GEO. E. HORTCHINS,
Twp. Committeeman Loup City Twp.

HON. JOHN H. MICKEY.

It is due our readers to give, at this opportune time, a brief sketch of the life and work of Hon. John H. Mickey, Republican candidate for Governor of Nebraska, and so we re-produce the follow compliments paid to him by the press of the state:

John Hopwood Mickey was born six miles southwest of Burlington, Iowa, Sept. 30, 1845. His father was Oliver Perry Mickey, who located in the state in 1836, and his mother was Betsy Ann Davison, a woman of English extraction. When John Hopwood was two years old the family moved to Louisa county, Iowa, and there, save the two years he served in the army, he lived until 1868. In 1893 he enlisted in Company D, Eighth Iowa, cavalry, and served until August, 1865, when at the close of the war, he was mustered out under general orders. During the later part of 1863 his regiment was in eastern Tennessee, engaged in discouraging guerrilla depredations, and in the spring of 1864 it joined Sherman at Chattanooga thenceforth was in the Sherman campaign until after the surrender at Atlanta. In the McCook raid near Atlanta, 300 of the Eighth Iowa cavalry were taken prisoners and consigned to Andersonville, the remainder went to Nashville to be remounted and were in the campaign between Hoed and Thomas from Florence, Tenn., to Nashville and return.

Later the Eighth Iowa took part in the battles of Franklin, Nashville and in the spring of '65 in the Wilson raid. It was near Macon, Ga., when the war closed. Mr. Mickey then returned to Louisa county, where for two years he attended school at the Wesleyan college at Mount Pleasant, and followed this with years of school teaching.

September 10, 1867, he was married to Miss Morinda McCray of Des Moines county Iowa. The following year, which was his last in Iowa, he put in teaching and farming.

One year after his marriage he loaded his effects onto a prairie schooner and set out for Polk county, Nebraska, where, September 3, he filed on a homestead on the banks of the Blue river. His was the first homestead entry made in the Lincoln land office, and at that time there was only one family living in Polk county. Other claims had been taken, but no one was living on them.

Polk county was organized in 1870, and Mr. Mickey was elected the first county treasurer an office he held for almost ten years.

In November, 1880, he was elected to the legislature, and served one term. During this time he was something of a leader in the lower house.

The first bank in Polk county was opened by Mr. Mickey in May 1879, and this is still in existence as "The Osceola Bank." It was launched with a capital stock of $5000 and now has a paid up capital of $37,520. He has retained the presidency of it to the present time, and his oldest son Oliver E. Mickey is its cashier.

By far the greater part of Mr. Mickey's property is in landed interests. His home place, is a mile south of Osceola, includes 240 acres, and besides this he has about 2000 acres of improved land in various parts of the county. He is interested also in thoroughbred Shorthorn cattle, and has a herd of 100 head.

As a member of the Methodist Episcopal church Mr. Mickey is a pillar in the broadest sense of the term. He has twice been elected a delegate to the general conference of that denomination and once to the ecumenical conference at London. He has been a member since his early boyhood. The Methodist Episcopal church at Osceola, where he is superintendent of the Sunday school and trustee, is made to conform to as strict business lines as does his bank.

Because of his well known interest in educational matters, he has been elected as president of the board of trustees of the Nebraska Wesleyan university at University Place, a suburb of Lincoln.

Mr. Mickey is a self made man in all that term implies, and is a "captain of industry" in the broadest sense. His neighbors say of him that if he is elected governor he will "be the governor."

Mr. H. M. Mathew had received a letter from the stenographer or some inmate of the law office of Mr. Geistheart of Lincoln, stating that Mr. Geistheart was abroad but that she or he, whoever it may be, was unable to find anything by perusing the correspondence on file in the office that would indicate that he (Mathew) was employed to look after the bond holders' interests in the irrigation bond case, more than to present the facts to the supervisors and give them to understand that it was a levy or mandamus, and it further states that "it must be one or the other."

A BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Quite a social event occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Hunter on Tuesday afternoon, the 5th inst. when quite a number of elderly ladies of the town gathered to celebrate Grandma Smith's 88 birthday anniversary. There were thirteen plates laid for the invited guests. Mrs. Hunter was assisted by Mrs. Clemma Conger. Many regrets were expressed when it was found that four of the invited guests were absent. Those present gave a brief history of their age and place of birth: Mrs. Smith, age 88 was born in Mass.; Mrs. C. Long, age 83, born in Ohio; Mrs. M. B. Moon, age 83, born in Ohio; Mrs. Marie Tubbsing, age 80, born in Germany; Mrs. Harriett Beck, age 86, born in Penn.; Mrs. S. A. Gibson, age 71, born in Penn.; Mrs. E. E. Benschoter, age 63, born in N. Y.; Mrs. J. W. Waite, age 67, born in England; Mrs. A. Gilbert, age 65, was born in N. Y.; Those that were absent as well as those present remembered Mrs. Smith with a token of esteem Handsome bouquets of flowers were brought which served to make the occasion more cheerful. The table was spread with white and decorated with tins sprigs of asparagus and bright flowers. The dinner consisted of vegetables and fruits with the usual birthday cake, and served in the fashion of long ago. The ladies appeared very cheerful throughout the evening and each one as they said their goodby, declared they had enjoyed the afternoon.
