

WILD HOPI INDIANS

Transformation at the Carlisle School for Savages.

Red Men Captured by Regulars Have Become Civilized—World's Best Long Distance Runner is Among Them.

Carlisle, Pa.—That a misunderstanding of the white man's motives has been one of the causes of the Indian backwardness in adopting civilized methods and of his fighting education is being demonstrated here at the government Indian school, where 12 members of the Hopi nation, sun-worshippers and pagans, who came here five years ago virtually as prisoners of war, are now preparing to go back to their people and spread the doctrine of the new life, which they have gladly accepted.

A half-dozen years ago the Hopi nation was causing considerable trouble in Arizona. Intermine strife had divided the tribes and a troop of United States cavalry was sent post haste to the Keams' canyon region to restore peace. After post-war and conference, in which the Indian leaders sternly refused to adopt the white man's education, twelve of the most obstinate "stand-patters" were taken as prisoners and sent from the Mohave agency, in Arizona, to the Carlisle Indian school. The party arrived here January 26, 1907. All of these Indians were members of the Oraibi band of the Hopi nation. Among them were several priests and head men of the tribe.

When these savages arrived at the Carlisle school they would have nothing to do with any of the other students, and began to live their lives apart. In less than ten days one of the Hopis indicated by gestures that he would like to have his hair cut like the other students, and on the same day another Hopi was discovered slipping off his own locks with a hunting knife.

From the moment the Hopis showed their first interest in education they advanced rapidly and became eager in their desire to learn more. They entered the lowest grades in the class rooms, but as they were attentive to their studies, were kindly disposed to their teachers, and caused not the slightest trouble, they climbed steadily to the top of their classes. All were assigned to devote some portion of their time to vocational training, some entering the blacksmith shop or carpenter shops, and Lewis Tewanina, the crack marathon runner, is developing into an expert tailor.

When these Hopi boys return home this summer they will be leaders among their people and fight for both education and righteousness. Now all speak English, all read and write; they are courteous and are gentlemen. They have kept in continual touch with their people, and already their influence has been noticeable in the Hopi country.

Lewis Tewanina, one of these same savages five years ago, is today the greatest long-distance runner in the world, and two years ago, while representing America at the Olympic games in Paris, won the main Marathon event. He will represent this country at the next Olympic games.

Washington Talyumpewa has also achieved a national reputation as a long-distance runner.

HAS AIR SPEED INDICATOR

Capt. W. I. Chambers Perfects a New Device for Use On Aeroplanes.

New York—According to reports received by the Astronomical society from Capt. Washington Irving Chambers, head of the astronomical department of the navy, the navy flyers are perfecting a speed indicator for use on aeroplanes. Besides showing the speed at which the machine is traveling, it indicates the quantity of fuel being consumed and whether the flight is normal or abnormal. Captain Chambers is also perfecting a compass for air use.

SHAKESPEARE, NAPOLEON—AND TY COBB

Artist Cesare Views Ty Cobb.

Residents of Royston, Ga., say this world has produced three great men: Shakespeare, Napoleon—and Ty Cobb. The bearded bard of Avon may have written a few plays that now give employment to Julia Marlowe and E. H. Sothern, but what did he know about the fall-away slide? The bow-legged little man who always wore his hat crossways may have won a war or two, but what sort of batting average did he have?

But speaking of real men whose names will go resounding, reverberating and re-echoing down the corridors of time, there is Mr. Ty Cobb. Cobb who was born right in this town, sir! Picture cards showing his birthplace, the first great he ever drove to a Proctor & Gamble soap-box wagon, and of his shaking hands with the president, three for five. The rubberneck wagon starts for Ty Cobb's old home in one minute—all aboard—seats a dollar! Yes, sir, right in that corner room 25 years ago last month. Yes, I used to go to school with him, and we used to the frogs in the girls' desks and he calls me Pud to this day!

The first word he ever gurgled was "Ball-ball," and before he could crawl the length of the room he would sit by the hour and suck the leather buckle of a felder's glove. He was batting something over 200 before he knew who Santa Claus really was, and by the day he had cut his milk teeth he had shaken his fist at two empires and had spit at the coacher for the opposing team.

He was brought up on his grandfather's plantation, and when he would work he was one of the fastest cotton pickers in all the country, but it usually took his grandfather and two able bodied overseers to make him work.

His baseball experience began with

WILLIE KEELER COMES BACK

One of the Greatest Baseball Players of His Time Has Signed for Third Time With Brooklyn.

This is the third time Willie Keeler has tied up with Brooklyn. In his day Keeler was one of the greatest ball players that ever stepped on the diamond. He led the league in batting, rarely struck out and in a game in Baltimore stretched a single to left field into a home run. Keeler played on the pennant winning Baltimore Orioles and then went to Brooklyn, where he helped win a pennant. In 1902 he jumped to the New York Yankees and played with them for several years.

ATHLETICS GOOD TEAM FOR PLAYERS TO START FROM

Philadelphia will play a most important part in shaping the American league race this year. No city in the country has been drawn upon for so much high class baseball talent as will be found in the Johnson circuit during the 1912 campaign as Philadelphia. Three managers and three cities who might be called "assistant managers" have been secured from Philly to help pilot teams. The list reads:

Athletics—Connie Mack, manager.
New York—Harry W.erton manager.
Cleveland—Harry Davis manager.
St. Louis—Monte Cross, assistant to Manager Wallace.
Detroit—Joe Sugar, assistant to Manager Jennings.
Chicago—"Kid" Gleason, assistant to Manager Callahan.

his being shortstop for the Royston Midgets at the age of eight, and with the exception of one day during the summer of 1909 when he had an attack of biliousness, he has been in the prize automobile business ever since. His vocation is baseball, but his avocation is winning prize automobiles.

He was married in 1930, and has one son who can already converse in four baseball dialects and talk back to the umpire in words of three syllables.

Ty has flavan hair and was named Tyrus by a maiden aunt who had had dyspepsia all her life. His middle name is Raymond, but when he is sitting in the half light with his back to the window you could never tell it.

He is the master of the slide, being able to coast in between the ankles of a knock-kneed man and never get touched. He could take a run from the dining room of a European plan hotel in Rogers, Ark., and slide through the trellis work on the front porch without getting touched or barking his shoulders. He never gets hurt. If he went into the aviation business or became an auto racer he would still live to be as old as Shem, who carpentered on the ark for Noah at a hundred and twenty years. Ty needing only a package of court plaster or so every decade. In coming down in an aeroplane he would always hop out at the fourth floor, come in on the hook slide and his hip, and then get up as sound as a simoleon to see if the umpire had called him safe.

In winter time the Empire State Express of baseball lives in Augusta. He sells automobiles and talks about the new baseball phenom he has discovered—Tyrus, Jr.

WINK COSTS HIM JOB

How "Lefty" George Lost Out With Manager Wallace.

Leader of St. Louis Browns Weighed of Those Eyes That "Just Couldn't Behave," and Traded Pitcher to Cleveland.

Lefty George, who cross fires with the left fin, winked himself out of a job with Manager Wallace of the Browns.

That's the whole, unadorned truth, hot off the bat from Manager Wallace, and sworn to and attested by Doc Lawler, who ministers unto the sick and wounded in the Browns' camp.

George, everybody will remember, was recently traded to the Naps for George Stovall, ex-manager, who says about 90 per cent pure as a first sacker. When this trade was pulled by Colonel Heddes, a howl went up from Kennelburg, Me., to Frisco, Cal. "Cleveland gold-bricked again," shouted the calamity howlers.

Well, there are two persons who think that Cleveland got an even break in this deal. Those two are Manager Harry Davis and Owner Charles Somers of the Naps, the men who engineered the trade, aided and abetted by Col. Robert L. Hodges, who is foolish like a little red fox. Everybody else in this land figured that Cleveland crawled out the short of the down in that deal.

"How did you slip that one over on Davis?" Wallace was asked.

"I didn't slip anything over on Davis," snapped Wallace. "Why, do you know I still would have George if he hadn't been winking at me all season?"

Somebody gave the manager the equine guinea. Then Doc Lawler came to Wallace's rescue.

"What Wallace says is the gospel truth," quoth Lawler. "Lefty was the world's champion winker. He could give the cutest, most knowing little wink with either lamp, and before the season was over we voted him first honors in the world's open winking tournament."

"I'll never forget a day in Boston," chirped Wallace, unwilling to let Lawler tell his story. "I sent George in to pitch and told him for the love of his wife and child and his future in the profession to uncork a good game. He snuggled until the fifth inning. Then he inaugurated his famous 'walk' talk. He filled the bases on passes. I chased out on the diamond and Lefty stopped me with that wink one of those long, deliberate, total-eclipse winks. He had me hypnotized for a minute. Finally he walked the fourth man, forcing home a run."

"I started out on the diamond again, and Lefty came through with another joy-a-minute-Bob-I'll-get-him-this-time wink."

"I snatched the ball from him and told him to get in to the bench and wink at Lawler. He did, and Lawler hasn't won a game of Kelley pool since; neither has Lefty pitched for the Browns."

"As a winker, Lefty has it on Christy Mathewson like Jack Johnson lays it over Kid Peppers; as a pitcher—well, he's with Cleveland now."

New England League Schedule.

The playing schedule for the New England league as announced calls for the opening of the season on April 19 with two games for all clubs except Haverhill and Worcester, the Braintree team meeting Lynn, Fall River meeting New Bedford, Lawrence meeting Lowell in morning and afternoon games alternating and Haverhill playing one game at Worcester. The season closes September 7.

Hartzell as Run Producer.

Roy Hartzell of the Yanks is and will be for some time in a class by himself as a run producer on account of a little stunt which he pulled off in a game against the Browns July 12 when, single handed, he biffed an octet of runners across the pan. A feat which may be put in the next best class was a pinch hit by Lajoie, a double off Baker of Chicago, on July 1, which sent three tallies over and won the game, 5 to 2.

Hard on Old-Timers.

Robby Wallace says that the present-day ball players can not stand any nearer as much work as the old-timers who played when he broke in to the game. Every player nowadays that has a scratch has to lay off for days, but in the old times men were known to play even with broken fingers and spiked feet.

OPTIMISM A NATURAL TRAIT

Prospector Can Not Help but See Millions in Lode Which Necessity Makes Him Sell.

Mark Twain once defined a mine as "a hole in the ground owned by a liar." The genial humorist was for once guilty of a harsh judgment. The owner of a promising prospect, who is willing to sell it only because he lacks the capital requisite for its development, is not necessarily a liar. He is only an optimist. He does not mean to deceive anybody. He believes in the value of his property and describes it as he sees it. "Is that copper lode permanent?" said the representative of an eastern syndicate to the grizzled prospector who was trying to sell his claim. "Permanent" was the reply; "well I should smile. If you had Niagara for a water power, and the State of Arizona for a dumping ground, and hell for a smelter, you couldn't work that ledge out in a million years."

"ECZEMA ITCHED SO BADLY I COULDN'T STAND IT."

"I suffered with eczema on my neck for about six months, beginning by little pimples breaking out. I kept scratching till the blood came. It kept getting worse. I couldn't sleep nights any more. It kept itching for about a month, then I went to a doctor and got some liquid to take. It seemed as if I was going to get better. The itching stopped for about three days, but when it started again, was even worse than before. The eczema itched so badly I couldn't stand it any more. I went to a doctor and he gave me some medicine, but didn't do any good. We have been having Cuticura Remedies in the house, so I decided to try them. I had been using Cuticura Soap, so I got me a box of Cuticura Ointment, and washed off the affected part with Cuticura Soap three times a day, and then put the Cuticura Ointment on. The first day I put it on, it relieved me of itching so I could sleep all that night. It took about a week, then I could see the scab come off. I kept the treatment up for three weeks, and my eczema was cured."

My brother got his face burned with gun-powder, and he used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. The people all thought he would have scars, but you can see that he never had his face burned. It was simply awful to look at before the Cuticura Remedies (Soap and Ointment) cured it. (Signed) Miss Elizabeth Gehrl, Forest City, Ark., Oct. 16, 1910. Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere, a sample of each, with 32-page book, will be mailed free on application to "Cuticura," Dept. L, Boston.

Cursory.

A huntsman called on Hodge to settle for damage done by a run to hounds, and found only Mrs. Hodge at home.

"Has your husband," he inquired, "made an examination yet?"

"That he have, sir," replied Mrs. Hodge, with a courtesy.

"Rather a cursory examination, I suspect."

"Oh, dear, sir! Such language I never breed!—never!" And the good woman held up her hands at the bare recollection.—Judge.

Sad Case.

"I hear your husband has lost his public job."

"Yes."

"What does he expect to do now?"

"Well, he told me this morning that unless he could get reinstated pretty soon he would have to go to work somewhere."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Baking Economy.

By the use of perfect baking powder the housewife can derive as much economy as from any other article used in baking and cooking. In selecting a baking powder, therefore, care should be exercised to purchase one that retains its original strength and always remains the same, thus making the food sweet and wholesome and producing sufficient leavening gas to make the baking light. Very little of this leavening gas is produced by the cheap baking powders, making it necessary to use double the quantity ordinarily required to secure good results.

You cannot experiment every time you make a cake or biscuits, or test the strength of your baking powder to find out how much of it you should use. Get with most baking powders you should do this, for they are put together so carelessly they are never uniform, the quality and strength varying with each can purchased.

Calumet Baking Powder is made of chemically pure ingredients of tested strength. Experienced chemists put 2 1/2 cups of Calumet Baking Powder in a tin. The proportions of the different materials remain always the same. Sealed in airtight cans, both SATISFACTION and GUARANTEE are not altered in strength and is not affected by atmospheric changes.

In using Calumet you are bound to have uniform bread, cake or biscuits, as Calumet does not contain any cheap, useless or adulterating ingredients so commonly used to increase the weight. Further, it produces pure, wholesome food and is a baking powder of rare merit; therefore is recommended by leading physicians and chemists. It complies with all the pure food laws, both STATE and NATIONAL. The goods are moderate in price, and any lady purchasing Calumet from her grocer, if not satisfied with it, can return it and have her money refunded.

When to Call the Doctor.

When to summon the doctor is a point which has probably puzzled most people at one time or another, but in the case of throat and intestinal troubles there should be no uncertainty, says a medical authority. The doctor should be summoned at once, for the sore throat may be diphtheria, and the intestinal symptoms may mean peritonitis, appendicitis or any one of a dozen complaints of serious character. Valuable time and the golden opportunity may be wasted by waiting for symptoms that are severe enough to justify calling the doctor.
