LOCAL NEWS.

—See E. G. Taylor for coal.

—August Jeskie went up to the county seat yesterday on a business trip.

—John Sectura is now canvassing in Ashton and vicinity with a self heating flat iron.

—The F. Jezewski saloon building is being repapered and repapered this week.

—E. G. Taylor will pay the highest market price for grain. See him and get his prices before selling.

—Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Rezonalski, Sr. had the misfortune to lose a child during child birth Monday last.

The Ashton Presbyterian church will be thoroughly repapered and painted throughout as soon as fair weather permits.

—County Surveyor, Corning was here a few days last week surveying a plat of land in E. G. Taylor's new addition to Ashton.

—John Jezewski is sowing blue grass and clover on his town residence lots, and otherwise beautifying the surroundings.

—The St. Lidor Society meeting was held at Chojyue last Tuesday, but owing to the rainy weather there was a small attendance.

—There is not being very much said or done regarding the building of a hall in Ashton, but we expect to see the enterprise pushed with a boom as soon as proper time is given.

—Our old friend, Dr. Kunze, of Fairbury, Neb., was here last Friday and Saturday on professional business. The doctor is now devoting his entire practice as eye and ear specialist.

—We are informed that there are a few cases of diptheria at Mr. Prenzels north of Ashton. One of Mr. Prenzels' children it reported to have succumbed to the dread disease Tuesday.

—Joseph Kwiatkowski bought out the Garstka stock of saloon fixtures and removed them to his own building last Sunday. He has secured a saloon license and is now open for business.

—The past week has been a hard one on the many chicken hatcheries about Ashton. Still the incubator hobbists of Ashton are not complaining but report fair hatches from their respective incubators.

—The incessant rains of the past week in this vicinity has made the roads to town almost impassable and if we do not have a week or two of dry weather corn planting will be delayed to a very large extent.

—Rev. Longstaff and family are now installed in their new home here, the Waslewski residence, which they have rented for a term of two years. The building has been replastered, repainted and repapered, and will have a coat of paint on the outside soon.

—There has not, as yet, been any call for a general strike among the Ashton labor unions, but it is expected that Ashton unions may imitate Omaha to the strike extent with the exception of calling out the postboard engineers and pitchers, who seem to be busy during the rainy season.

—We have had several persons in the past ask us to quote new in Ashton items for them, which items would have, in our judgement, created ill feelings among the parties whom the news concerned, the writer also, and last ye editor of Ashton News. So we must refrain from writing up any hear say stories on any one. If communications of general interest and signed by the writer are handed to us, we will send them along with our news, and the owner and editor of the paper will do with them as he sees fit.

A GREAT AMUSEMENT ENTERPRISE CONDUCTED ON A LARGE SCALE.

There is no branch of the amusement or show business that has made such strides in the past five years as the circus business. The four corners of the earth have been searched to find novelties for Howe's Great London Shows. This show not only plays the greatest number of acts both American and European, but the most expensive and important act brought to New York from all over the world come directly under contract to Mr. Howe in selecting acts for this great show. Mr. Howe has practically every act in the entire world from which to choose in making up the list of artists which would appear with Howe's Great London shows. How well he has chosen is proven by the furore this show has created in every large city and town it has shown in, and nothing more fully illustrates advance of this form of amusement than the appearance of Howe's Great London Shows and Sanger's Royal Menagerie. Will positively exhibit at Loup City May 21, rain or shine.

—If you need wall paper, room mouldings, curtains, carpets or anything in the line of interior decorations come and get my samples and prices on same. Pictures enlarged at half the usual prices.—J. F. SMITH.

THE EXPANSION OF RUSSIA.

Nothing Stops the Progress of the Giant of the North.

The progress of Russia is like the spreading of ink over blotting paper. There is no natural barrier in Persia to throw her back or head her off, such as the mountainous frontier of India. But the prospect of Russian absorption of Persia is not practical politics to-day. Neither is it practical politics nor healthy patriotism to hound on Great Britain to occupy, finance, protect or claim rights in every country which lies upon her road to India or Africa or America or the South Seas. Such a policy is merely suicidal. We can barely govern efficiently our present possessions. Fresh large responsibilities in Persia, in China and ultimately in Turkey would simply weigh us down to the gunwale and finally sink us.—London Chronicle.

FAD OF A FAMOUS JACKDAW.

Bird Took Trips on Buses and Gave His Foes a Tongue Lashing. The Brixton jackdaw, which was found dead recently in the bar of the Angell Arms at Brixton, London, was a great celebrity in his own way. All jackdaws have fads of their own, and the favorite fad of this particular bird was to travel all over London on omnibuses, trains and cabs. He was thoroughly well known to every 'busman in the Brixton district; he used to take his seat on a bus beside the driver, and would chatter most volubly till the journey to the city or elsewhere was accomplished, when he would fly back to his Brixton home. He was a bird of strong likes and dislikes, and when any of his master's customers failed to find favor in his sight he would assail them with the most embarrassing flow of language.

Kite-Flying Thief.

Jorgendro Chandra Das, a young man, flew a kite so as to get it entangled among chimney pots at Calcutta, India, and helped himself to the contents of upper chambers while climbing to recover it. Constables seized him while he hung from a window-sill and found his pockets full of booty.

Must Have Been Hot Stuff.

A New York surgeon cut a patient open, inserted a silver swallowing arrangement and gave him a drink of whisky all in twenty minutes. The next day that surgeon's office was besieged with men who had twenty minutes to spare and wanted to be similarly treated.

Minister Bowen's Wife.

Mrs. Bowen, wife of our minister to Venezuela, talks very entertainingly of the Venezuelans, whom she describes as models of domestic virtue. Many are also very beautiful, but they go out very little in public, being of Spanish descent. Mrs. Bowen, who is slight in figure and of girlish manners, was a Miss Clegg of Galveston, Tex. She is fond of pets, and among the unusual ones entertained at the legation in Caracas are several parrots, a fine peacock and some monkeys which are allowed to roam at will in the garden.

Cause for Thankfulness.

Senator Blackburn tells of a Kentuckian holding the office of trial justice in the Blue Grass state. His own son was brought before him on a charge of drunkenness and disorderly conduct. His honor listened gravely to the evidence, which established a clear case against the young man, and said: "The court will now render sentence. You're fined one cent and costs. The court will remit the costs, and you may go home and thank God that your father is the judge."

Mrs. Laura S. Webb, Vice-President Woman's Democratic Clubs of Northern Ohio.

"I dreaded the change of life which was fast approaching. I noticed Wine of Cardui, and decided to try a bottle. I experienced some relief the first month, so I kept on taking it for three months and now I menstruate with no pain and I shall take it off and on now until I have passed the climax."

Female weakness, disordered menses, falling of the womb and ovarian troubles do not wear off. They follow a woman to the change of life. Do not wait but take Wine of Cardui now and avoid the trouble. Wine of Cardui never fails to benefit a suffering woman of any age. Wine of Cardui relieved Mrs. Webb when she was in danger. When you come to the change of life Mrs. Webb's letter will mean more to you than it does now. But you may now avoid the suffering she endured. Druggists sell $1 bottles of Wine of Cardui.
