Champion base ball player Boone may be able to play the National game to a nicety, but when it comes to capturing the prize lay-out on chicken hunting, he simply is not in it. The other day he went out after the aforesaid fowl in company with the Northwest's best wearer, Attorney Starr, and when he came home with only one in his credit and Starr getting the other eight, he was mean enough to ascribe his defeat to the fact that he could not hide beneath a blade of grass or conceal himself behind a corn stalk. Evidently Boone must have been pretty sore over his poor marksmanship. The champion of the "trap" had better distill himself.

Surprised Surprisers.

On Tuesday evening of this week, occurred a very pleasant social event at the Presbyterian manse. A few days since, Rev. McEwen, his family being away on a visit, issued some 65 invitations to the men of his congregation to help him while away a few of his lonely hours on the evening in question. There was a generous response to his courtesy and by 7 o'clock the manse parlors were comfortably filled with gentlemen friends and all went merrily until a knock at the door found a number of the gentler sex demanding admittance to the entire surprise of all the male persuasion. Surprise No. 1. The guests, however, had prepared one on their host which was not on his bill of fare. In issuing his invitations, he had not thought that it was on the 37th anniversary of his earthly pilgrimage, but that fact becoming known, his guests had purchased a fine reclining chair which suddenly appeared before the gaze of the startled clergyman, the second and most complete surprise. The presentation was then made by Messrs. J. S. Pedler and R. J. Nightingale in most felicitous talks, responded to most feelingly by the recipient, who showed and expressed his complete and happy surprise. Following came short and well received speeches on the citizen in the home, in the professions, in society in the church, in politics and in journalism, by Messrs. A. L. Zimmerman, Nightingale, Pedler, E. G. Taylor and Editors Brown and Burleigh. At this juncture the ladies present took their departure. Mrs. H. M. Mathew for the ladies saying a few choice and fitting words over the happy occasion. Following came a choice lunch provided by the pastor, after which all departed for their homes, vowing it an evening most pleasantly enjoyed.

The Raes Coming.

The many Loup City friends of the Rae family will hail with delight the return of these popular players and their clever company at the opera house commencing Sept. 26, with an all new line of specialties and a strong supporting company presenting the latest comedies and dramas. The company is now larger and better than ever before and presents plays from the following list: "Drifted Apart," a four act emotional drama; "Nick Carter, Detective," a thrilling melodrama; "Foxy Grandpa," a comedy in three acts; "Two Orphans," the great standard drama; "The Man in Black," a three act comedy; "Wanted A Wife," a roaring comedy; and "Kathleen Mavourneen," the domestic Irish drama in four acts. The company also introduces illustrated songs, moving pictures, good music, singing and dancing between acts making it all the strongest and best company of its class that has ever visited the town. You should not fail to attend every night as popular prices will prevail for this engagement. Reserved seats are now on sale at the usual place.

School Notes.

Miss Bly of Schaupp was a visitor of High School Friday afternoon.
The pupils were favorably informed Monday that they were to have Thursday and Friday afternoons for fun during the carnival. Thanks to the school board.
The Senior class of the High School met and formed a class organization Monday evening. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Addie Leininger, President; Maggie Minshull, Secretary; and Esther Musser, Treasurer.
A very enjoyable time was had by the Seniors at the home of Maggie Minshull Wednesday evening. The time was spent in playing lively games and guessing contests, after which dainty refreshments were served and the guests departed for home.

WEDDING BELLS.

Zimmerman - Leininger.
On Tuesday morning of this week, at the hour of 6:30, occurred the marriage of Miss Coralee Leininger, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Leininger, to Mr. Valentine A. Zimmerman of San Diego, Calif., the young couple taking the 8:50 train for their future home at San Diego, where they will be "Home" to their friends after Oct. 15th. The wedding was a very quiet affair, only the immediate family of the bride and Mr. W. D. Zimmerman, brother of the groom being present. Rev. G. H. Wise, pastor of the Methodist church, officiated. The bride is one of the most highly respected young ladies of our city and for two years past has been an efficient clerk in the postoffice. Mr. Zimmerman is a nephew of Rev. A. L. Zimmerman, and formerly a resident of this county, but for the past three years a business man of San Diego, Calif. The tokens of esteem received by the happy pair were very numerous and the bride and groom the esteem in which they are held by our people. They will visit Denver and San Francisco en route to their new home in Sunny Southern California. A large number of our young people, and many of the older ones, too, gathered at the train to give them the usual congratulations, accompanied by a liberal shower of rice, confetti, etc. The practical jokers among their intimate friends artistically labelled their trunks with the usual antics of peasantry and placards, old shoes, tiny (guess?) mementoes of coming events were not forgotten. The Northwestern, with the best of wishes, will wish them a pleasant and safe journey and prosperous and happy future.

Death of Mrs. M. H. Smith

We learn by the Evening Sentinel, Keene (Vt.), of the death of a former resident of Loup City, Mrs. Harriet M. Smith, widow of the late Moses H. Smith, father of Dr. J. H. Deppe and E. A. Smith of this city, at her home in Keene, Vermont, Tuesday morning, Sept. 17th, at the age of 76 years and 10 days. She had been ill about ten days, but had not been considered seriously sick until Sunday, when she was compelled to take to her bed, the cause of death being uremic poisoning. Mrs. Smith has many friends in this city who will be grieved to hear of her death.

A Famous Story.

One of the most famous serial stories ever written, "The Hidden Hand" will be seen in the form of a play in four acts at the opera house, Loup City, Neb., Tuesday, Oct. 15th. The author of the dramatization is the well known actor, Eugene Moore. He has constructed an unusually powerful play from Mr. Scott's novel, with one of the most delightful mixtures of comedy, pathos, southern character, romance, mystery and picturesque scenery that it is possible to put upon the stage. Mr. Moore has made that fine, fascinating creature, Caplora, stronger than ever, and here are a few new, good comedy characters as "Wool" is in this play. Of all stage villains, "Black Donald" is one of the few most sought after by actors of such parts. The scenes of the four acts of Mr. Moore's "Hidden Hand" are laid in old Virginia and the play reveals the good life in a wholesome, homelike manner with dainties, laughter, music and the lives of the lifelike, homely folk and genuine glimpses of one portion of the land of the free of yesterday. The production will come with special scenery and a good company under the direction of Fred G. Conrad.
