Additional Locals,

Our band boys held their annual election of officers last Thursday evening, selecting J. I. Depew for president, O. E. Adams secretary-treasurer, W. C. Dieterichs leader, Robt. Pritchard instructor, Cash Pritchard librarian, and J. I. Depew, O. E. Adams and Robt. Pritchard as directors. The band boys had no mistake along that line this time.

In the matter of the State of Nebraska vs. John Chippis, which came on for preliminary hearing before Judge Smith Tuesday. It appearing to the state that important witnesses for the state had left to avoid service of subpoena's, and that there was not sufficient evidence to justify the filing of a complaint and that before the aforesaid witnesses could be brought into court the alleged act complained of would be barred by the Statute of Limitations and the only way in which this could be avoided would be the calling of a special session of the district court.

At the annual stockholders meeting of the Loup City State Bank held Friday of last week, former Vice President J. S. Pedler was elected President, John W. Long, Vice President and C. C. Carlsen, Cashier, the Board of Directors remaining the same, namely, W. R. Mellor, E. G.
Taylor, S. N. Sweetland, Sam'l Dad-dow, J. S. Pedler, John W. Long and C. C. Carlsen. The business of this bank has grown to such an extent as demands the entire time of its president and cashier in managing and directing its affairs. Mr. Taylor's other business interests are so large as to demand all of his attention, and it was thought best to have one actively engaged in the bank as its president. Mr. Taylor still retains all of his original holdings of stock and will continue to act as one of the bank's directors as he has in the past. The surplus of the bank was increased to $17,500.00, making this bank, including capital and surplus, the largest and strongest in the county, while its officers and directors are among our oldest residents and most influential business men.

Mr. A. B. Outhouse has purchased through Mr. Williams a liberal share of the stock in the First National Bank of this city, and was elected a director at their annual meeting of the 19th instant. Officers elected for the ensuing year are: Ira E. Williams, president; A. B. Outhouse, vice president; L. Hansen, cashier, and O. E.
Adams, assistant cashier. A. P. Cul-ley had asked to be relieved as president, a right which he has well earned during the past 25 years, and owing to his absence a large portion of the year, his demands were respected. The addition of Mr. Outhouse to the bank directorate will add very materially to the strength of the institution. The elevation of Mr.
Williams to the head of the First National is a recognition of the excellent manner in which he, who came here a total stranger to our people, has built up and help place it among the leading banking institutions of this county. The placing of Mr. Louie Hansen as cashier has been especially pleasing to patrons, as no man in our community has a stronger hold on the trust of the public generally. Mr. Adams, as assistant cashier, has also made good with the people and is proving a very efficient strength to the institution.

The State of Nebraska, s. s.

statement is correct as I verily believe.
