COMMITTEE.

On Monday of this week, Herman Johansen shipped a fine 300 pound Poland China boar to a man named Stockton Smith of Placerville, Colo., on the Santa Fe, beyond Grand Junction. The reputation of Mr. Johansen, as a breeder of fine Poland China swine is spreading far and near.

Thos. R. Lay, republican candidate for county clerk, was in Loup City Tuesday afternoon, looking over the political field. He was accompanied by Mr. Dwehus, of the mercantile firm of Nielsen & Dwehus of Rockville. Mr. Lay finds everything moving along finely for republican victory this fall.

Monday being the tenth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Doug. Bowen, a number of Mrs. Bowen's lady friends, taking their lunches along, gave her a tin shower in honor of the event. Those participating were Mesdames W. Rutenmayer, W. Criss, W. Thompson and L. A. Bangs. A very pleasant afternoon was the result.

Some fifteen members of the Entre Nous club went to St. Paul this morning to be entertained by Mrs. Eva Kendall. They were: Mesdames Cooper, Chase, Taylor, Henry, Main, Reushausen, Zimmerman, Truelsen, Waite, VerValin, J. P. Leininger, Ed. Angier, Marcy, Boone and Burleigh. They return this evening.

Last Saturday, Mr. E. G. Taylor closed the deal whereby he becomes sole owner of the Loup City mill property, purchasing the same of Mrs. Jonas Parshall and her two sons, Edward and James Parshall. He retains Wm. Anderson as miller and Mr. Chas. Peterson of Schuapps has been placed in management of the same. The business will receive new impetus owing to the new ownership, as Mr. Taylor is nothing if not of the most progressive nature. We wish him the utmost success in his new venture.

The first anniversary of the dedication of the new Presbyterian church will be celebrated next Sunday with special services. The music in the morning will consist of an anthem by the choir and a solo by Mrs. B. P. McKinnic. An antiphonal service by two choirs will make an unique service at the evening hour of worship. A solo will also be rendered by Chas. Leininger, an anthem by the choir and a solo by Miss Beth Zimmerman with violin obligato by Mr. Max Jeffords. All are cordially invited to attend.

Last Thursday evening about six o'clock, Robert Ely, the 18-year-old son of Herbert Ely, who is working on the section, received a charge of chicken shot in the right leg, between the knee and the thigh, from a shotgun in the hands of a fellow section hand, which was purely accidental, but which was just as severe as though the aim was accurately made. The boys had a shotgun with them on the hand car, when Robert's fellow worker jumped from the car to have a shot at a rabbit, stumbled with the gun, the trigger being caught and the contents punctured the leg as aforesaid. Dr. Main was called and found the injured limb perforated like a sieve. He extracted the shot, the boy nervily submitting to the operation without taking chloroform or ether, and at this writing is doing nicely and will speedily recover.

A. O. Huff, breeder of fine Poland China, was in Loup City last Saturday bringing down the sire of his herd, a fine pedigreed 600-pound Poland China boar, Uneda IV, to have a photo made of him, taken by Henry Eisner, and sent to Art Eisner at Grand Island to be developed.

Elsworth Ogle, who is manager of Cooper's mercantile store at Austin, is at this writing (Tuesday) quite seriously ill with some form of gathering in his throat, and is lying under the influence of morphine to relieve the intense pain. For some time he has been suffering with numberless boils on the back of his neck, and it is surmised by the attending physician, Dr. Dickinson of Rockville, that the present severe trouble is the result of a boil or abscess in the throat. We understand his condition is quite critical.

Pretty Good Advice.

Like many other prominent actors, Mr. Eugene Moore, who is appearing in Edwin Milton Royle's play, "My Boy, Jack," receives some very funny letters, here is one, "My Dear Mr. Moore—I saw you play Jack Paden in 'My Boy, Jack,' and I liked you so well, I take the liberty of writing you for a little information in order to settle a dispute with my intended. In escorting a young lady to the theatre, is it proper to wear a cane?" Mr. Moore's reply was, "My Dear Sir—If you have nothing else to wear, take my advice and stay at home," but we advise everybody to go to the theatre and see "My Boy, Jack," if they have to borrow clothes, or even the price. He will be here at the opera house, Loup City, Neb., Tuesday, Nov. 12th.

Will Coley shipped his goods to Stanton, where he will locate.

Miss Howard of Lincoln will teach the Shetler school this winter.

I have for sale some choice Poland China boars, ready for service. Call or write O. A. Huff, Arcadia, Neb.

Mr. C. A. Clark the Ravenna Creamery man, is in Loup City superintending the building over of the creamery plant here. They are laying in cement floors in the building, with good drainage. The plant will be in every way first-class in all its appointments as soon as the present work is complete.

A party of four hunters, composed of Oliver Mason and his brother, D. N., from Indiana; Fred Winkler and Joe Gunnarson from Aurora, left on a fishing and hunting trip above Ord, Monday morning, to be gone a week. They had a boat loaded on a spring wagon, a good assortment of guns, dogs, fishing tackle, nerve and blankets along and no doubt, will have at least fisherman's luck during their absence.

One of the old standbys of Loup City in the meat line is S. F. Reynolds' Pioneer market. Days may come and days may go, but that first-class meat emporium stays on and serves the best of steaks, broils, roasts, sausages, smoked hams, salt meats, etc., all the time. We have said before, Loup City has in the Pioneer market one of the best of its kind of any town we have known in Nebraska. When you want the best, you will always find it at S. F. Reynolds' Pioneer Meat Market.

The "Mystery" social and supper at the Presbyterian church last Friday evening was a grand success, netting the Christian Endeavor society some $30. Vocal music by Miss Beth Zimmerman with violin accompaniment by Mr. Max Jeffords, was one of the most interesting parts of the bill of fare. The "aitin'" bill of fare was a puzzle, so far as the ordering was concerned, but the rest, was the easiest thing out for the hungry guests. If you were not there, you missed out, that's all.

On Tuesday evening of this week the opera house was crowded to the very doors to hear both the Lyric Glee Club and the Hidden Hand play, both entertainments coming on the same evening in the same house, the Glee Club first and followed by the Hidden Hand, making a continuous round of song and drama from 7:30 till midnight. Both the Lyric people and the Hidden Hand players gave good for the money and satisfied their audiences, which for the most part was the same to each. Lack of space prevents extended mention of either, both of which are well deserving of good write-ups.

District court adjourned last Saturday night about 11 o'clock, after five days and nights of about the most strenuous time that the court has had here for several years. Several cases of much interest were up, most of which were carried to a finish. The T. J. Gibson bridge cases were carried over. The divorce case of Schotter case, in which Johansen wanted $500 damages for alleged false imprisonment, caused the most interest, and the jury after being out almost two days and nights brought in a verdict of one cent for Johansen. Two important land cases were also fought to a finish and one divorce case was granted. Judge Hostetler and his reporter drove to Ravenna Sunday morning to enable him to reach Kearney for court work Monday morning.

Rev. McEwen and his little son, Leland, were participants in an exciting runaway, last Sunday afternoon, but fortunately little damage was done to the rig and none to the occupants. When about half way to Austin, where the reverend was going to fill a preaching appointment, something got the matter with the harness and when he got out to fix it, the team became frightened and ran away with his little son in the buggy alone. The horses ran about a half mile, ending up at the Weidstrand place, where they became entangled in a cultivator in the field, throwing one of the horses and overturning the buggy, throwing the boy out uninjured, but fortunately little damage was done to the farm property. Further harm. Besides breaking a double-tree and delaying the minister from his appointment a few minutes, all matters came out well. But Rev. McEwen will not get relief from his overcharged feelings and fearful alarm for many a day.
