Will our correspondents please send in their letters not later than Tuesday, sure.

We regret to record that Ashley Conger had another horse condemned to be shot, Monday, the second case of glanders among his horses. However, this is probably the last loss he will sustain from this cause, as the disease has not reached the others. We hear it rumored, however, that there are a few other suspected cases in this county, and Dr. Boyd, who has been appointed a deputy veterinarian by State Veterinarian McKim, is on a careful watchout for other cases if any there be.

We received on Monday a post card from Mr. T. H. Elsner, dated at Windbergen, Holstein, Germany, June 10, showing Mr. and Mrs. Elsner were having a royal good time in the Fatherland. As evidence that they are A 1 Nebraskans and loyal to their home, Mr. Elsner writes: "Crops are considerably behind here this season on account of cold weather, but it is beginning to warm up now. Don't like the climate here so well as in America, and haven't found anything yet that will beat Nebraska. Land in Nebraska is far superior to any that I have seen, and I have traveled several thousand miles with close observation."

Bro. Brown of the Times-Independent occupied the Methodist pulpit here last Sunday, in the absence of the pastor, and from those who were fortunate in being present, we learn he gave a very able discourse, his theme being the making of heaven here on earth; living each day as though there were no tomorrow for us; perfecting ourselves for the life to come. The body of the church was not ample to hold those who wished to hear our editorial brother, and the east wing of the church had to be opened to accommodate all present. We congratulate both our brother and the church on the excellent sermon.
