THE BODY FOUND.

MRS. CARL DEUSTERHOFF FOUND
DEAD IN A RAVINE THREE QUAR-TERS OF A MILE FROM THE HOUSE.

Inquest Held Friday And Verdict Given.

HUSBAND IS ARRESTED AND BOUND OVER.

Mrs. Carl Deusterhoff, who has been missing from her home in Logan township, Sherman county since last Saturday, was found dead in a ravine about three quarters of a mile from the Geo. Ware farm where she lived. Her shoes sat a few yards from her, side by side, and the body was lying on its back with hands raised to the breast.

Her husband is suspected of having killed her or, at least being the direct cause of her death, and has been arrested and lodged in jail. He was brought into county court last Monday before his honor, Judge Angier, for a preliminary hearing, but on motion of counsel for defense the case was adjourned to Thursday of this week. Attorneys A. Wall and Robt. P. Starr appeared as defendants counsel and J. S. Pedler, county attorney for the state.

The country has been searched by the authorities and neighboring residents since Monday of last week and not until Friday was the body found. A coronor's inquest was held over the remains Friday afternoon and a verdict of "death by exposure due to inclemency of the weather, due to an unbalanced mind caused by brutal treatment of her husband, Carl Deusterhoff."

The facts developed at the inquest according to Deusterhoff's own story were, that husband and wife had quarreled on Friday night and that he beat and choked her and knocked her down. When asked why he thus treated her said that it was because she did not put salt and grease in the potatoes. He further stated that after he had knocked her down she got up and afterwards milked one of the cows while he milked the other. The prisoner is a German and seems to be unable to talk or understand much English. His story was told to Sheriff Snyder who interpreted it to the jury. He further related that on Saturday morning early he left the house, and went to his brother-in-law, Mr. Graack's house to help thresh some grain and when he returned in the evening she was gone. Sunday forenoon he went to August Moll's farm house, then to Strankmann's and then to Graack's. Towards evening he went home, sat down by the table and went to sleep. When he awoke it was dark. On Monday he went over to Fred Jens and then came to Loup City and informed the county attorney, J. S. Pedler that his wife was missing.

Early Tuesday morning Mr. Pedler and Sheriff Snyder instituted a searching party and the neighborhood was searched far and near. On Wednesday the search was resumed but still no trace of her could be found. Then it was suspected that the husband was guilty of violent treatment and the cause of her disappearance, and from some statements that he made at that time there seemed to be just cause for his detention and he was arrested and held on a charge of assault and battery, awaiting further developments.

Thursday morning, the well, which is said to be 180 feet deep was examined, a young man from Loup City by the name of Dave Bolthum going clear to the bottom. But this examination also proved fruitless. Then on Friday morning many others joined in the search and after diligent work the body was found as above stated.

From all appearances the body had been lying for several days in the soaking rains and sweltering sun but still there was plainly the evidence about the head and throat of the punishment inflicted. It was removed to the house where Coroner Geo. W. Hunter conducted the inquest.

Yesterday Deusterhoff was again brought into the county court, the complaint having been changed, in substance, to a charge as follows:

"That one Carl Deusterhoff then and there, purposely, feloniously, and maliciously and of deliberate and premeditated malice, made an assault upon Lena Deusterhoff with intent to kill and murder."

The evidence given by witnesses, some of them jurymen at the inquest, was practically the same as above stated with the exception of that by Dr. Main who has since studied the nature of the wounds and stated that the one inflicted on the top of the head was liable to cause death.

The prisoner was bound over to the district court and the amount of bail fixed at $5,000.00

Manners of East New York.

A woman dropped her chateleine bag in a lower East Side street the other day. A nicely dressed young man started forward and stooped to pick it up. While he was in this defenseless position the woman brought down her umbrella on the back of his neck. A policeman rushed up, and the woman accused the gallant young man of attempted grand larceny. With great difficulty the young man succeeded in pacifying her and explaining to the policeman, who let him go with this reprimand: "Them manners don't go down here, young feller. Just keep yer hat on an' blow smoke in the ladies' faces an' you'll be all right."—New York Sun.

Death of Mrs. Maria Outhouse.

The death of Mrs. Maria Outhouse occurred at 11 o'clock Sunday night Aug. 13, 1903 at Loup City, Neb. Death was due to stomach trouble from which she had been afflicted since December of last year. She had been confined to her bed since July 1st. Excepting Wm. Housmann and Dr. Raymond, all of the children were at her bedside at the time of her death. She was conscious to the last. All of her children had visited her during the past few weeks.

The funeral took place from the residence of Dr. T. E. Alsop in this city at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The services were conducted by Rev. Cairns, rector of the Episcopal church, vocal music was furnished by several members of the choir of that church. Numerous and beautiful were the floral tributes on and around the casket. The interment was in the family lot in the Carlyle cemetery. The obsequies were largely attended.

Maria Gerdes was the third child of Bernard I. and Anna Gerdes. To them were born four children. Those surviving are Fredrick Gerdes, of San Jose, Cal., Anna, wife of H. G. Schroeder, of Carlyle, and B. I. Gerdes, of Huey. The subject of this sketch was born in Hanover, Germany, Dec. 3, 1834, therefore her age was 68 years, 8 months and 19 days. She came to this country with her parents, brothers and sisters in 1848, and located in Cumberland, Md. In 1850, they removed to Vandalia Ill. where the father started in the jewelry business. There the father and mother died.

She was united in marriage Aug. 29, 1852, to August Hausmann in Vandalia. They moved to a farm one and a quarter miles northeast of Huey. To them were born three children of whom Martha wife of C. E. Morton of Portland, Oregon and Wm. Hausmann of this city are yet living. One daughter, Annie, is dead. Mr. Hausmann died on the farm August 21, 1890.

The subject of this sketch was married a second time to Oliver Outhouse, one of the pioneer residents of Clement township Aug. 29, 1851. As a result of this union seven children were born. The surviving ones are A. B. and C. C. Outhouse of Loup City, Neb. Mrs. Dr. T. E. Alsop of this city and Dr. Raymond of St. Louis. To children, Robert and Nellie died in infancy; a son Waldo, F., died in this city in 1897. Mr. and Mrs. Outhouse made their home on the farm until 1880, when they removed to Huey, where the husband, with his son A. B., engaged in the merchandising business. His death occurred there Nov. 18, 1882. Mr. Outhouse came to Carlyle in 1894, and has since lived here, excepting during the past year, when she made her home in St. Louis with her son, Dr. Raymond. She is survived by six children and twelve grand children.

The deceased was a life long member of the German Evangelical church. She was a true Christian woman, a loving, indulgent wife and mother. She was noted for the interest manifested in her home and the taste displayed in making it pleasant and cheerful for her children. She was one of those rare good christian wives and mothers who always took a pride in the Christian training of her children, and who was never happier than when surrounded by the members of her family. In her the children could always rely on good wholesome counsel and advice. A friend of over forty years acquaintance pays this tribute: "I wish to impress upon her children and grand children her christian example always remembering the fact, that when in doubt as to what course to pursue, to ask, 'I wonder what Mother would do in a case like this?' I know what she would have done and that would have been as near right as possible. We extend our sympathy to the bereaved family."

Those present at the funeral from abroad were A. B. Outhouse, of Loup City, Neb.; Mrs. C. E. Morton, of Portland Ore.; Dr. R. O. Raymond, of St. Louis; B. I. Gerdes, of Huey; Charles B. Gerdes, Mrs. F. C. Smith, Miss Jessie McClelland, of East St. Louis; Dr. Sauer and Mrs. Dollie Love, of St. Louis; and Miss. Lyrd Alsop, of Vincennes.—The Union Banner, (Carlyle Illinois.)
