THE NORTHWESTERN

Entered at the Loup City Postoffice for second class matter. Office Phone, - 6 on 21 Residence, - - 3 on 21 J. W. BURLEIGH, Ed. and Pub

Railroad Music Last week the Northwestern had a quantity of railroad dope that was sweet music in the ears of our people who all want to see both the B. & M. and Union Pacific pushed to further west. That it was not hot air, we are in better position to assert than before. Last Monday there was a meeting at Westerville, in Custer county, looking toward the building of the proposed new Nebraska Central and Western railroad from Loup City to Broken Bow, through Westerville, the extension of the line proposed from Broken Bow to Arnold, contracts for the construction of which are being advertised in the Omaha dailies, said construction to begin within ninety days. Last week railroad meetings were held at Broken Bow looking toward the building of the line from Arnold to Broken Bow, and everybody was enthusiastic and no doubt is expressed but that the line will be built, and will be in operation very near future, in fact the promoters absolutely assure the people work will begin even within sixty days. The meeting at Westerville shows that the people between here and Broken Bow are in earnest and intend the line shall be built within ninety days. The meeting at Broken Bow as well, which will make a new line from Loup City to Arnold through Westerville and Broken Bow, and later on to the Northwest. What action, if any, will the people of Loup City and up the Clear Creek valley valley take in furtherance of the building of the proposed new line? The survey from Loup City to Broken Bow, by way of Westerville, was made some two or three years ago, and was found to be across an ideal country, easy of construction and taping a rich agricultural country. In the past, our people have been dormant to a great extent, instead of getting action, looking to assisting in the building of the proposed line. Don't they want it? Is it not time our people wakened up to the importance of a new line up the valley to the Northwest? Let us have a public and enthusiastic meeting in the near future to assist our neighbors in the creation of the line. Let work between Loup City and Broken Bow, by way of Westerville, be started, and do not let the grass grow under their feet and our neighbors be any more active than we in furthering the proposed line. Let us have the meeting and appoint a committee of our best citizens to get in touch with the Westerville, Broken Bow and Arnold people, and soon we will have the Nebraska Central and Western built from Loup City to the Northwest. And the accomplishment of that will also mean the building of the B. & M. across from Cairo to Loup City, and from Sargent to Dunning, making Loup City on the main line of that road between Kansas City and the Black and the Pacific Coast. Let our people get action at once.

Uncle Lou Williams is a candidate for re-election to the office of sheriff, which he has so faithfully and efficiently filled for the past six or eight years. This the Northwest is officially entitled to state. We do not believe a certain interested party has and is spreading the report that he is not a candidate for re-election. Another report is to the effect that Sheriff Williams is receiving a pension of $30 per month, and we understand from the same source, when the fact is that up to August of last year he had only been receiving $8 per month and since that time said pension has been raised to $15, the total amount he is now receiving. We do not know what difference it would make if he were receiving a higher pension, so far as a collection and the performance of the duties of sheriff are concerned, but we wish to keep history straight, and for that reason give the facts as they are and should be stated. There is no decent reason why false reports should be spread and we trust this will end them. We will have more to say along these lines, in event these falsifications do not cease.

Word from Vic Swanson Turlock, Calif., March 3rd, 1911. Dear Mr. Burleigh: As I promised to give you a little write-up on our trip, I will do so, making it as brief as possible. We left Aurora by the way of Denver from there over the D. & B. O. R. to Salt Lake City, passing through the Royal Gorge and Grand Canyon with walls of rocks thousands of feet high. We spent one day in Salt Lake City taking in all the historical places of any importance. That same day one of Brigham Young's wives was buried, she having died the day before. We were told he had only one more wife living, eighteen wives having passed to the great beyond. Elmer and I each wanted to take unto ourselves a couple more wives, but as our "Missus" objected we left Salt Lake the following day. While going over the summit of the mountain just before getting into California, we passed through 27 feet of snow and three hours later shot down into the valley where everything was green, with beautiful roses everywhere. It seemed nice to see such a sudden change. We spent a day in Oakland and a couple of days in San Francisco, taking in the Golden Gate Park and Ocean View. When we first arrived at the museum, we went direct to the museum, but found the doors closed, so we inquired of a policeman when the doors would be open. He informed us it would be in 30 minutes and began to question us considerably and after looking us over carefully and seeing Elmer Youngquest's beautiful crop of white hair, wanted to know if we were from Stockholm. Elmer faintly so had to take him down to the beach and rub a little salt in his eyes to restore him. We finally left San Francisco for Turlock, where we are now located. There was a large crowd at the depot to meet the two sports farmers from Loup City, Neb. Must say we had a most delightful trip, fine weather and the children all well and good. The first two days after our arrival we had something to complain of, but since then it has rained continually night and day, but we all like it fine here and expect to stay for a while at least. We certainly miss all our Loup City friends. Will now close with best wishes to all. Respectfully, Vic Swanson.

Killed in Accident

Early this morning, Sheriff Williams was notified by phone that a dead man had been found in the road some seven miles up the valley, just west of the Stenger residence, formerly occupied by H. B. Musser, Coroner, Main, County Attorney Starr and the sheriff, accompanied by a number from this city immediately went to the scene by team and autos. Arriving at the place designated, the following facts were made plain: Lying in the rear of a large blue seaton carriage on the side of the road, just a few yards east of the B. & M. tracks, with the head resting on a rear wheel, lay the body of a Russian Poleander, named Tony Bracolis, cold and stiff in death. A jury was at once empaneled, the body taken to the barn of the Stenger place and examined by the coroner. The body was then taken to town and the examination and facts in regard to the untimely death had in the undertaker's rooms in the afternoon, beginning at 2 p. m., were as follows: Found in the carriage some time in January had been working for Ed Manchester in Oak Creek township, was summoned by subpoena to appear yesterday in a case in county court. Last evening, between 7 and 8 o'clock, he started up the valley, driving the team of Ed Manchester, with which he had drove down, intending to visit over night at the home of Tony Trebo. Arriving at the cross roads about a half mile east of the Stenger place, he evidently missed the road and went directly west, near Stenger's. Instead of keeping on the main road as he should. About half way between the house and the railroad track, and driving at a brisk rate, as was shown by the scene, the team swerved to the left into a bad cut on the side of the road, the carriage was overturned, throwing him out, evidently rendering him unconscious. The back portion of the carriage was drawn over the body, when the team became entangled and stopped, where they were found when the crowd gathered about ten o'clock this morning. The body in the position above named. One of the horses was injured so badly that it was killed later. Deceased was about 21 years of age and had no relatives nearer than Omaha, where it is understood he has a brother or cousin in one of the packing houses, though no one can be found to verify this, his parents still living in Russia. He was not possessed of any money or property, and the body will be buried at the expense of the county.
