The county supervisors met in regular sessions Tuesday.

B. J. Swanson came in from Uly-ssee Tuesday for a visit.

So far this week there has been but two wrecks in the state but the fair is not over yet.

At this time it looks as though the threatened strike on the Harriman lines would not materialize.

The Keystone Lumber Co. has a new ad this week that will interest parties who are going to build or do any repainting.

Did you notice the "I told you so" squads that were out when the news of Gutch's easy victory over the Russians arrived?

It will be worth your time to read R. L. Arthur's new ad in this issue also to go and see the new goods it tells you about.

O. E. Adams arrived in the city Monday leaving again Tuesday for Artesian, S. D. where he has purchased a bank.

Graefe's new building is completed and the new fixtures are all in place giving the place a most metropolitan appearance. Oh you red front.

The state fair people seem to be having better luck with the air men than did the Grand Island Commercial Club but then W. R. Mellor is not at the head of the G. I. C. C.

We intended to give some space to that little scrap that caused so much excitement and brought the interested parties an assessment of "ten and" but it seems like most every body was there at the time so what's the use.

Clarence Younquist left Monday morning for Watertown, S. D., for a visit with his brother and sister and Pat Younquist. He was to visit a few days at Aurora with his parents en route, and accompany his father to Omaha, where the latter will consult an eminent oculist over his failing eyesight.

Mrs. H. P. Ferdinandt and children left last Thursday morning for Frost, Minn. Mrs. Ferdinandt being called by a telegram announcing the dangerous illness of her good mother. Later news received is to the effect that the lady found her mother not improved and gave fears were entertained for the outcome. They expect to be absent several weeks, in any event.

The Village Board of Comstock has been served with a mandamus to assemble and recall the license issued to G. Odendahl or to show cause why same should not be revoked on Sept. 25th. W. A. Prince of Grand Island and R. P. Starr of this city, attorneys for Mr. Odendahl, made a trip from Loup City to Comstock by automobile Saturday evening.

We are in receipt of a letter from the passenger traffic manager of the Union Pacific requesting us to warn merchants against advertising solicitations for space on Union Pacific folders magazines etc. who try to convey the impression that the Union Pacific people are interested in same and requests us to state that any so representing are frauds and should be so treated.

According to the Ord Quiz there is considerable excitement there over the discovery of poison that had been placed in pastures of some of the farmers. L. P. Cunningham lost a number of hogs and Frank Ball was just in time to save some of his horses from eating some salt that was covered with strychnine. A man under suspicion left the vicinity suddenly.

The Northwestern at this time wishes to return thanks to the many new readers being added daily to its growing list. During the past few weeks it has been a daily occurrence to add numbers of new names to the list so many as to make it not feasible to mention by name each one, but our thanks are none the less fervent. Our list is now nearing the thousand mark and we trust will continue without intermission till it reaches a much higher altitude.

"The Ak-Sar-Ben Goat" is the name given Omaha's latest newspaper and it is hardly necessary to explain that it is devoted to the big fall carnival first last and all the time. It is profusely illustrated and full of witty and timely snips that even to an outsider are amusing and enjoyable. Bob Manley is responsible for it, editorially, and the publication office address is Samson's Royal Hut 1717 Douglas St., Omaha. A nickel will get you one and its worth a quarter. The Carnival this year starts Sept. 27 and lasts to Oct. 7.

Did you notice the artistic display of leather goods fine glassware etc. in the W. T. Chase windows? They are attractive and a credit to the store and the person who arranged them who ever it was. Window dressing that is reasonable and changed often combined with judicious newspaper advertising properly illustrated as modern competition demands will do more to lessen the number of mail order house orders than any other two things. The window furniture in the two displays mentioned was made at home.

Mrs. G. B. Wilkie came home from a visit to Brock, Nebr. last week.

All rural carriers had a jag Tuesday after their holiday Monday.

Lulu Vickers commenced her school in the Will Hawk district Monday.

Mr. Peavy and sons were loading a car of baled hay at Austin last Saturday.

Ed Radcliff and his men are putting an addition on Henry Goodwins house this week.

Will Miller, Henry Obermiller, Ralph Teeters and Hans Deitz thrashed last Saturday.

Robert Dinsdale has completed slios on his place in Loup City and on his farm south of Loup City.

Mrs. Fred Daddow and Mrs. J. V.
Thomas came home from their visit to Idaho Springs, Colo. last night.

There is a party putting down a well south of the Spotsanski place. He will soon be putting up some new building.

Conrad Cook was cutting oats last Saturday. Cutting oats in September sounds odd but this has been a very odd season.

The new steel bridge at Oltjenbruns is completed and it is a dandy. It speaks well for the county to see such bridges as this one and the W.
O. Brown bridge.

(Crowded out last week) Henry Reed is fixing the road east of Brodock's.

Mrs. Jessie McFadden is visiting in Polk county.

Gus George had the threshers at his place Monday.

The folks at John Peugh's are getting along fine.

A brother of A. L. Enderlee from Aurora is visiting him.

Don Holmes and wife took in the Chataqua Wednesday.

Mrs. Geo. Lanterman is visiting her sister, Mrs. Frank Daddow.

Miss Lulu McFadden will again teach the Prairie Gem school this year.

J. A. Converse has sold his farm northwest of the Prairie Gem school house for $7,000.

Chas. Johnson, Hans Dietz, John Petersen, Clark Alleman and Mr.
Bogards threshed this week.

The Standard Bridge Co have hauled their pile driver and hammer to Litchfield where they are putting in a new bridge.

The rainfall of last Saturday night covered the entire route, ranging fourth to one-half inches, the heaviest being between John Squirs' and Loup City.

Miss Lottie Bushong from Omaha is visiting at her home on route one.
She will make an extended visit before returning to her duties as a nurse in one of the hospitals.

John Haller and wife got caught at Peole in their new auto during the big rain last Saturday night. John said the rain was not so heavy there as further north, but on their way home the amount of water was something fierce.

The road between Hans Obermiller and Andy Gray farm has been allowed.
The road runs two miles south of Andy Gray's corner, then a mile and a half east to the valley. The township allowed a new bridge 20 feet wide southwest of Sam Fletcher's on this road.

Tony Moseka has had two very narrow escapes from death the past ten days. The first was by being thrown from a horse, and the second was a run-away team, the horses getting loose from the wagon, dragging Tony over the front end to the ground he hanging on till he was dragged several hundred feet, but succeeding in stopping them.

The average man in the auto and the man driving the horse would be right and decent, but there is a sprinkling of drivers of both kinds of vehicles that ought to be clubbed over the head. The reckless speeder who rushes by a carriage full of women and children ought to be put in the county jail and the ornery cuss who drives sedate old Dobbin in the center of the highway and refuses to let an auto pass should be put on the rock pile for ten days.—Hillsboro News.
