

A SOCIAL LEADER OF KANSAS CITY

Attributes Her Excellent Health to Peruna.

MRS. W. H. SIMMONS.

MRS. W. H. SIMMONS, 1119 E. 8th St., Kansas City, Mo., member of the National Annuity Association, writes:

"My health was excellent until about a year ago, when I had a complete collapse from overdoing socially, not getting the proper rest, and too many late suppers. My stomach was in a dreadful condition, and my nerves all unstrung."

"I was advised by a friend to try Peruna, and eventually I bought a bottle. I took it and then another, and kept using it for three months."

"At the end of that time my health was restored, my nerves no longer troubled me, and I felt myself once more able to assume my social position. I certainly feel that Peruna is deserving of praise."

There are many reasons why society women break down, why their nervous systems fall, why they have systemic or pelvic catarrh. Indeed, they are especially liable to these ailments. No wonder they require the protection of Peruna. It is their shield and safeguard.

Rich Prize for Historical Work.

One million five hundred thousand dollars is offered as a prize for a literary composition, the biggest prize of its kind on record. The award will be made at St. Petersburg on December 1, 1925, to the writer of the best history of Alexander I. of Russia. Arkatchief, founder of the military colonies of Novgorod, left a fortune of 50,000 gold rubles ($25,750) to provide for this unique prize. The prize-giving day is the centenary of the Czar Alexander's death, by which time the money will, it is estimated, have increased to $2,000,000. One-fourth of it will be used to defray the cost of publishing the work which wins the prize.

BABY WASTED TO SKELETON

In Torments with Terrible Sores on Face and Body—Tore at Flesh—Cured by Cuticura.

"My little son, when about a year and a half old began to have sores come out on his face. They began to come on his arms, then on other parts of his body, and then one came on his chest, worse than the others. At the end of about a year and a half of suffering he grew so bad I had to tie his hands in cloths at night to keep him from scratching the sores and tearing the flesh. He got to be a mere skeleton and was hardly able to walk. I sent to the drug store and got a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment, and at the end of about two months the sores were all well. He has never had any sores of any kind since, and only for the Cuticura Remedies my precious child would have died from these terrible sores. I used only one cake of Soap and about three boxes of Ointment. Mrs. Egbert Sheldon, R. F. D. No. 1, Woodville, Conn. April 22, 1905."

I have lived to know that the great secret of human happiness is this: Never suffer your energies to stagnate.—Dr. Adam Clarke.

The Matter of DRESS

A MORNING AND AN EVENING GOWN

The true dress artist is always an enthusiast, and not even for the most extensive commercial consideration would she persuade the "chiffon woman" into satin brocade, or the "tailor-made girl" into the picturesque allurement of clinging folds.

Clinging folds are much in fashion just now, and few styles are more graceful than the most prevalent, which embraces a corselet skirt fitted round the waist and hips and falling in full folds to the feet, the corselet being low in the front and high at the back, while square or semi-circular bretelles hang over the sleeves to give the essential long-shouldered line. The dress is filled to the neck with soft chiffon or lace, and bears sleeves to match trimmed perhaps with bands of cloth to correspond with the skirt; and over this costume is a loose coat of Chinese shape, always with the lines drooping from the shoulders the length of this, and extends either to the waist or to the hips. The hat is placed boldly over the forehead and bears a drooping plume at the back, the whole contour of costume, from head to heel, seeming to droop with an unforced grace in every part.

It is easy to imagine that under theegis of this sort of costume the least graceful woman might have a share of elegance, so that she regulate the length of the coat and skirt and the commencement of the corselet in the front and back to suit her special proportions. Sometimes these corselet skirts are entirely made in pleats, small box pleats closely cut together, and stitched firmly down to the hips, whence they flow to the hem. On other models they are contrived with the bretelles made with a sort of waistcoat effect. But they form a by no means ideal waistcoat, a garment which is at its best when made separately of striped velvet or silk and worn with an ordinary narrow skirt and coat of masculine simplicity.

An admirable example of a spring dress is made of black cloth with a corselet skirt, and a waistcoat of natural Shangtung silk, buttoned with black, showing above and below a soft shirt of white chiffon. The sleeves of the little black coat are cut short and broad and wide, trimmed at the edge with a soft braid, and lined with the Shangtung silk, and the hat which is destined to complete the effect is small of shape, with the brim pointing towards the front, trimmed on either side with a large rosette of gathered black lace, whence black wings spread themselves.

In the costumes shown in our illustration may be seen expressed the universal fancy for the long shoulder line, and the prevailing desire to conceal the fact of an armhole. Not a bad desire, either, when you come to consider it, for the armhole has always been a point liable to reveal the hand of the expert or of the inexpert, and

LIKE THE SOAPBERRY TREE.

Its Cultivation to Be Attempted in Southern States.

The soapberry tree, Sapindus marginatus utilis, has been quite extensively cultivated in Algeria for its berries, which are rich in saponin, and are sent to Germany for use in the manufacture of soap, says the Scientific American. Similar qualities are possessed by the Florida soap tree, Sapindus manatensis utilis, commonly known as the China soap tree, from the fact that it was originally introduced from China. E. Moline, of Jacksonville, Fla., has recently been engaged in promoting the cultivation of this tree in the southern states by a free distribution of seeds. The tree grows to a height of 40 or 50 feet and begins to bear fruit in the sixth year. The berries are about the size of cherries and consist of a hard, yellow-brown wax-like shell, inclosing a large black seed. The shell is rich in saponin, and if bits of it are agitated in water a lather will at once begin to form. By grinding the shells a brownish soap powder is obtained which possesses valuable cleansing properties. The hard, black seeds of the mulberry tree have been used in the manufacture of beads; they also yield a fine oil useful in soap manufacture, as well as in other industries.

Force of Habit.

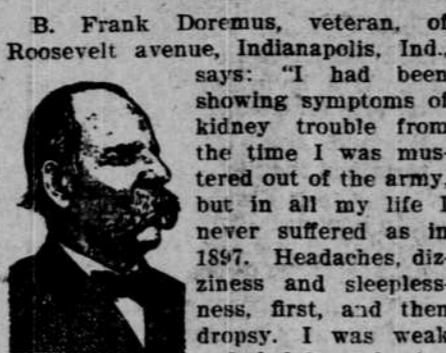

Magistrate—You are charged with begging.
Beggar—I wasn't beggin', yer worship.
Magistrate—But you were seen holding out your hand.
Beggar—It's all a habit, yer worship; you see, I had to hold out my hand so much at school that now I can't break myself of it.—Royal Magazine.

Some Trade Frauds.

Siberian butter goes to Hamburg, is repacked and sent to the far east as a German production. Russian sugar goes to Japan in an Austrian disguise, and Russian calico is sold there under a German wrapper. There are some of the reasons why the Russo-Japanese Commercial company has been formed in Russia.

A TERRIBLE EXPERIENCE.

How a Veteran Was Saved the Amputation of a Limb.

B. Frank Doremus, veteran, of Roosevelt avenue, Indianapolis, Ind., says: "I had been showing symptoms of kidney trouble from the time I was mustered out of the army, but in all my life I never suffered as in 1887. Headaches, dizziness and sleeplessness, first, and then dropsy. I was weak and helpless, having run down from 180 to 125 pounds. I was having terrible pain in the kidneys, and the secretions passed almost involuntarily. My left leg swelled until it was 34 inches around, and the doctor tapped it night and morning until I could no longer stand it, and then he advised amputation. I refused, and began using Doan's Kidney Pills. The swelling subsided gradually, the urine became natural, and all my pains and aches disappeared. I have been well now for nine years since using Doan's Kidney Pills." For sale by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Town Belle Criticized.

A town belle got off the train at a small town between Atchison and Topeka last night, says Ed Howe. She shook hands with her left hand, wore a larger hat than the girls who met her, wore pretty loud clothes, chewed gum and when she hit the cinder platform of her home town a lot of people grinned at her and said: "Hello, there!" This town belle was not bad looking, but she couldn't keep her mouth closed even when she was not talking.—Kansas City Journal.

Queer Names of Jurymen.

Among those drawn for jury service for the April term of court in Franklin county are: Mr. Button, Mr. Hasy, Mr. Curl, Mr. Lord, Mr. Dyer, Mr. Cook and Mr. Fear.—Kansas City Star.

The extraordinary popularity of fine white goods this summer makes the choice of Starch a matter of great importance. Defiance Starch, being free from all injurious chemicals, is the only one which is safe to use on fine fabrics. Its great strength as a stiffener makes half the usual quantity of Starch necessary, with the result of perfect finish, equal to that when the goods were new.

Strength for Women

Your Weakness? Is almost surely due to some trouble of the womanly organs, which acts unfavorably upon your whole constitution. Women are naturally weaker than men, because of the special delicacy of the womanly organs. Wine of Cardui's success, in benefiting and curing sick women, is due to the fact that it gives women strength where they most need it. It is composed of certain vegetable extracts and ingredients, which act gently and sympathetically upon the female organs and constitution, regulating, strengthening and rebuilding. All these are facts.

Mrs. Annie Hutton, of Coltry, Okla., writes: "I suffered greatly with female pains and weakness. I was so weak I could hardly stand. I had cramps, leg aches, trembling spells and could not sleep well. I began to take Cardui and in a week I was much better. You can have no idea how much good it has done me. I feel better all over and recommend Cardui to all my friends." Sold at all druggists in $1.00 bottles.
