Mrs. W. F. Mason and baby returned home from Indiana Tuesday evening. Mr. D. N. Mason, a brother of Will and Oliver, who has just graduated from the law department of the Indiana University, accompanied her for a visit here.
Yesterday morning Rev. Huston went to Loup City to visit the Baptist church at that place and preach for them in the evening. This is a mission charge and the elder is a member of the mission board. He went to look the field over and report as to the sending of a pastor to that place. If there is anywhere in the state where they need more gospel it is surely Loup City.—Ord Quiz.
Owing to a clash in dates between the Hidden Hand Company and the Lyric Glee Club of the Lecture Course for being next Tuesday evening, Oct. 15, the managements have compromised and both entertainments will be held at the opera house on the evening in question, the Lyric Glee Club to sing first, opening their entertainment at 7:30 and the "Hidden Hand" play to come on at its close, beginning at 8 o'clock. A happy result to all concerned.
There being no services at either the Presbyterian or Baptist churches last Sunday evening, all look advantage of that fact to hear the new M. E. minister, Rev. J. O. Hawk, filling that house of worship comfortably full. Nor were they disappointed, for the new Methodist divine, a comparatively young man, is a ready speaker and gave an evening all convincing gospel discourse. He left a splendid impression upon his hearers as an earnest and talented Christian man and minister.

Mrs. Lofholm has recovered from her severe illness.
Tom Chamberlain returned from Colorado last week just in time to do jury duty. He likes first best.

Hitching posts have been placed along the south side of court house square. A good thing for farmers.
More than ordinary interest attaches to the present session of the district court. There will be three jury trials, two road cases and the case of Fritz Johansen against ex-marshal Benschoter. The cases of Benschoter vs. Jacob Albers, and that of Anson Fletcher against the village officials of Litchfield were both dismissed.
Loup City had the honor of furnishing one of the maids of honor to the queen at the Ak-Sar-Bee carnival at Omaha last week. The person of Miss Beatrice Nightingale. The Daily News of Thursday last gave a picture of Miss Nightingale among a group of the other out-of-town maids of honor. Omaha will please accept the thanks of Loup City for the honor given, and we are glad they could not have chosen another Loup City girl who would better grace the place. Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Mahoney of Omaha entertain Miss Nightingale during the festivities and gave an informal dinner Thursday evening in her honor.

Appeals to All Classes.

Searching the realms of fiction for material for a great play, Mrs. Southworth's "The Hidden Hand" appears to many to offer more opportunities than any other story. It appealed so strongly to one of the leading modern actors, Eugene Moore, that he made a new dramatization. This new drama of "The Hidden Hand" was immediately produced by F. B
