Many departments of state have paid fees to the state treasurer under the Gerdes law, a law which requires nearly all departments to pay fees in and which appropriates such fees for the use of the departments. The effect of the law is to compel all departments to make a full accounting of all fees taken in and expended. Some departments formerly received large fees and expended them without having their accounts audited by any of the state auditing officers.

WESTERN CANADA FARMER SECURES WORLD'S PRIZE FOR WHEAT

A ROSTHERN, SASK., FARMER THE LUCKY WINNER.

Sir Thomas Shaughnessy of the Canadian Pacific Railway offered $1,000 in gold as a prize for the best 100 lbs. of wheat, grown on the American continent, to be competed for at the recent Land Show in New York. In making the competition open, the donor of this handsome prize showed his belief in the superiority of Canadian wheat lands, by throwing the contest open to farmers of all America, both United States and Canada. The United States railways were by no means anxious to have the Canadian railways represented at the show and a New York paper commenting on the results of the competitions says that they were not to be blamed, as the Canadians captured the most important prize of the show.

The winner of this big wheat prize was Mr. Seager Wheeler of Rosthern, Saskatchewan, and its winning has brought a great deal of credit on the district. The winning wheat was the Marquis variety, and received no more attention from Mr. Wheeler than his other grain, but he is a very particular farmer. His farm is one of the cleanest and best kept in the Rosthern district, and this year he won first prize in a good farm competition which included every feature of farming and every part of the farm. Last winter Wheeler was a prize winner at the provincial seed fair in Regina. Wheeler is a firm believer in sowing clean seed of the best quality procurable, consequently his grain is much sought after by the best farmers for seed purposes.

Wheeler is an Englishman. He is a pioneer of Rosthern, coming here fifteen years ago. In the last six years he has done much experimenting, particularly in wheat varieties. His farm resembles an experimental farm. A long driveway, lined on both sides with trees, leads to a modest house, the home of Wheeler, a modest, unassuming man with the appearance of a student rather than a man engaged in commercial pursuits.

There are now no free homesteads to be had in this district, and farm lands are worth from $20 to $40 per acre, which a few years ago were secured by their present owners, either as a free gift or purchased at from $5 to $8 per acre.

It is not many miles from Rosthern, where the farmer lives, who secured the first prize for wheat last year at the National Corn Exposition at Columbus and West of Rosthern, about 150 miles, lives Messrs. Hill and Son, who won the Colorado Silver Trophy, valued at $1,500, for the best peck of oats, also awarded at the National Corn Show at Columbus in 1910.

Not contented with the high honors obtained in its wheat, Canada again stepped forward into the show ring, and carried off the Stillwell trophy and $1,000 for the best potatoes on the continent. This time the winner was a British Columbia man, Mr. Asahel Smith, the "Potato King," of that province. The exhibit consisted of one hundred and one varieties drawn from all parts of the province aggregating in weight one and a half tons.

At the recent Dry Farming Congress, held at Colorado Springs, and at which time it was decided to hold the next Congress at Lethbridge, in 1912, the Province of Alberta made a wonderful showing of grains, grasses and vegetables.

"At the Congress, Alberta got more prizes and trophies, ten to one, than any state of the Union," said Mr. Hotchkiss of the Edmonton Bulletin. "We brought back all but the building with us, and they offered us that, saying we might as well take all that was going. We would have brought it along, too, if we had had a flat car to put it on. Alberta captured nearly 50 first prizes, 20 seconds, 3 thirds, 9 cups, 40 medals, 50 ribbons and 2 sweepstakes. The grand sweepstakes prize, for the best exhibit by state or province, a magnificent silver cup, was presented to us with much ceremony at a reception to the Canadians in the Empress hotel. The presentation was made by Prof. Olin, chairman of the judging committee, and the cup was received on behalf of the province by the Hon. Duncan Marshall.

SAFELY IN QUENTIN

McNAMARA DYNAMITERS REACH CALIFORNIA PRISON.

TRIP IS WITHOUT INCIDENT

The Brothers, Pale and Cheerless, Are Whisked Out of Los Angeles in an Automobile.

San Quentin, Cal.—The McNamara brothers on Sunday entered San Quentin penitentiary, where James B. is condemned to spend the remainder of his life for his confessed crime of murder and where John J., secretary of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, is sentenced to fifteen years' imprisonment for dynamiting.

It was James B. who blew up the Los Angeles Times building October 1, 1910, with the loss of twenty-one lives, and John J. who abetted in wrecking part of the Llewellyn Iron Works in Los Angeles the following Christmas day.

The men entered the prison, it is fairly authenticated, believing that they had achieved much for the cause of union labor and had been cruelly misunderstood in their effort and the results they obtained. John J. McNamara, those who have talked with him many hours say, donned his convict garb a devoted admirer of life's little simple kindly deeds and a firm believer in the psychological efficiency of dynamite. James B. habitually believes a good deal as his brother believes. For themselves, the men would say nothing at all.

Whirled from Los Angeles on a fast night train, the men were taken from it at Port Costa at sunrise Sunday, put on a little river steamer and landed two hours and a half later at San Quentin prison wharf on the shores of San Pablo bay. The shackles which bound them together on the boat trip were slipped off and they toiled up the prison hill beside Sheriff William A. Hammill of Los Angeles county.

As the prison clock struck 10, John J. McNamara, preceded by Warden John Hoyle, stepped over the threshold of the jail door, with his brother directly behind him.

In five minutes James B. McNamara had become convict 25,314 and John J. McNamara was number 25,315. They were measured for jail clothing, photographed in two positions, given a carbolic tinctured bath, put into stripes, shaved and cropped and re-photographed within an hour and turned over to John Murray, lieutenant of the guard, who took them to cell No. 18 in a stone tier looking out over the prisoners' "upper yard," a great flower garden.

Cell No. 18 adjoins the tier of cells where condemned murderers are kept and the balcony outside is cut off by a little gate.

Further down the row, toward the other end, is the cell of Abraham Ruef, who is serving a fourteen-year sentence for bribery in connection with the so-called San Francisco graft cases. Ruef is in cell No. 3. Cell No. 11 of the tier is Henry Dalton, for seventeen years assessor of Alameda county and recently convicted of accepting a bribe offered, according to the evidence, by a public service corporation at Dalton's solicitation.

SOME CRUEL AND UNUSUAL

Double Penalty Threatened for Those Who Dared to Interfere With the Wires.

Rotorua has been laughing over the wording of a notice that has been placed by the public works department on some of the electric wire posts on the road to Okere, in New Zealand.

Some time ago a Maori youth, who seemed to have a misguided taste for experimenting, threw a long piece of cable over the electric wires that run to Rotorua from the power station at the Okere falls.

The town was at once plunged in darkness for two or three hours until the mischief had been located.

The dusky and youthful experimenter was carted in the court and fined for his scientific enthusiasm, and the department put up this notice: "Any persons climbing the electric light poles or damaging the insulators are liable to a fatal shock and a penalty of £10."—The Bits.

Not for Earthly Ears.

Doctor Reed, a minister, was opening the Sunday morning service at his church with the usual prayer. While he was in the midst of it a stranger entered the church and took a seat far back.

Doctor Reed was praying in a low note, and the man in the rear, after straining his ears for a while, called out: "Fray louder, Doctor Reed. I can't hear you."

Doctor Reed paused, opened his eyes and turned them around until they rested on the man in the rear. Then he said: "I was not addressing you, sir; I was speaking to God."—London Watchdog.
