A cablegram from London says the Countess of Stradbrooke, whose death has just taken place in that country, was the peeress who was the cause of the arrest of Edmund Yates, the Anglo-American journalist who was the proprietor and editor of the London World. It was on her account that he was convicted of criminal libel and sentenced to a year's imprisonment. Yates would have escaped the penalty by giving the name of the writer of the libelous paragraph. This

The libel in question was to the effect that Lord Lonsdale, then, as now, a married man, had eloped from the hunting field with an unmarried girl, Lady Grace Fane, now Countess of Londosborough. It was a paragraph for which there was not a shadow of foundation and which originated in the lively imagination of the countess. The Countess was Miss Helena Fraser, daughter of General Keith Fraser of the British army, and was married to the Earl of Stradbrooke in July, 1898.

OVER THE FALLS IN A BOAT.

Mrs. Anna Edson Taylor, a dancing teacher, has demonstrated that a person may dance over the great horseshoe fall in Niagara in a barrel and come out alive. But the proof she has given has a very limited scope. People who would not have believed that the feat she performed was possible still have reason enough to think that the chances are overwhelmingly against the barrel experts and not worth taking on the promise of dime museum profits.

THE MISSION OF MR. REDMOND.

John E. Redmond, member of the British Parliament, has come to the United States, it is said, in quest of funds to defray the expenses of the Irish parliamentary party, who, under the British constitution, are not paid for their services to the empire. The American people have always been in hearty sympathy with Ireland's aspirations for home rule, and, although the feeling of prejudice against Great Britain that once prevailed has abated, there is still among all Americans a kindly feeling toward the land from which we have derived so much that is most valuable in our citizenship, and which was so long the victim of rank injustice at the hands of its stronger neighbor. But the Ireland of today is not the Ireland of forty or fifty years ago; if it were Mr. Redmond would be more likely to be now occupying a cell in Kilmainham than in first class American hotels. The time has probably gone by when the Irish in America could be induced to give up their money to promote illusionary schemes of revolution. There are heavy enough drains upon their liberality without contributing to the support of professional conspirators, who exploit the trusting patriotism of their countrymen for their own emolument. It is because Mr. Redmond is not the man of that class that he will receive a hearty welcome to the United States.-Brooklyn Times.

THE LIVE STOCK MARKET.

Latest Quotations From South Omaho and Kansas City.

SOUTH OMAHA. Cattle-There was a very fair run of cattle, but there were apparently none too many to meet the demand. A noticeable feature of the trade was the active demand for the good to choice grades, while buyers were rather indifferent when it come to the common stuff. This was true both of killers and feeders. There were not many corn-fed steers on sale today, but there were some good enough to sell as high as $6.15. Cows and heifers were quite plentiful in the yards banks of the state is 10 per cent, and there seemed to be more or less unwhich makes a total in these institu- evenness in the prices paid. The good to choice heavyweight cows and heifers met with the best demand and fully steady prices were paid. The medlum kinds, however, sold uneven. Veal calves and stags sold at just about steady prices. Bulls were in better demand this morning than they have been of late, and both feeder buyers and packers paid stronger prices. Good heavyweight feeders and at all anxious for the less desirable grades. Western range beef steers, of which very few were offered, sold steady where the quality was at all good. Range cows of desirable quality also brought steady prices, but other kinds were a little slow and weak. Choice yearlings and heavy feeders could also be quoted fully steady, but others were neglected and hard to move.

Hogs-There was a generous run of hogs, and as other markets were all quoted lower, packers at this point started in from the beginning to pound prices here. The first bids were 50712c lower, but most of the hogs finally sold only a big nickel lower. The bulk sold from $5.65 to $5.70, with the long string at $5.6712. The first hogs sold mostly at $5.67%, but they were the better loads. Later on packers would not give over $5.65, but finally the market strengthened up a little and the close was more active. Judge Deuel of the Essex Market police court in New York is not only a wise but a closely observing magistrate. When Morris Morgalstein, escorting Rebecca Gross, appeared before him and declared his wish to marry her because she could cook such "a lofely dinner," the judge consented promptly, and added, "Good cooking will sometimes reach a man's heart when poetry and sentiment won't. Old maids might grasp at this as a straw, but all women ought to know it." Of course they should and most of them do, though they are usually a long time finding it out. Morris and Rebecca will enter upon the holy state of matrimony not looking "through a glass darkly," but seeing each other

They will begin wedded life upon a secure foundation, and so long as Rebecca's hand retains its culinary cunning Morris will be a devoted husband and she will be a happy wife.
