RABBIT CHASE IS FATAL TO 3 DOGS

ANIMALS GAIN SUCH SPEED IN

ON TANGENT.

BUSTER BUTTS INTO A TREE

Binks Falls into the River and is
Drowned, While Muffet Rips Head
Off on Tree Trunk—Tangent
Theory Clearly Demonstrated.

Westboro, Mo.—In hunting on the premises of Ben B. Hurst, near here, J. H. Grandin of Omaha, Neb., demonstrated that after running in a circle and attaining a certain degree of speed the dogs will go off on a tangent and that the going is likely to end fatally.

Grandin came down from the city and for a few days made his home with Hurst, devoting the greater portion of his time to hunting rabbits and squirrels in the timber along the Tarkio river. On his expeditions to the woods he was accompanied by the Hurst dogs—Buster, a spaniel; Binks, a rat terrier, and Muffet, a shepherd—three as fine rabbit dogs as ever took up the trail in northern Missouri.

For a few days the hunting was good, but on the third day the dogs were killed, and the tangent theory was clearly demonstrated.

Early in the morning Grandin struck into the woods and soon had a half dozen squirrels slung over his shoulder. Suddenly, close to the river,

SAVAGE BLOODHOUNDS TEAR PREY TO PIECES

a coroner's jury had exonerated the owner of the hounds. A house had been robbed at Carrier Mills during the absence of the family. ## MAN IS SLAIN BY MINISTERS

Georgia Moonshiner Threatens a Preacher, and is Riddled With Bullets.

Blue Ridge, Ga.—Carter Lingerfelt, moonshiner, was shot to death in Mount Pisgah church, about seven miles from here by Rev. William Kimmo, a Baptist minister. Rev. Mr. Kimmo was aided in the fight by his two brothers, both of whom are preachers, and one of them was seriously wounded by Lingerfelt.

A conference of the congregation was being held in the church, when Lingerfelt broke down the door, entered and threatened to kill the preacher, Lingerfelt had previously threatened to run the three ministers out of the county if they continued to preach against moonshining. The Kimmos continued their crusade from various pulpits against the illegal manufacture and sale of whisky, and when Lingerfelt appeared they were ready for him.

As soon as Lingerfelt drew his pistol the three brothers opened fire, and Lingerfelt fell, pierced by half a dozen bullets, but not before, however, he had fired three shots himself, wounding Rev. W. H. Kimmo seriously. The preachers fired from the

CALF AND GOOSE ARE CHUMS

Animal Owned on a New York Farm
Attempts Suicide When Fowl is Sick.

New Rochelle, N. Y.—No stranger affection ever existed than that between a calf and a goose, owned by Miss Hannah George, who lives on a little farm, near Mount Vernon. The friendship sprang up last summer when Miss George sold her cow and the calf was turned into a pasture where there were no bushes to brush away the flies.

One day the goose, seeing a swarm of flies on the calf while it was lying down, caught and ate nearly every fly that was bothering it. The calf was grateful for the attention and chased a dog that was in the habit of worrying the goose. Since then the goose has been the calf's constant companion, spending the entire day strutting around and jumping for the flies that light on the calf.

The other day the goose was sick and was kept in a closed pen. The calf, missing its friend, would not be consoled and attempted to strangle itself with its rope. Miss George disentangled it just in time to save its life.

Glanders in Horses.

Dolezal of Saunders has a measure which seeks to provide payment for horses afflicted with glanders which the state veterinarian puts to death as a preventive of spread of the disease, conceded to be one of the worst which afflicts domestic animals. He explains that the people in that part of his district surrounding Cedar Bluffs are particularly anxious for the passage of this law because they have felt the effect of the loss of animals by glanders. As explained by Mr. Dolezal, the disease is just as apt to attack the horses of poor men as those of wealthy farmers, and when they are shot by the deputy veterinarian it leaves the owner in deplorable condition. The author of the bill argues that to appropriate $25,000 for the payment of these horses and mules would work towards stamping out the dread disease, as it would be an incentive to the owner to have his animals examined when he has an suspicion that they are afflicted. He declares that now there is a tendency to hide the fact as long as possible.

USE IS PUNISHABLE BY FINE

Respect Are Not Aware of Penalty Therefor.

Washington.—The American Red Cross has asked the solicitor general of the United States to advise it as to the proper steps for the enforcement of that portion of its federal charter relating to the use of its emblem and name for advertising by private firms and manufacturers.

Such use of the Red Cross is punishable by a penalty up to $500 or a year's imprisonment. It is believed many persons who use the emblem and name for advertising purposes are not aware that such is forbidden and that heavy penalties may be enforced against them.

The United States has entered into a treaty with all the civilized governments of the world to prevent the misuse of the Red Cross emblem or title. The law specifically prohibits the use of a "Greek red cross on a white ground, or any sign or insignia made, or colored imitation thereof, or of the words "Red Cross" or "Geneva Cross" or any combination of these words." The use is forbidden even for charitable purposes, except by the American Red Cross, its employees and agents, and the army and navy sanitary and hospital authorities.

The use of the red cross on the New York ambulances has been abandoned, and medical and other associations have pledged themselves to suppress its use for any advertising purposes. The officers of the national organization request of the solicitor general an opinion as to the best method for proceeding against those who continue to use the emblem or name.
