 The race meet and base ball tournament on Thursday and Friday last were a repetition of the good time of the preceding day, but with increasing crowds and greater interest. The racing on Thursday was exceptionally good, especially the free-for-all, in which Basco B., owned by Geo. A. Curry, and Gentry, owned by Wes Pedler, were the favorites. Basco B. won and was greeted with yells of delight, showing that the handsome stallion was a prime favorite with our people, as one of the finest horses ever owned in this section. Gentry, also, came in for much applause, and is a noble, faithful little trotter, and led Basco B. a merry hot-foot race. Among the home horses, also, that made good showing, we would not forget to mention Stewart Conger's reliable trotter, "Robin Hood," who gave good speed exhibits the first and last days, and surprised all with the good time made and faithful work. Robin Hood is a most clever horse and good wherever you put him. The ball game was also hot stuff, the result being changed from the preceding day, making Wiggle Creek the winners. Friday was the big day, Arcadia coming down en masse, led by their fine band of some 25 pieces, and helped our home band split the air with choice music. The Arcadia band is made up a larger proportion of young boys, but they are no "kids" when it comes to music, in which they are veterans. The races that day were even more exciting than the previous days, and proved the race meet a winner for all around time. There will be speaking and singing in the forenoon and probably a good ball game after dinner.
