Can the brewers' and distillers' democratic party win over the republicans, the populists, the prohibitionists and all the combined elements of county option.

Wm. R. Patrick, who came out as a county option candidate for the democratic nomination for governor, ordered his name withdrawn from the ticket.

This fall, it is solely a question as to whether the brewers and distillers can win over all the combined interests in the county.

W. B. Price of Lincoln, the candidate for the U. S. senate who withdrew in favor of Metcalf, a Bryan man, says the action of the democratic party in turning down county option will elect the republican ticket by 25,000 majority.

Nearly everybody will want a state daily during the political mix up now going on and the Lincoln Journal cuts its price to January 1, 1911, to $2 with Sunday or $1.50 without.

The brewers and distillers will throw their combined efforts to elect a state senate in Nebraska this fall that will do their will.

Our friend Louis Rein, who is a candidate for representative in this county of both the democrats and populists, is in a queer position.

John G. Carlisle, who was secretary of the treasury under Cleveland, died last Sunday night at his rooms in New York City.

If Jim Ingham does not have more sympathetic over the state affair, it is likely that he will be among the unfortunates hereabouts.

The political situation in this 10th senatorial district is assuming a complex aspect in the past few days.

A STATEMENT FROM CONGRESSMAN KINKAID

To My Esteemed Constituents: Upon the advice of many voters, I have become a candidate for a re-nomination for Congress by the primary election to be held August 16.

During the present Congress I have faithfully supported the policies pursued and legislation recommended by Roosevelt, when President, adopted and promoted by President Taft, as evidenced by the excellent measures enacted at the recent session.

In revising the tariff, I strived to have lumber and barbed wire placed upon the free list, and voted on separate schedules for revision downward generally, but after the bill had been in the Senate and in conference, it had to be voted upon as an entirety, with the alternative to pass it or defeat it and leave in operation the old law.

A majority, including democrats with republicans, prevented a greater reduction of the rates. I favor the increase of the authority of the tariff board recently authorized and that in the future revisions be made of single schedules, when conditions warrant it, rather than that schedules be revised at the same time, thus preventing "log rolling" by protected interests.

I favor the adoption of the proposed amendment to the Constitution of the United States permitting the taxing of large incomes; also, the election of Senators by direct vote.

As about three-fifths of the announcements of my competitor consists of an attack upon my record, I shall give it such brief notice as the nature hereof will permit.

The reference incidentally occurring last winter in the Ballinger-Pinchot investigation to my charge of a quarter-section of coal land in Alaska, carried with it the information, derived from official source, that the transaction was legitimate and straightforward; but in disregard of this, to advance my candidacy, my competitor questions its regularity.

It was because only of the fact that Mr. Ballinger, as my attorney, had passed on the title to the property, before he was Secretary of the Interior, when in the practice of law at Seattle, that the transaction was mentioned at all.

No government official has pretended that I did what was wrong or improper. Glavis, special agent and attorney for the government in coal land matters, in substance, swore there was nothing contained in the transaction on the part of either Ballinger or myself, that was wrong.

Brandsel, attorney for Pinchot, said: "We have looked into the case carefully. . . . There is nothing wrong or improper. . . . Mr. Kinkaid has nothing to conceal in this matter as far as I know."

My purchase was made in good faith, and the law in other respects has been complied with, a patent will be granted; otherwise not. Certainly, the government is secure, because its officials have the exclusive determination of these questions.

In refutation of the implied accusation by my competitor, that I have evaded voting, "insurgents at home and stood pat in Washington," I cite a portion of a testimonial written by Howard R. Hinshaw, Secretary to Congressman Hinshaw, as follows:

"Hon. M. P. Kinkaid: Complying with your request, I have made a careful compilation of your votes of the present session."

"I quote also: 'District of Columbia, City of Washington, I, Alexander McDowell, Clerk of the House of Representatives of the United States, do hereby certify that at the request of Congressman Kinkaid, I have caused to be ascertained his relative standing as to attendance during this session, and his record as to voting on roll calls, as compared with other members, and as a result it has been made to appear, and does appear, to me that in attendance and the number of recorded votes, Mr. Kinkaid ranks with members who rank the highest, and ranks as high as a vote higher than the average of four or five or six of the highest.'"

In witness whereof, I have hereunto subscribed my name and affixed my official seal, this 25th day of June, A. D. 1910.

SEAL. ALEXANDER MCDOWELL. (Signed) HOWARD R. HINSHAW. A general merchandise store at Sweetwater burned Monday night. Romeo and Roy Conger have been kept busy supplying different parties with hay this week.

The rain of Monday night was general over Route 2, and in some places as much as two inches fell. West along the divide for six miles the rain was light.

L. Banks Hale and wife and baby are home again after a two weeks' trip to Salt Lake City and Ogden. F. F. Casteel had six acres of new ground in wheat that made twenty-seven bushels to the acre.

Henry Goodwin marketed several loads of hogs at Loup City Tuesday. There was a dance at the home of Sam Fletcher last Saturday night.

Andy Widstrand had a horse badly cut in the wire fence at Will Behren's last Wednesday. John Frederickson and Andy Widstrand were trading at Loup City last Thursday.

Mrs. Henry Peterson of Holdrege is visiting at the home of P. G. Peterson's this week. Edgar Foster is driving Route 3 during Carrier Williams' vacation.

John Blaschke is home again after several months spent in the south and east. Art Wilson marketed a load of hogs at Loup City Tuesday.

Those who have threshed are, John Olson, H. W. Brodbeck, F. G. Casteel and Alfred Jurgensen. Shock threshing will soon be a thing of the past for this year.

Late alfalfa are all cut. The third crop of alfalfa except in a few fields will not amount to much unless we get lots of rain. Young alfalfa has had a hard time standing the dry weather of the past month.

Most corn has stood the dry weather fairly well. A good many farmers are cultivating their corn several times with a one-horse cultivator. Fall plowing has commenced.

Johnny Flynn, the 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Flynn, almost lost his life Sunday morning about 5 o'clock. He went to the barn and saddled his pony to go for the cows in the pasture, led the pony out of the gate and shutting it after him, when as he mounted the pony something caused it to buck wickedly.

It is thought the pony stepped on one end of a board lying on the ground, the other end striking it. This took the boy by surprise and he soon lost his seat in the saddle, falling with one foot caught in the stirrup. The pony then had him at his mercy and ran as fast as he could for 40 rods, the boy striking the ground at every jump. How he survived is a miracle as his body is bruised from head to foot, two ribs were broken, a gash to the bone on his chin, one cut on his head and one eye closed.

The little fellow did not know the carrier when he called to see him Tuesday. The doctor thinks he will get along all right in time. "A picture of father and mother." How it would delight your children, how it would please your friends.
