U. S. Marshal T. L. Mathews of Fremont has been dismissed from the service for conduct unbecoming, etc. Next.

From Valentine this state comes the report of proposed converting the sand hills into marketable glass. Next.

No, Gov. Mickey will not be wheedled into calling an extra session of the legislature this winter. What's the use. Next.

Since Jim Pettijohn of the Valentine land office has been ousted, all the small towns in the sandhills country are propagating prospective candidates for the vacant place. Next.

Attorney General Brown is said to be contemplating prosecution of assessment officials in Nebraska for not properly assessing farm property; making too low figures. Wonder where the lightning will strike first.

And now it is rumored that Nebraska's own D. E. Thompson will be asked to quit his official position as minister to Brazil, owing to charges of unofficial conduct and disregard of duties devolving upon a diplomat. Next.

State Superintendent McBrien has written a letter to the Republican state committee objecting to his office being held up by the committee for its portion of campaign expenses. Singular Bro. McBrien didn't express himself that way when he was running for the state office.

Since the ousting of Register Pettijohn and Receiver Towle from the Valentine land office, the number of patriots who desire to serve Uncle Sam in the positions named have been legion. Among them may be named one ex-County Judge J. G. Tolliver, an antediluvian ex-County Judge on the body politic in the county of Brown, adjoining that of Cherry county, the seat of the land office war. To mention him as a possibility would be to preclude the idea of fitness in the selection of a register or receiver for that particular land office. A dozen or more other applicants are already fishing for the places. THE NORTHWESTERN doesn't care a penny who gets the plum caused by the removal of his two old-time friends, Jim Pettijohn and Major Towle, but in the interests of the Republican party, for God's sake put in two men at least, the equal in intelligence and Republicanism and general honesty of purpose of the two men ousted—as we believe by a grievous mistake.

COUNTY LETTERS

Divide News.

Corn husking is the password of the day.
Mr. Ezra Sloeun is improving the looks of his farm by building a large barn.

Henry Rensink and wife were very much surprised last Thursday evening by the arrival of his brother Will, and family of Muscatine, Iowa, whom he had not seen for 27 years. They left Saturday for Colorado Springs.

Dry Creek Clippings.

Herman Laid is husking corn for Frank Wagner this week.
Mr. Hildebrand shelled corn for Mr. Myer three days the past week.

The Literary at Wiggle Creek Friday night was well represented from Dry Creek.

S. W. Salyards laid the foundation for his new house on the farm which he purchased this fall.

Corn husking will soon be past and the farmers are looking with pride on the piles of corn and cobs.

We understand that Wagner Bros. are snapping a large field of corn and hauling it to Wilkinson's ranch.

Mr. Fender has disposed of his property in Sherman county and with his family moved to Ravenna, where he is engaged in the saloon business.

Miss Anna Myer of Grand Island, and sister, Mrs. Boyce, of Shelton, visited their brother, Joe Myer, the past week. Miss Rose Myer returned home with Mrs. Boyce.

Herman Wilke and son of Sweetwater, two of Sherman county's most enterprising farmers, returned from a trip to Galveston, Texas, last week, where they have purchased land some 28 miles north of said city. Mr. Wilke informs the writer that he intends to cultivate rice and will put down an artesian well. His son will have charge of his property there, but he will not dispose of his Sherman county land.

The Deadly Cornsheller.

While playing around the home with a number of his fellows, Wednesday morning of this week, Clinton, the 8-year-old son of Detlef Peterson, got his right hand caught in a corn-sheller, mashing the flesh and breaking the bones on the index finger of that hand. Mr. Peterson immediately brought the boy to town, where Dr. Kearns dressed the wound and the little fellow is doing nicely.
