Mrs. Dr. Malm of this city also went up to Sargent to be with Mrs. Rawding in her trouble, and Mr. Rawding and Mrs. Malm returned yesterday reporting Mrs. Rawding doing nicely. The operation was performed in 22 minutes.

Misses Henry Young and Blanche Bennett left yesterday morning to attend the state normal at Kearney for a few weeks.
Sheriff Sutton and wife of Ord visited their daughters here last Sunday, Grandma Waite returning home with them for a visit.
The Entre Nous club gave a surprise to Mrs. Editor Brown Tuesday afternoon, but Brer. Brown was too bashful to accept an invitation to go home and face the music.
Miss Aimee Whitman went to St. Paul, Saturday, where she will teach in the summer normal for the term of two months, commencing Monday of this week. Miss Whitman is one of the best educators in this section of the state, and her loss to our city schools is sincerely to be deplored, but her value in school work calls her to more important places in an educational line.
Rural Route Carrier Conger had an exciting breakdown over on Clear Creek last Saturday. As he was driving up a steep hill, the doubletrees broke, tugs became unhitched and his carrier big backed down about 100 feet and only saved from strewing its contents by the roadside by James' prompt work. The team stood pat, merely turning to eye Jim as he backed backward march with wondering eyes. No serious damage, and the delay only causing the mail to be a few minutes longer on the road.
On Monday morning occurred the marriage of Miss Josie Johns, daughter of Rudolph Johns, and Mr. Ignac Kalkowski of Ashton, at the Catholic church in this city. Rev. Father Jarka officiating. After the ceremony, a reception was given at the home of the bride's parents, lasting the afternoon and evening, with all the enjoyments of a first-class Polish wedding. THE NORTHWESTERN tenders congratulations to the estimable young couple, both of whom are well and favorably known among our people.
Jim Conger, the carrier on the new route, has set the pace for carriers elsewhere, by making the best of schedule time along the route. Postmaster Owens informed a postoffice inspector the other day that Mr. Conger had not varied three minutes on starting out in the morning and returning in the evening since he began his labors, which the inspector says is the best report he has had from any carrier in his jurisdiction. Our farmer friends along the route also affirm the good report, saying Jim is "Johnny" on the spot" every day almost to the minute.
The good people of Webster township and its officials are making a very commendatory effort to put the road west of the bridge more passable. The farmers are donating work and the officials are going to extra expense to fill in at the bridge. A road bed there sand now predominates and will soon have it in the shape. We would suggest to our commercial club and merchants of Loup City that this would be a proper time to follow the good work of the township by making the roadway from town to the bridge in equally fine shape. Let a movement along the way of this suggestion be made at once.
Arrangements are being perfected for the laying of the corner-stone of the new Presbyterian church. The ceremony will take place on the grounds next Monday evening, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. Following the exercises the ladies of the church will hold a reception and sociable on the beautiful lawn of Mr. A. L. Zimmerman. Everyone is invited to attend both the exercises and sociable. The program for the occasion is as follows: Band, invocation, chorus, greetings by local pastors, duet by Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Leininger, address by Rev. Geo. A. Ray, D. D. of St. Paul, Regale quartet and band.
The St. Elmo changed hands last Monday, Mr. J. W. Harper selling out his interest in the same to Mr. C. E. Lundy, formerly a hotel man at Friend, this state, and as we understand a very capable landlord and with a wide experience in that capacity. Mrs. Lundy and daughters, Misses Lundy, wife and daughters of Mr. Lundy arrived Monday evening. Mr. Harper gave possession at noon on Monday and Tuesday morning he and his good family left for Aurora, where they will make their home for the present. Mr. Harper has been a very successful and appreciated landlord of the St. Elmo during his short stay, made many friends, and he and his good family depart with the best wishes of our entire people. In this connection, Mr. Harper desires us to thank the people of Loup City, one and all, for the courtesy extended to them, both in a business and social point of view, and insists he leaves with the kindest feeling for each and every one, notwithstanding a certain trouble breaker has spread a report to the contrary.
We are in receipt of copies of the Toledo (Low) papers of last week which make extended and most favorable mention of a musical recital given in the opera house in that city on Monday evening by our talented Loup City girl, Miss Beth Zimmerman, who has just graduated in the college there in voice culture. In speaking of Miss Zimmerman's unqualified success before an audience composed of musical critics, one paper says: "Her sweet, clear, mezzo-soprano voice, remarkable in its evenness and range, adapted for lyric and dramatic work, charmed and pleased all the room." Another paper says: "Miss Zimmerman possesses a fine mezzo-soprano voice of great flexibility. Her ease of vocalization, combined with a perfect voice control, makes her singing pleasing to both critical and uncritical ears. The paper then take up the program in detail and to quote an extent, showing Miss Zimmerman's recital was the event of the season and reflected the greatest credit upon both school and pupil. The young lady is to be congratulated on her success, which is pleasing as well to her parents and legion of friends here and elsewhere. Miss Zimmerman will be home this week and will give instruction in vocal and instrumental music, giving to voice culture her special attention. She has already quite a class secured, and as she will make of music her life work, it will be of interest and profit to our people to have her with us.

Mrs. Judge Hunter went to Kearney, Monday, as a delegate to the grand lodge of Ladies of the Mystic Legion.
That old wheel-horse of Sherman county republicanism, Col. A. Munn, attended the committee meeting here Saturday.
Some forty or fifty Loup Cityites went to St. Paul and Danneberg, Tuesday morning, to help the people celebrate.
Miss Maggie Rapp returned to her home at Ashton, Tuesday, after a number of days' visit with her sisters in Elm township.
John Eggers this week sold six pigs only six months old, the combined weight of which was 1280 pounds. Who can beat it?
Jacob Albers went to Steinauer, this state, yesterday, as a delegate to the annual conference of the German Evangelical church.
Mrs. E. A. Brown and daughter, Flora, leave Saturday for a week's visit to her sister, Mrs. Throckmorton, a few miles from Ord.
Prof. Dale left for Lincoln Monday morning where he will remain during vacation. He will stop off a few days at York to visit his parents.
Adam Zahn, committeeman from Elm township, always reliable, was in attendance on the republican central committee meeting Saturday.
Chris Petersen ran a fish-hook through his lip Monday, which Dr. Jones had to cut out, and now the boy eschews that kind of food.
G. W. Turner of Columbus, and formerly one of the owners of the Journal north, arrived here yesterday on a visit to his nephews, the McKinnie boys.
A ball game is scheduled for Loup City, Friday, June 24th, between Arcadia and the Wiggle Creek Bruisers, and our people are promised a hot game.
Sargent will celebrate the Fourth. They ask our people to celebrate with them and as they sent us a goodly delegation at our last Carnival, we should reciprocate.
The special music at the Presbyterian church next Sunday evening will consist of a chorus and quartet by the choir, and solos by Miss Ella Taylor and E. P. McKinnie.
Father Taylor of St. Paul visited his son, E. G. Taylor, Tuesday, and yesterday the two gentlemen went to Ashton to remove four bodies of relatives from there to the cemetery at St. Paul.
Miss Nellie House left for her home at Pender, this state, Monday morning, where she will remain till the first of August, when she goes to Chicago to pursue her studies at the university till school opens in Loup City this fall.
S. E. Leininger, manager of the Leininger lumber interests of Arcadia, was married last evening in that village to Miss Ada Lant, niece of G. A. Curry, a number of Loup City relatives of the contracting parties being in attendance.
A party of some fifteen little people helped Miss Helene Mellor celebrate her 10th birthday at her home last Saturday afternoon, from 2 to 6 o'clock. Dainty refreshments were served and the hours very pleasantly passed in games and amusements generally.
Mr. Henry Schoening of Lost Cabin, Wyo., is visiting friends in Loup City for a few days, when he goes for a trip through the Yellowstone Park. We acknowledge a pleasant call from the gentleman, who has for years been a reader of THE NORTHWESTERN.
The opening picnic at Jenner's Park will be held Tuesday, June 12. Many new attractions have been added this year. A large Ocean Wave merry-go-round and new cages of animals. Dancing, music, refreshments and games of all kinds. An enjoyable time assured. Don't fail to attend.
Edgar, the young son of E. A. Draper, was severely kicked in the face by a vicious horse, last Sunday, while he was leading them to water. Only the nearness of the kicking animal to the boy saved him from serious injury, as it was, he was rendered unconscious for a time and his face is yet badly swollen from the concussion.
Tuesday, John A. Thompson, accompanied by H. W. Pedler, went to Cairo, this state, where Mr. Thompson purchased one of the finest Shire stallions ever brought to this country. This stallion will stand the rest of the season in this city and at the Howe ranch and next week the owner will announce through these columns his rates for service. The horse will arrive on the train today.

Graduation Exercises.

The commencement exercises of the graduating class, held at the opera house last Thursday evening, were of a rather novel nature, a class play being put on in place of the usual orations, and the same interspersed with music by our well known and accomplished musicians, Mrs. R. P. Starr, the Misses Ernie Odendahl, Nellie House and Merce Outhouse, and Mrs. Geo. S. Leininger, the latter having the difficult task of playing the music for the artistic drill of sixteen little girls, a prettier sight and more perfect movements never having been seen by a Loup City audience. The house was packed to the doors by a pleased and enthusiastic audience and each number and portion of the program being heartily received. The play, "Erin Go Bragh," was well carried out, each word, deed and act of the players closely listened to and received with encores. Space will not admit of extended mention, and to mention one and not all would be altogether unfair, for all did creditably to themselves and to their friends. At the close of the play, Co. Supt. Mead, in a few well chosen words, presented the graduating class with their diplomas and the class honors were given one of the most interesting and enjoyable exercises ever placed before our people.

Are You Going to Build a Fence?

Very seldom is it that a certain class of machines become popular without a great many "half-tried" experiments being pushed on to the market by unreliable manufacturers. It has been so with Manure Spreaders and the users have to foot the bill, that is, pay for these experiments, which they ought not to do.
When the Litchfield Spreader was brought to its present state of perfection, so that the manufacturers have been able to give the five year guarantee that they do on it, this perfection was made possible by the thorough and systematic combination of the best modern mechanical principles known to the trade. We will tell of more of these later on, but in this issue we call attention to the absolutely perfect division of the mechanical drive.
This principle, as embodied in the Litchfield Spreader, puts absolute and even distribution of the load on to each of the traction wheels. This applies both to the distribution and also in the movement of the load back to the distribution wheel. Unlike many other machines there can be no shirking on the part of either traction wheel. Both traction wheels apply their power at one point and from here the work is again distributed in proportion to the requirements of the mechanical part of the machine.
With this modern Spreader, if you by any means can succeed in getting the conditions so that you can slip one traction wheel, you slip them both. One of these "power producers" cannot lay down and let the other wheel "do the work," as "everybody works at our house."
The necessary amount of power to move the load back on the machine is utilized. The necessary amount of power to distribute it is also applied, but no more. It is difficult for us to explain this perfect mechanical division of the power and the load, but if you will drop in to our warehouse and go over this machine carefully with us, we can show you what we are talking about.
Come and look at it and tell us what you think of it. We also wish to explain about the traction surface of our conveyor which we are going to tell you more about next week.

A Mechanical Principle

"Everybody Works At Our House."

Very seldom is it that a certain class of machines become popular without a great many "half-tried" experiments being pushed on to the market by unreliable manufacturers. It has been so with Manure Spreaders and the users have to foot the bill, that is, pay for these experiments, which they ought not to do.

We will tell of more of these later on, but in this issue we call attention to the absolutely perfect division of the mechanical drive.
This principle, as embodied in the Litchfield Spreader, puts absolute and even distribution of the load on to each of the traction wheels. This applies both to the distribution and also in the movement of the load back to the distribution wheel. Unlike many other machines there can be no shirking on the part of either traction wheel. Both traction wheels apply their power at one point and from here the work is again distributed in proportion to the requirements of the mechanical part of the machine.
With this modern Spreader, if you by any means can succeed in getting the conditions so that you can slip one traction wheel, you slip them both. One of these "power producers" cannot lay down and let the other wheel "do the work," as "everybody works at our house."
The necessary amount of power to move the load back on the machine is utilized. The necessary amount of power to distribute it is also applied, but no more.
