Adam Houser, brother of A. E. Houser, and nephew, Sustus Ford and family of Loup City, visited in the city at the Houser home over Sunday. These gentlemen report prosperous times up in Sherman county and crops of all kinds good. They are thinking some of locating in Aurora and engaging in business.—Aurora Sun.
Mrs. E. E. Ditto left yesterday morning for her old home at Wauseon, Ohio, with the intention of visiting there this winter. Mrs. Ditto could not say she would remain all winter, as the fact that her parents have passed away since she was there may have a tendency to make her visit too full of sad memories to give pleasure to an extended stay. The Northwestern will greet her each week with news of home.
Rev. Reinhart from Richmond, Va., delivered a lecture on temperance at the Presbyterian church last Sunday afternoon of nearly two hours' duration. His topic was, "As it is in the South," but he devoted his address to the temperance question in general, much to the disappointment of many who went to hear how it was in the Southland, to which very little allusion was made. Like a good many speakers on the subject, the gentleman was rather too intemperate in his remarks to be convincing, and said very little outside of the stereotyped expressions of the usual lecturer on the subject. He is a very rapid speaker, too much so to be distinctly intelligible to his hearers, and lacks to a very large extent the pleasing and winding way of reaching his hearers' hearts so telling in such men as Goff, Murphy, and other noted temperance speakers.
