Keep the Kidneys Well and the Kidneys Will Keep You Well.

Sick, suffering, languid women are learning the true cause of bad backs and how to cure them. Mrs. W. G. Davis, of Groesbeck, Texas, says: "Back-aches hurt me so I could hardly stand. Spells of dizziness and sick headache were frequent and the action of the kidneys was irregular. Soon after I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills I passed several gravel stones. I got well and the trouble has not returned. My back is good and strong and my general health better."

Fainting Spells

Cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, the Remedy Which Actually Makes a New Blood.

Anemia makes the patient short of breath so that there is often a sense of suffocation, sometimes there is a cough and the sufferer seems to be going into consumption, at others there is a murmur of the heart and heart disease is feared. In the following case severe fainting spells were an alarming symptom resulting from "too little blood."

Mrs. George Forrester, of 7 Curtis street, Watertown, N.Y., says: "Some time ago I took a heavy cold and it left me in a very weak condition. I became worse and worse until finally I had anemia. I lost flesh and appetite, had no color and was subject to fainting spells. Sometimes they would attack me suddenly and I would fall to the floor with hardly any warning."

"I had one of our best physicians, but after he had been attending me about a month without any improvement in my condition, I decided to see what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills would do."

"The pills were well known to me, for, about two years before, members of my family had taken them with the best results. I soon found that the pills were just what I needed. For I soon began to notice an improvement. After I had taken them a while longer I was entirely cured, and we all believe in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and recommend them highly."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually make new blood. They do that one thing and they do it well. Impoverished blood is deficient in red corpuscles. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills increase the number of these red corpuscles and in this way send health and strength to every tissue.

All druggists sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price. 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50, by Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

Children's Everyday Clothes.

For everyday wear, children are wearing linen dresses, and linen of the most durable nature. The material comes this season in practically a never-wear-out grade, and some of the prettiest of everyday dresses are made out of it. Embroidered bands are ever so fashionable this season and the embroidery is done in white or in colors, both being fashionable.

NICE ASPRAGUS DISHES.

This Delicate Vegetable May Be Used for Soup and Salad, Creamed and with Eggs.

The Ladies' World has an interesting article by Mary Foster Snider giving direction on how to cook asparagus in different ways and make savory dishes. Attention is called to the fact that difficulty is often experienced in properly cooking this vegetable. It is suggested by this writer that if the stalks are cut into equal length and then stood upright in the sauce pan after being immersed in water to 'two-thirds of the way to the tips so that the latter is cooked by the steam only, there is less danger of over cooking the tips while the butts are not underdone. A half hour cooking is said to be enough by this method, unless the butts are unusually tough. Of course the coarse butts should always be removed.

Asparagus Soup.

Wash a large bunch of asparagus, cut off the tips, cover the stalks with cold water, and boil five minutes, then drain. Then cover with three pints of soup stock and add a third of the reserved tips. Cook until the asparagus is soft enough to press through a sieve or colander, and leave only the fiber behind; then return the soup and pulp to a boil, season to taste and bring to a boil; drop in the remainder of the tips, which have been cooked gently in another saucepan until tender. Heat one cupful of cream or rich milk in another boiler, and thicken with two level teaspoonfuls each of flour and butter rubbed smoothly together; add to the soup and let boil a few minutes longer, then serve at once with croutons.

Cream of Asparagus Soup.

Cook one bunch of asparagus in one quart of water with a sprig of onion. When the asparagus is tender, rub all through a sieve, mashing and rubbing through all but the fiber. Return the pulp and soup to the fire, season with salt, white pepper and celery salt, and add one pint of milk. Let it come to a boil thicken with one level teaspoonful each of flour and butter rubbed smoothly together, and simmer ten minutes longer.

Escalloped Asparagus.

Boil asparagus until tender, then drain, and place a layer in a buttered baking dish which has been well sprinkled with bread-crumbs. Sprinkle the asparagus with chopped hard-boiled eggs, pepper salt and grated cheese, and proceed in this way until a pan is full, having the top layer of asparagus. Pour over it a cupful of thin white sauce, sprinkle with buttered crumbs, and brown delicately in a hot oven.

Asparagus in Baskets.

Make good baking powder biscuits, hollow them out, and fill with creamed asparagus. Serve very hot with cream sauce passed in a sauce boat.

Asparagus with Eggs.

Boil asparagus until tender, then place in a buttered baking-dish; season delicately with salt, pepper, and a pinch of nutmeg. Beat the yolks of four eggs until light, add two tablespoonfuls of cream, two level teaspoonfuls of butter, a little more seasoning, and the whites of the eggs beaten to a froth. Pour over the asparagus, set in a hot oven, and bake until the eggs are set.

Asparagus Salad.

Ice cooked asparagus tips and mix them lightly with finely-minced young onion. Serve iced in little nests of tender lettuce leaves with a little French dressing poured over. A cream mayonnaise is also a delightful accompaniment, and especially if the iced asparagus tips are mixed with an equal amount of iced green peas.

Chicken Asparagus Cases.

Mash one cupful of cold cooked asparagus with one cupful of hot mashed potatoes, add one-half cupful of fine dry bread-crumbs, salt and pepper to taste, and two well-beaten eggs. Form into little boxes or baskets, brush with soft butter, sprinkle well with fine bread-crumbs, and set in a hot oven until heated through. Fill with diced creamed chicken or veal, which has been kept hot on the top of the stove, and serve at once. Careful handling is necessary with these pretty and delicious little cases.—Prairie Farmer.

To Save Table Cloths.

A friend with a large family used to be much disturbed over the frequency with which she had to renew her table linen, and especially the tablecloths. At last she hit this plan: When she buys her linen, she sees to it that it is wider than necessary, and also a few inches longer. Then when the edges show the slightest indication of wear, she immediately takes off a strip from one side, four or six inches wide, and a strip from the end. This of course throws the wear upon a different place, and her cloth lasts just as long again. Isn't it well worth trying?

Rolls of Sponge Cake.

Beat the yolks of three eggs with one cup sugar and two tablespoonfuls sweet milk. Beat the whites stiff and thoroughly mix with the yolks and sugar. Sift one cup flour with one heaping teaspoon baking powder and add to the other ingredients. Flavor to taste. Put in an oblong pan and bake at once in a moderate oven. Bake it light, to avoid cracking in rolling. While hot remove from the pan, lay on a towel wet in cold water and spread with currant jelly. Roll at once and sprinkle with powdered sugar.

Luncheon Rolls.

Make a good biscuit dough and roll it rather thinner than for biscuit. Cut into pieces about three inches square. Wet the edges with cold water and in the center of each square put a heaping tablespoonful of cooked meat, well seasoned and chopped fine. Fold the opposite corners together, pinching the edges so that they will not come apart in baking and bake for about 15 minutes in a hot oven.

Children's Everyday Clothes.

For everyday wear, children are wearing linen dresses, and linen of the most durable nature. The material comes this season in practically a never-wear-out grade, and some of the prettiest of everyday dresses are made out of it. Embroidered bands are ever so fashionable this season and the embroidery is done in white or in colors, both being fashionable.

BUYING PAINT.

Springtime—after the weather has become well settled—is painting time. There is no dust flying, no insects are in the air at that time ready to commit suicide by suffocation in the coat of fresh paint. The atmospheric conditions are also favorable at that season for proper drying and increased life of the paint.

It should be a habit with every property owner every spring to look over his buildings, etc., and see if they need repainting; not merely to see if they "will go another year," but whether the time has not come for putting in the proverbial "stitch in time" which shall eventually "save nine." For one coat of paint applied just a little before it is actually needed will often save most of the paint on the building by preventing it from letting go and causing endless trouble and expense.

Paint lets go because linseed oil, which is the "cement" that holds all good paint together, gradually decays or oxidizes, just as iron exposed to air and dampness will slowly decay or oxidize. The water and oxygen in the air are the cause of the trouble in both cases, and the only reason, outside of its beautifying effect, that we apply paint to wood or iron is because we want to keep water and air away from them. Live paint, that is paint in which the linseed oil is still oily, does this very effectually; but dead paint, that is paint in which the oil is no longer oily, is no more impervious to air and water than a single thickness of cheese-cloth would be. If then we apply a fresh coat of oily paint before the old paint is dead, the oil from the new coat will penetrate the old coat, and the whole coating will once more become alive; and this method of renovation may go on indefinitely.

This explains why it is better economy to repaint a little before it becomes absolutely necessary than a little after. When the paint is once dead the fresh coat will pull the whole coating off.

In the days when repainting meant a general turning of things upside down, a two-weeks "cluttering up" of the place with kegs, cans and pails, a lot of inflammable and lill-smelling materials standing around, etc., the dread of painting time was natural. So was the dread of soap-making time, of shirt-making time, of candle-moulding time and the like. But we live in an age when soap comes from the store better and cheaper than we can make it, when shirts are sold ready made for less than we can buy the materials, when we can burn coal oil or gas cheaper than we can make tallow candles, and when all we have to do when we want to repaint is to pick out our colors from the card at the store and pay the painter for putting on the paint.

When it comes to picking out the paint it is not necessary that anyone should be a paint chemist, any more than one should be an oil chemist when buying kerosene, or a department store buyer when selecting shirts, or a soap chemist when buying soap. All that is necessary to insure a fair show is some knowledge of the character of our paint dealer and the reputation and standing of the maker of the paint offered. Nor must one expect to buy a pure linseed oil paint for the price of linseed oil alone. It can be taken for granted when anyone offers to sell dollar bills at a discount, he is baiting a hook for "suckers." So it can be taken for granted when anyone—whether mail order house, paint manufacturer or dealer—offers paint too cheap, he is bidding for the trade of "suckers," no matter what his promises.

But paints sold in responsible stores under the brands of reputable manufacturers are all good products, differing from one another in the less important matter of the solid pigments contained, but practically alike in having their liquid portions composed essentially of pure linseed oil. The competition of the better class of paints has driven inferior goods practically out of the market, and no manufacturer of standing now puts out a poor paint, under his own name at least.

As to guarantees on paint, they can be taken for what they are worth. Any reputable manufacturer will make good any defect actually traceable to the paint itself and not to improper use or treatment of it. The really important guarantee which the paint buyer should exact from his dealer is that the paint is made by a manufacturer that knows his business and that the paint itself has a record. If he secures this guarantee he can afford to chance the rest of it—the paint will undoubtedly give good service if properly applied according to directions.

COOKING APRICOTS.

A New Dish Accidentally Evolved Which Proved Very Pleasing and Also Economical.

A cook the other day accidentally evolved a new dish. In stewing apricots, she found that she had more juice—which was really a thick sirup, so much sugar had been used—than she wished to send to the table with the fruit. She therefore soaked a little of the gelatine, and poured over it the apricot juice, to which she had added a very little—half a teaspoonful—bitter almond extract. When the gelatine was thoroughly dissolved and mixed with the juice, she poured the mixture in a mold, using for the purpose one of the cake tins that have fluted sides and a hole in the middle. The next day she carefully removed the jelly to a rich dark-blue platter, where it looked very pretty with its orange coloring. The hole in the center was filled with whipped cream, and a dessert sent to the family that cost almost nothing of either money or labor. Of course a ring mold could be used to even better advantage.

A very good shortcake is made from the best quality of canned apricots.

Drain the juice away from the fruit, and cut it in small pieces. Set in a warm place, and proceed to mix the cake. This calls for one cupful of flour, four teaspoonfuls of baking powder, two teaspoonfuls of sugar, and half a teaspoonful of salt sifted together. Into this work four tablespoonfuls of butter, add three-fourths of a cupful of milk, and stir into a light dough. Roll in a floured bowl, and when one-fourth of an inch thick cut into generous squares. Brush the squares with melted butter, lay one on top of the other, and bake in a hot oven. When done, separate the pieces, spread the fruit between the layers and on top, and pile whipped cream over all. A sweet sauce which may be served with the shortcake is made by adding to a cupful of the fruit juice one tablespoonful of cornstarch wet in a little water and boiled for a few minutes. A tablespoonful of butter is melted into the sauce and a tablespoonful of lemon juice is added just before serving.—N. Y. Post.

EASILY GROWN VINES.

Boston Ivy and Virginia Creeper Two Stand-By—Some Beautiful Blossoming Vines.

Not alone may the veranda be beautified with vines. The wall of a brick or stone house may be given a living coat of green, which will be a joy to the lovers of nature. The Boston Ivy and the Virginia Creeper, two vines known through America, cling to walls without support, and so are especially useful for this purpose. The former is not as hardy as the latter, but in the middle and southern latitudes it succeeds well and forms a beautiful mass against a wall. The Virginia creeper is perfectly hardy. It will hide ugly stone fences, outbuildings and dead trees, transforming them into things of beauty.

The rapid growing Virgin's Bower is an excellent vine for a veranda, giving a dense shade. It presents a snowy bank of star-shaped white flowers of delicate fragrance, which last for several weeks. A companion variety, Clematis cocinea, has rose-colored flowers, which resemble half-closed rose buds from a distance. The wistaria is a good vine for a trellis, but is somewhat coarse for most verandas, being better suited for the rustic house or pergola, where its delightful purple flowers hang in graceful profusion. The Crimson Rambler rose vine is perhaps one of the surest, hardiest and most satisfactory of vines, admirably suited for the veranda or almost any other place. It grows rapidly and blooms in great abundance. Bitter sweet is an excellent vine of rich foliage, which becomes highly colored in the autumn and is often followed by a mass of scarlet fruit, which hangs for a long time.—Brooklyn Eagle.

AQUARIUM HATCHERY WORK.

Nearly a Million Young Fry Turned Out This Season in New York Hatchery.

Very nearly 1,000,000 little fishes—their number computed at $98,000, to be exact—have been hatched out in the Aquarium's model hatchery thus far in the present season, the last to be turned out to date being a big lot of yellow perch, some of these from eggs of specimens in the Aquarium, and some from eggs received from the state fish hatchery at Cold Spring Harbor, says the New York Sun.

These yellow perch will be used for restocking with this species the waters in the city parks, and many have already been placed in the lake in Prospect Park.

Next before the yellow perch hatched out here in the present season, were a large lot of salt water smelts, these also from eggs received from the Cold Spring Hatchery. The salt water smelt goes up into inlets in the spawning season, and like the shad, for instance, up streams to spawn. The young smelts hatched out in the Aquarium's hatchery were put over the Battery sea wall immediately back of the building into the Hudson.

Before the liberation of the young smelts there had been sent out from here for planting in various state waters, all hatched in the Aquarium's hatchery, young whitefish, rainbow trout, lake trout and hump-backed salmon.

Among eggs yet to be placed in the hatchery in the present season are pike perch eggs from Vermont, black spotted trout eggs from South Dakota, and the eggs of grayling trout from Montana.

The Aquarium's hatchery, with its eggs seen in hatching troughs and jars, and its hatched out young fishes in various stages of development in troughs and tanks, is an object of unfeeling interest to visitors.

"Since the year 1894 I have been troubled with a very bad case of eczema which I have spent hundreds of dollars trying to cure, and I went to the hospital, but they failed to cure me, and it was getting worse all the time. Five weeks ago my wife bought a box of Cuticura Ointment and one cake of Cuticura Soap, and I am pleased to say that I am now completely cured and well. It was impossible for me to get employment, as my face, head and body were covered with it. The eczema first appeared on the top of my head, and it had worked all the way around down the back of my neck and around to the hips. It itched so I would be obliged to scratch it, and the flesh was raw. I am now all well, and I will be pleased to recommend the Cuticura Remedies to all persons who wish a speedy and permanent cure of skin diseases."—Thomas M. "The man came home very quietly. In fact, he took off his shoes on the front doorstep. Then he unlocked the door and went cautiously and slowly upstairs on his tiptoe, holding his breath."

A CRITICAL PERIOD

INTELLIGENT WOMEN PREPARE

Dangers and Pain of This Critical Period Avoided by the Use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

How many women realize that the most critical period in a woman's existence is the change of life, and that the anxiety felt by women as this time draws near is not without reason? At this time, also, cancers and tumors are more liable to begin their destructive work. Such warning symptoms as a sense of suffocation, hot flashes, dizziness, headache, dread of impending evil, sounds in the ears, timidity, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness and inquietude are promptly heeded by intelligent women who are approaching the period of life when woman's great change may be expected.

We believe Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the world's greatest remedy for women at this trying period.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound invigorates and strengthens the female organism, and builds up the weakened nervous system as no other medicine can.

Mrs. A. E. G. Hyland, of Chestertown, Md., in a letter to Mrs. Pinkham, says:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham—

I had been suffering with a displacement for years and was passing through the change of life. I had the good deal of soreness, dizzy spells, headaches, and was very nervous. I wrote you for advice and commenced treatment with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as you directed, and I am happy to say that all those distressing symptoms left me, and I have passed safely through the change of life a well woman."

For special advice regarding this important period women are invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass. She is daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years has been advising sick women free of charge. Her advice is free and always helpful to ailing women.
