Cleoria Items.

The Aurorites say our little burg is far ahead of their town and also highly compliment us on the park. Bart Foss, brother of S. Foss, with his daughter and niece, and a Mr. Laymaster arrived overland Sunday from Aurora to spend a few days and are quite taken with our country. A brother of Mrs. McLaughlin arrived Saturday evening and she is expecting her father and mother soon. A Mr. North gave a magic lantern lantern exercise at Cleoria Sunday night. At last account Mr. Barence's baby was at the point of death. Born, Wednesday morning, a fine baby boy at O. G. Hunt's. Messrs. Barnes, S. Foss and families and their friends from Aurora spent Tuesday picnicking on the river. The surprise on Mrs. Barnes was recalled on account of thrashing. Mrs. Chas. Guilford and Mrs. C. McLaughlin were in Loup Wednesday. Quite a fine rain in our vicinity Tuesday evening. The chickens are nearly ripe in our locality but we give you town jades fair warning not to show up or we'll give you chicken hot. A sister of Chas. Johnson from Lincoln is here for a month's visit. Rev. Mrs. Zike preached her last sermon last Sunday. She has quit the work and goes to her home in Iowa. Mary Culbertson of Aurora visited over Sunday with Mrs. John Warrick. Andy and Geo. Gray and families of Rockville township visited at Chas. Sickles' over last Sunday. Amos Hunt of Arcadia visited over Sunday with his brother, O. G. Hunt. Terry Hunt is able to get around some with the aid of his crutch. We hear Mrs. Bone missed the train at Arcadia and her better half had to drive over and bring her home. A neat surprise was given Miss Lena Zwick last Saturday night. Mrs. Zartman returned to Aurora Monday, thence to her home at Omaha.

In the State Journal of the 4th instant, Judge Roscoe Pound, than whom no more able nor honest jurist ever lived within the confines of the state, in an exhaustive reply to the charges against Judge Sedgwick and his connection with the Bartley case, answers fully and completely all the charges alleged against Sedgwick and leaves that gentleman absolved from all blame, and shows he followed the correct interpretation of the law as he understood it. The Northwestern, in full belief of the correctness of Judge Pound's explanation, and knowledge of that gentleman's ability and undoubted honesty of opinion, can heartily and gladly endorse the candidacy of Judge Sedgwick for a second term to the supreme bench, while not abating one jot in its esteem and belief in the ability, integrity and probity of Judge Reese as a jurist, and a willingness to heartily support him, should he be favored at the primaries.

Over the entire United States there is at present one of the most gigantic labor strikes ever in the country. All union telegraphers of the Western Union and Postal telegraph companies are out and also the Associated Press operators, while all railroad telegraphers are refusing to handle anything but railroad work. Locally, the operators at Loup City are refusing all Western Union work and messages handed in for transmission are courteously refused on account of existing conditions. The daily newspapers are full of the strike news and warn their readers that their telegraphic news will be very much abbreviated till the settlement of the strike trouble, while their correspondents are ordered to transmit all news by long distance telephone or by mail. It looks at this bird's eye distance that the great telegraphic systems will have to give in to the operators before many days.

The friends of Judges Sedgwick and Reese are showing very poor political judgment in their articles from week to week in a showing of the merits and demerits of these two able jurists. The denunciations and innuendoes hurled by either side will furnish abundant ammunition for the common enemy during the campaign, and is bitterly to be condemned. Judges Sedgwick and Reese are both able jurists and either gentleman would prove worthy the judicial ermine and honors sought. If this is the kind of warfare brought to the front as a result of the new primary law, we would better go back to the old, time-honored conventions.

The new primary law may be a very wise measure, but in one essential point at least there is a feeling that it is faulty. For instance, any person having a five dollar bill to spare can announce himself a candidate for a county office and have his name placed upon a primary election ticket no matter what his political antecedents, or whether he is competent, honorable or desirable in any particular. If he is the only one announced for the said office, the party rank and file are compelled to vote for him, or at least only able to register a half vote against him by failing to put a cross in the square opposite his name, no blank line being provided in which to write any choice of the voter and leaving the alternative of bolting that much of the ticket when it comes to the regular election, or wishing to vote a straight ticket compelled to vote for the obnoxious candidate. This is simply making a law to herd the party rank and file like so many cattle or compel them to scratch their ticket.

The honorable Charles B. Anderson of Crete, Neb., has been selected by his many friends of this state to be a candidate for Regent at the primary election to be held on the 3rd day of September next. "Charley" as he is generally called, is by no means a stranger in this part of the state and particularly in the Loup valleys. Mr. Anderson was born on a farm near Albion, Orleans county, N. Y., June 30th, 1865, and afterwards graduated from one of the high class educational institutions of which the Empire state is so famous. But his gaze soon became fixed on the great west. Unaided and alone he started out to make himself a part and parcel of this, the far-off land of his boyish dreams. He found his way to Saline county and settled on the Big Blue river, near DeWitt, where he found employment in a bank. His admiration for Nebraska became unbounded and he invested his every cent in investments within this state. From poverty he has made his way by dint of honest effort and rigid self denial to a place at the head of several of the strongest banking institutions of Nebraska. It is but a very short time since some of the leading capitalists of Omaha sought his service in the management of one of the banks at that place, but this seemed not to the liking of Mr. Anderson and he severed his connections with Omaha and went into the management of the Crete state bank and of the Crete Investment Co., a concern of almost unlimited capital. This was not quite far enough West for our friend, and he went to Ord and there became vice president of the Ord State Bank. Although still living at Crete, he has made several investments in properties in the Loup valleys and is one of the staunchest friends that this section of the state ever had. He is all for the West, all for Nebraska and for her splendid citizenship and her matchless institutions. And if he is elected a Regent, as he certainly will be, he will be found to be broad enough to reach over the entire state and honest and brave enough to do right at all times.

The salary of the deputy county treasurer was fixed at $700 per year to be paid out of the fees of said office.

The bridge petition of N P Mortensen et al asking that a bridge be built along the south side of southeast quarter of section 33-13-15 on county line between Buffalo and Sherman counties, was referred to the bridge committee.

A motion was made and carried that each supervisor build and repair the bridges in their township.

The county board submitted the following proposition to the voters at the next general election, to authorize the county board to make a special 10-mill levy for the years 1908, 1909 and 1910 to pay off the bonded indebtedness of the county, and clerk was authorized to cause same to be advertised according to law.

The reduction made by the board on the salary of Frank Polski for assessing Ashton township, was left as previously allowed.

Peter Lorenz appeared before the board and asked that a bridge be built across Deer creek, in Rockville township, was referred to the bridge committee.

On motion the following claims were allowed and clerk ordered to draw warrants for same:
