls, clothing, etc. Such Finishes must be washed off every year—expensive, filthy work. Buy Alabastine only in five pound packages, properly labeled. Tint card, pretty wall and ceiling design, "Hints on Decorating" and our artists' services in making color plans, free.

ALABASTINE CO Grand Rapids, Mich., or 105 Water St., N. Y.

Every housekeeper should know that if they will buy Defiance Cold Water Starch for laundry use they will save not only time, because it never sticks to the iron, but because each package contains 16 oz .- one full pound-while all other Cold Water Starches are put up in %-pound packages, and the price is the same, 10 cents. Then again because Defiance Starch is free from all injurious chemicals. If your grocer tries to sell you a 12-oz. package it is because he has a stock on hand which he wishes to dispose of before he puts in Defiance. He knows that Defiance Starch has printed on every package in large letters and figures "16 ozs." Demand Defiance and save much time and money and the annoyance of the iron sticking. Defiance never sticks.

HAD ALL HER FATHER'S SPIRIT

Daughter of John Knox Inherited Sturdy Independence.

"Of nature I am churlish, and in condition different from many," wrote John Knox in 1543, but the churlish side of his character the great reformer kept mainly for people of high rank, accustomed to deference, and indifferent or hostile to his aims. To others, writes Mr. Andrew Lang in "John Knox and the Reformation," especially to women whom he liked, he was considerate and courteous, but any assertion of social superiority aroused his wakeful independence. Rev. Henry Cowan, in his biography of Knox, says that the descendants of the great preacher inherited his independent spirit, and gives this story of his daughter Elizabeth

The youngest, Elizabeth, married in 1594 the famous John Welsh, minister of Ayr, who was imprisoned and exiled on account of his opposition to the ecclesiastical policy of James VI. In 1621, when physicians recommended him to visit Scotland on account of his failing health, his wife personally applied to the king for permission. James asked her who her father was.

"John Knox," she replied. "Knox and Welsh!" exclaimed the king. "The devil never made such a match as that!"

"Maybe," was the smart rejoinder, 'for we never asked his leave.'

The king said that her husband might return to Scotland if he would submit to the bishops. "Please, your Majesty," replied the high-spirited daughter of Knox, extending her apron, "I would rather catch his head there."

English House Gardens. American children learn that London is a center of trade with a dense population, and they grow up with the idea that it is a mart perpetually overhung with fog and smoke, says the London Telegraph. To have a private residence in New York city is a luxury possible only to the rich, and none but a multimillionaire could live in a house with a garden. When the American girl, therefore.

went to have tea with some friends in moderate circumstances, she was astonished to find them living in a large house with a little garden in front and a spacious one in the rear. Tea was served in the garden. Her mind reverted to a suburban house at home that had about as much land as this English one. The 'back yard" was used as a drying place for clothes. The front yard was smoothly clipped, flower-bedded lawn kept for show, so open to the street that it was of no use to the family.

"No, it is not like home," said the American girl wondering if everything in London had a garden or a terrace or a park.

Photographs Kite Birds

The kite, according to the ornitho logical authorities, is declared to be extinct and it is practically so. But a vigilance committee has nevertheless been formed in Wales for the protection of the bird. A photographer recently traced one of the only pair of kites known to exist in South Wales to a cave in the mountains and with a lucky snapshot secured a photograph. The home of the pair is being kept a secret.

PATIENTS IN CONSUMPTION CAMP LAUGH AT DEATH.

Inmate Cured by the Treatment Declares His Associates Were the Most Hilarious Crowd He Ever

At Liberty Falls, in Sullivan county, is an outdoor station for "lungers," which is patronized by several hundred persons. The patients, when under cover at all, are beneath canvas, and each one has a small tent to which he retreats in case of rain or snow, or when, as more frequently happens, his condition renders it impossible for him to arise. When this stage arrives they go to bed in the tent awaiting death.

A racing writer of international reputation has been a patient there for nearly a year. He went at a time that consumption had not fully developed in his case, and the other day he returned to the city on a visit looking like an Indian, the sun having burned his skin to a deep copper color. He said the community was the most hilarious he had ever associated with, and that while more than fifty per cent of the people there were marked for death, having come too late to receive any benefit for the outdoor treatment they were the happiest body of men and women in the world. They find cause for laughter in everything, and the ludicrous side of any subject always appeals to them first, and their appreciation of it is hung on a hair trigger.

"Even death itself furnishes the subject for a pathetic jest," said the returned patient. "The reason is that the outdoor life awakens their spirits, even when it cannot restore the health that is wrecked beyond all help. A case happened the other day. A fellow died in his tent, which was the last one in the row. In accordance with custom, the body was left till night, so that its removal might not be witnessed by the community. In the opposite tent was another poor fellow in the last stages of the disease. When the attendants came to remove the body of the dead man they entered the wrong tent and began to dispose of the living.

"'Wait a little,' he whispered; 'it doesn't matter much-only a few hours. First come, first served. The chap across the way is the dead one. Lay him out-then come back. I'll be ready for you. Good joke on you! Good night.'

"When they came in the morning he, too, was dead, with a smile on his lips, and the whole colony was finding mirth in the gruesome story.

What He Meant.

Mr. Griggsfield was a man who meant well, but was unfortunately addicted to the habit of saying the wrong thing at all times and in all circumstances. An acquaintance of his had suffered severe injuries in a railway wreck, including a broken nose, the loss of three or four teeth, and a gash across one of his cheeks: but his hurts were not serious, and he was soon on the street again, somewhat disfigured, but in good working order.

One of the first men to greet him after his recovery was Mr. Griggsfield, who grasped him cordially by the hand and exclaimed:

"Hello, Williams! I understand you have been pretty badly hurt. I am glad to see you so much improved." Later, when he reflected upon it, he understood why Mr. Williams responded to this greeting with such a queer smile.-Youth's Companion.

Some of John Bull's Expenses. An idea of the cost of running a great nation may be gained from the statement that England's balance sheet for the last fiscal year shows an expenditure of considerably more than three-quarters of a billion dollars. The exact amount was £151,-769,000. To meet this revenues were raised amounting to £153,707,000. leaving a surplus on hand of £1,938,-000. Of this vast expenditure £66,-200,000 went to the army and navy, £924,000 for dispensing justice and £15,161,000 was spent on education. There is one entry under expenditures which reveals the magnitude of the empire's business. It is that for "stationery and printing," and shows that three-quarters of a million pounds was expended on this item alone during the past year.-Leslie's Weekly.

Death. So come we all of us at last to sleep
Like children wearied of their play.
Within our narrow beds of earth we creep
Unmindful of the garish day.

The night is long and rest is dear and sweet

The chains of slumber bind us, hands a

And quiet after all the noise;
And there they make us neither smile no

So come we all of us at last to lie
Where daisied grasses softly wave,
Where death sings life a soothing lullaby
And we find rest within the grave.

ALCOHOL IN MOST MEDICINES.

indispensable Requisite in Compound ing of Some Prescriptions

It is of course true that some proprietary medicines contain alcohol and nearly all liquid medicines prescribed by physicians contain it. No honest man will defend the sale of intoxicants under the guise of medicine; but every honest man should protest against a system of wholesale denunciation born of malice, or ignorance of pharmaceutical principles, and fostered by selfish interests. It is assumed that alcohol is the cause of intemperance; but there is a great difference between alcohol and whisky. If a substitute for alcohol could be found for use in the manufacture of medicines, its discoverer would render a great service to the profession of pharmacy and the science of medicine, for alcohol is a very expensive ingredient and a cheaper substitute would be gladly accepted. Unfortunately the word alcohol, in the minds of many people is associated exclusively with bar-rooms, drunkenness and all forms of degradation and vice. This is due to a lack of knowledge by the general public of the fact that alcohol is an indispensable requisite in drugs, tinctures and fluid extracts. All fluid extracts and tinctures on the druggists' shelves contain from 20 to 90 per cent of alcohol; and of all liquid medicines prescribed by physicians more than 75 per cent contain it in large proportions.

Alcohol is required to preserve organic substances from deterioration. and from freezing, and it is also required to dissolve substances not soluble in water, while it contributes to their preservation when dissolved. Diluted alcohol is largely employed in fluid extracts; and whenever a greater strength of alcohol is required as a solvent (for extracting medicinal principles) the medicine is of such a character as to preclude a large dosage; and for this reason preparations, even if containing 50 per cent or more of alcohol, are practically less intoxicating than beer. In such cases the character of the medicinal constituents is such as to absolutely forbid the taking of the medicine in any way except in very small doses and at stated intervals only. To assume that any great number of proprietary medicines are used as beverages is the veriest absurdity.-Exchange.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Really Cure Indigestion Instead of Merely

Relieving Symptoms. There are plenty of remedies by which you can relieve for the time heartburn, pain and gas on the stomach and can smother nervous sensations and induce artificial sleep. You can humor your stomach by giving it predigested food. But when you take your next meal all jour trouble begins afresh.

There is only one sensible thing to do. Strengthen the stomach and do away with the necessity for drugs and artificial foods. The best remedy ever found for this purpose is the one that was used by E. E. Strong, of Capleville, Shelby county, Tenn.

"For years," he states, "I suffered greatly from indigestion. I tried many different remedies and some of them would relieve me for a time, but the trouble always came back. About six months ago I had an unusually severe attack, and while I tried everything I had ever heard of, I found that none of the ordinary remedies would reach the difficulty this time.

"One day I read in a Memphis paper how Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had cured a Michigan woman, a sufferer from chronic dyspepsia of a most stubborn type. tried the same remedy and it proved just as successful in my case. took only three boxes, and was cured. have not had the slightest symptoms of indigestion since.' The tonic treatment has a sound principle as its basis, and abundant success in actual use. Multitudes of cases that had defied all other remedies have been cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The pills actually make new blood and strike at the root of all diseases caused by bad blood. They contain no harmful stimulants or opiates. Every dyspeptic should read, "What to Eat and How to Eat." Write the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Scheneo eady, N.Y., for a free copy.
