Miss Henry Young and good mother returned last Friday from their protracted visit to Tennessee.

Last Monday was Grandma Smith's 93rd birthday. We believe the oldest person in the county. In the even-ing while she was sitting out on the lawn, the band went up and played several selections. She said she could hear the music quite plainly and was much pleased with the surprise. Mr. and Mrs. Hunter had a table spread out on the lawn and served ice-cream.

1.68 Reports in the St. Paul papers give good accounts of the dedication of good accounts of the dedication of the new Presbyterian church at that place. The debt of some $4,200 was wiped out, Rev. McEwen doing such good work in wiping out the debt upon the Presbyterian church here that he was called there for that pur-pose and ably seconded in his effort by the good people of St. Paul, suc-ceeded in clearing the church debt as above .10 .15 .25 above.

above. The county board met in regular session on Tuesday, finishing their work Wednesday morning. They ordered a ten-foot cement walk to be builded along the south side of the public square, among other things, and submitted the question of a 14-mill levy for three years to the voters at the coming election to pay off the county's bonded indebtedness, which we understand amounts to some $75,000, and will be due in 1910. City. It is reported at Hazard that Wm. J. Tuma, late of that place is dead. No particulars have so far been re-ceived, further than that his death was due to injuries sustained by fall-ing from the roof of a building. Mr. Tuma's real name was Coleman, but losing his parents in infancy he was reared by a man named Tuma, and his wife, who never informed their foster son until quite recently that he was not their own child. Mr. Tuma (or Coleman) married Birdie Park-hurst, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. Parkhurst, who were old settlers on Beaver Creek, formerly owning the farm three miles west of Ravenna, now owned by Ernest Skochdopole. The deceased was a carpenter and contractor by trade, was an active member and organizer of the Modern Brotherhood, and was a man who seemed to be a very progressive and upright citizen.—Ravenna News.

Notice To Contractors.

Dr. L. Rein died last Saturday at Ashton, aged 78 years, of inflammation of the lungs, and was buried in the family burial grounds at that place on Monday. Dr. Rein was the father of fourteen children, eleven of whom survive him, one son, two daughters and his companion preceding him in to the mystic beyond. A son, Will Rein, rrom Coldwater, Kas., arrived in time to pay the last respects to his loved father. The Northwestern, with the large circle of friends, deeply sympathize with the bereaved family in their time of affliction.

is milt from first-class material down to the minutest detail. The slow-growing, fine-grained, tough-fibered black birch from the rocky hills of New England is used in the hubs, select white oak is made into spokes and fel-loes and choice second growth, butt cut hickory is used for the axles. Every other part as carefully selected. The skeins, tough and hard, are forced into place on the axles under 100 tons pressure. Studebaker slope shoulder spokes are driven into the hub under the same tremendous pres-sure. Best and toughest iron and steel strongly reinforces every part where needed. The Studebaker is
