

Mrs. Sophie Binns, President Young People's Christian Temperance Union, Fruitvale, Cal., Cured of Congestion and Inflammation of the Ovaries by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"Dear Mrs. PINKHAM:—Eighteen months ago I was a pretty sick woman. I had felt for some months that I gradually grew weaker, but finally I had such severe pains I could hardly stand it. I had taken cold during menstruation and this developed into congestion of the ovaries and inflammation, and I could not bear to walk or stand on my feet. The doctor recommended an operation which I would not hear of. One of my friends advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, so I gave it a trial. Can you imagine my feeling when within two months I felt considerably better, my general health was improved, and my pains had entirely disappeared. I kept taking it six weeks more and am now enjoying the best of health, thanks to you. Yours truly, MRS. SOPHIE BINNS."

Slav Peasants Bathe in the Sacred Waters of the Jordan

The traveler in the Holy Land will witness few sights which will interest him more than that of the Russian pilgrims at the annual Epiphany ceremonies on the banks of the River Jordan.

A week before the festival itself crowds of these Slav peasants are seen trudging along the Jericho road, with every imaginable kind of haversack and carry-all on their backs. Some of the pilgrims are old and weather-worn, others young and cheerful, while a few, overcome by sleep and fatigue, are lying prone along the roadside. But somehow the whole lot, young and old, manage to reach the banks of the river in good time for the ceremony. They spend the night, perhaps, in the Russian hospice at Jericho, where they simply huddle together like a flock of sheep. Before dawn the rooms are empty, and the whole crowd has gathered on the bank, where Greek priests, who will presently drive a most lucrative trade await them.

The principal articles sold are branches of trees from various sacred spots, stones from the Mountain of Temptation hard by, plants from the wilderness and rosaries with olive stones for beads. To whatever religious value is claimed for these articles the Russian peasants implicitly give credence, and they willingly pay their money to obtain them.

During the hours immediately preceding the ceremony the motley crowd is occupied in prayer and silent devotion. To many pilgrims this occasion is one of the greatest life can bring—namely, to be permitted not only to visit the Jordan, but actually to bathe in its sacred waters. Suddenly chanting is heard, and the crowd quickly opens to let a procession of purple-clad ecclesiastics pass to the water, then the pilgrims close in again, and station themselves along the banks, eager and watchful. And now, quite reverently, a jeweled cross is laid by the patriarch on the surface of the stream to bless it, and no sooner does the sacred symbol touch the water than a dive is made into it by the enthusiastic crowd, which splashes and prays and wallows and dips—altogether a strange scene.

Such is the baptism, and the longer it lasts the greater the merit the pilgrim will enjoy. All dripping with water, each shroud is now wrung out and stowed away to serve as the cerecloth when the pilgrimage of life is over, and the body is ready for the grave. As the traveler rides away the next day to Jerusalem, he will see these childlike peasants, bedraggled with mud, and fatigued by constant sleeplessness, plodding along toward the Holy City, chanting and singing as they go, and leaning on their sticks of reed. But there is now a smile on their faces, and joy in their hearts, for have they not bathed in the waters of the Jordan?—London Traveler.

Story of the Killing of the Last Big Buffalo Bull

The following account of the killing of the last big buffalo bull appears in the Macleod Gazette in the form of a letter signed "Wyoming Bill":

Early in November, 1887, John Nolan and other half-breeds were near the forks of the Red Deer and South Saskatchewan when they came across a bunch of eleven buffalo, one of the bunch being a very large bull.

They killed the big bull, two cows and a calf and brought them into Swift Current. J. Grant got the head of the bull and Curry Bros. got the two cows' heads and hide and the calf. No doubt afterward the half-breeds cleaned out the rest of the bunch, for they were never heard of again.

Hine of Winnipeg mounted the bull's head and in 1893 it was loaned to the World's Fair at Chicago, where it was much admired.

It is still in the hands of John Grant, taxidermist, of Red Deer, Alberta, and any person passing through Red Deer would do well to go and see the head, it being one of the largest and handsomest I ever saw, and I believe the last buffalo killed in the territories.

"Truth is stranger than fiction" because it doesn't happen so often.

Old Scout Tells of the Disappearance of the Game in the West.

One of the other heads is in the possession of Dr. George of Innisfail, who is much interested in natural history.

The country lying between the South Saskatchewan and the Cypress hills and Old Wives creek and lakes and the Vermilion hills was famous for buffalo and even now the old buffalo trails and wallows are to be seen from Moose Jaw to Medicine Hat.

But most of the game, both hair and feathers, is gone now. The last time I crossed the plains from the Red river to Rocky mountains overland some of the favorite resorts of water fowl and wading birds were nearly deserted. Rush lake, once the breeding place of many kinds of water fowl—pelicans, geese and ducks, besides small birds—was half dry and only a few ducks there.

Other lakes were the same, but along some of the streams north of the Cypress hills, especially Pi-a-Pot creek, there were quite a few prairie wolves, foxes and badgers and antelope on the middle plains.

Kill Superfluous Girls

Hindus of High Rank Thus Rid Themselves of Their Daughters.

A Capuchin monk engaged in missionary work in Nepal, writing of Hindu family life, remarks that it is very difficult for parents to make advantageous matches for their daughters. The Hindus therefore find a means of ridding themselves of too many daughters by murdering them. It is a well known fact that Hindus, of high birth, those who are called Rajputs, caused their daughters to be put to death after their birth by men specially engaged to do so. This criminal custom had become so universal that in 1840 in the seventy-three villages of the Allahabad district there were only three girls under 12 years of age, and three years later in the town of Agra there was not one to be found under that age. All had been put to death, says the London Pall Mall Gazette.

The English government has very naturally passed very severe laws against this abominable crime, but to evade them the Hindus allow their girls to live until the age of 12, after which they do away with them by administering poison in small doses.

WASHINGTON'S SIX-IN-HAND.

His Fourteen Miles of Driving in Manhattan.

George Washington, when he was President of the United States, rode in a coach drawn by six horses. This coach was made in England and it arrived in New York in 1789. The body and wheels were of a cream color, with gilt relief, and part of the sides and fronts were shaded by green Venetian blinds. Upon each of the four panels was a picture emblematic of one of the four seasons. The original Indian name of New York was Manhattan. In January, 1785, Congress met in Federal Hall, at the corner of Wall and Nassau streets, and this city was the national capital for five years, says the Brooklyn Eagle.

Washington was here inaugurated as President April 30, 1789. Manhattan Island then presented one of the most beautiful drives in the world and Washington frequently made the fourteen-mile circuit in his coach. This drive led up to what is now the Bowery and Third avenue, then called the

A Noted Knight Templar Owes His Health to Peruna.

Colonel T. P. Moody, a prominent Knight Templar, is well known in every city in the United States west of Buffalo, N. Y., as a Jeweler's Auctioneer. In the city of Chicago as a prominent lodge man, being a member of the K. T.'s and also of the Masons. The cut shows Colonel Moody in the costume of the Oriental Consistory Masons, 32nd degree.

In a recent letter from 5900 Michigan avenue, Chicago, Ill., Mr. Moody says the following:

"For over twenty-five years I suffered from catarrh, and for over ten years I suffered from catarrh of the stomach terribly.

"I have taken all kinds of medicines and have been treated by all kinds of doctors, as thousands of my acquaintances are aware in different parts of the United States, where I have traveled, but my relief was only temporary, until a little over a year ago I started to take Peruna, and at the present time I am better than I have been for twenty years.

"The soreness has left my stomach entirely and I am free from indigestion and dyspepsia and will say to all who are troubled with catarrh or stomach trouble of any kind, don't put it off and suffer, but begin to take Peruna right away, and keep it up until you are cured, as you surely will be if you persevere.

"My wife, as many in the southwest can say, was troubled with a bad cough and bronchial trouble, and doctors all over the country gave her up to die, as they could do nothing more for her. She began taking Peruna with the result that she is better now than she has been in years, and her cough has almost left her entirely. The soreness has left her lungs and she is as well as she ever was in her life, with thanks, as she says, to Peruna. Yours very truly, T. P. Moody.

Catarrh in its various forms is rapidly becoming a general curse. An unthought remedy has been discovered by Dr. Hartman. This remedy has been thoroughly tested during the past forty years. Prominent men have come to know of its virtues, and are making public utterances on the subject. To save the people we must protect them from disease. The disease that is at once the most prevalent and stubborn of cure is catarrh.

If one were to make a list of the different names that have been applied to catarrh in different locations and organs, the result would be astonishing. We have often published a partial list of these names, and the surprise caused by the first publication of it to all people, both professional and non-professional, was amusing. And yet we have never enumerated all of the diseases which are classed as catarrh. It must be confessed, however, to see even this partial list drawn up in Lattin array is rather appalling. If the reader desires to see this list, together with a short exposition of each one, send for our free catarrh book. Address The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, Ohio.
