

CATARRH DESTROYS THE KIDNEYS

Was Miserable---Could Not Stand Up or Walk--- Pe-ru-na Cured.

Many Persons Have
Catarrh and Don't Know it.

Mr. James M. Powell, 633 Troost street, Kansas City, Mo., Vice Grand of I. O.
O. F., of Cherryville, Kans., writes:

"About four years ago I suffered with a severe catarrh of the bladder, which caused continued irritation and pain. I was miserable and could not stand up or walk for any length of time without extreme weariness and pain. I began taking Peruna and it greatly relieved me, and in eleven weeks I was completely cured and felt like a new man."—James M.
Powell.

Hundreds of Dollars Spent in Vain.

Mr. Cyrus Hershman,
Sheridan, Ind., writes:
"Two years ago I was a sick man. Catarrh had settled in the pelvic organs, making life a burden and giving me little hope of recovery. I spent hundreds of dollars in medicine which did me no good. I was persuaded by a friend to try Peruna. I took it two weeks without much improvement, but I kept on with it and soon began to get well and strong very fast. Within two months I was cured, and have been well ever since. I am a strong advocate of Peruna."—C. Hershman.

Peruna cures catarrh of the kidneys, liver and other pelvic organs, simply because it cures catarrh wherever located.

JAMES M. POWELL.

No other systemic catarrh remedy has yet been devised. Insist upon having Peruna. There are no medicines that can be substituted.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Lipton's "Lucky Man." Sir Thomas Lipton has faith in the luck of the individual, and this year, for the first time, he will be joined in America by his mascot. This is Mr.
Carmichael, the secretary of the Lipton company, whom Sir Thomas calls his "lucky man." Mr. Carmichael has been associated with the owner of Shamrock III, since almost the beginning of his business career, and has helped in the growth of the business, which began in a small shop in a mean street of Glasgow. He sails for New York early next month, and, like everyone associated with Sir Thomas, is confident that at the third time of asking the cup will cross the Atlantic.

Willing to Wait.
On a recent occasion at Princeton, Paul Van Dyke told this story as a joke on his brother, Henry, the famous author and professor of English at Princeton: "It was when we were boys," said Mr. Paul Van Dyke; "we had been out hunting all day and had not had a shot at anything. Finally along toward evening we spied a covey of partridges in the long grass at the end of a frozen pond. We were both excited and Henry began to run around the edge of the ice toward the partridges. 'Don't shoot 'em on the run!' 'I w-w-won't,' stammered Henry, in his excitement. 'I'll w-w-wait till they s-stop.'"

The oldest graduate of West Point is Colonel John Beardley, now living in Athens, N. Y. He was born in Fairfield, N. Y., in 1816, and graduated from West Point in the class of 1841.
He was appointed lieutenant in the Eighth regiment of infantry, served in the seminoles war in Florida, afterward in the war with Mexico and was wounded in the battle of Molino del Rio and compelled to resign his commission on account of inflammation of his eyes, which threatened loss of sight. When the civil war broke out he was appointed colonel of the Ninth New York volunteer cavalry and served as such.

The J. P.'s Agree.
Stanton, Ark., Aug. 31st.—News comes from Duff, Searcy Co., this state, that Mr. T. E. Reeves, a justice of the Peace at that place, has written a letter recommending Dodd's Kidney Pills in which he says:
"I think Dodd's Kidney Pills can't be beat for Kidney Trouble, and I wish them every success."
The local J. P. Mr. E. B. Cox agrees with his brother Justice on this point he says:

"I had a bad case of Kidney Trouble and was not able to do a day's work without great distress. I bought six boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and after I had used three boxes I was all right. I am as well as ever, and I cannot praise Dodd's Kidney Pills too highly.

"I have given the other three boxes to some friends of mine who had found out what it was that had cured me so satisfactorily and quickly and they all speak highly of Dodd's Kidney Pills."

No one disputes this unanimous verdict.

is for co-operation in information to reduce mutually expensive mistakes. It is for mechanical, commercial and professional people; the employer, employee and customer; and consists of extracts taken by permission from the copyrighted letters, the lectures, note books and libraries of Dr. Earl M. Pratt. When you secure on any subject an idea personally useful to you, and you wish to give it to him, address him in care of The John Crerar Library, Marshall Field Building, Chicago. He is kindling the whole world over for information of every day use to you, and he regrets his inability, personally to reply to contributors. So far as possible he wishes to have in this space the very ideas you would like to find here. You are at liberty to send him any suggestion you may care to. His Arcade Index libraries were started in 1915 and now contain unpublished information dating back to 1796 with systematic plans extending to 1952. Your short story of some example of forthrightness deposited in the Arcade Index collection may prove to be your best monument.

Arcade Reports for Employers

A brigadier general in the world of finance had an idea that a railroad would be built through his neighborhood some day by some one. In order to have a share in the profits he decided to build a piece of road about sixty miles long, and he went at it without a charter. By his own personality he won the owners of the land and when an obstinate individual would attempt to hold him up for a certain piece of the right of way he would have a simple conversation with him and things would be arranged just as he wanted them. Others knew what he was doing and they started occasional troubles among the workmen, which the bosses were unable to handle; but this man of skill would go among the men and in half an hour everything would be working satisfactorily. He finished his road, which connected nothing with nothing, and a little later it became a link in a railway chain which connected two important cities and is now part of a large trunk system.

Collecting Accounts.

The collection of small accounts by mail is probably one of the most difficult things for any one to attempt.
A good letter is always better than a poor collector, and it may be that a good collector will do still better work than a good letter. A man writes to me that he had office-men who could collect down to three per cent by letter, while others were not able to get below fifteen per cent. He wanted to know what I could do to help his helpers. I don't know what I could do; but I believe it is possible to paint the masterpieces of the art galleries by machinery when we know how to make the machines.

Securing Business.

The expense of securing business is one of the uncomfortable things in many lines of work. Here is a college with buildings, instructors and an endowment suitable for four hundred students, yet they have only one hundred and seventy-five. No one doubts there being two hundred and twenty-five students in the legitimate territory of the college, each of whom would be greatly benefited by the instruction and who could and would attend if the subject were rightly presented to them. A correct presentation of the subject requires genuine ability of a special order. The man who can secure the most business may not be able to make an intelligent report for his employer regarding his work. A Chicago instructor told me about a two-dollar-a-day man who did not know what to do with himself, but who finally drifted to South America and secured $30,000 worth of business for a certain concern, after which his employer put him on a salary of $10,000 a year to handle foreign business.

Managing Men.

A Presbyterian minister told me that more ministers failed on account of lack of ability to manage others than for any other reason. This may be true of men in other lines of work.
Some men can manage an army of so-licitors in a way to keep them good-natured, hopeful, growing and successful. A good manager is a balance wheel, causing the business to move steadily, not too fast nor too slow But he becomes more than that, as he advances in intelligence, turning out better products day after day. His success is dependent upon his manner and methods, knowledge and energy, health and continued growth.

His ability must be going upward every day he is in the harness.

Learning Methods.

A quarter of a century ago I went with a playmate to a factory where his uncle was polishing ferrules. The uncle handed me a ferrule, but something in my playmate's face caused me to refuse it. After we got away from the sparks and noise I asked what was the matter with the ferrule and he told me it was hot. I inquired how it was his uncle could hold it on two fingers, and then two other fingers, changing back and forth, something which I had not recognized. Ever since then I have tried to find out how things are done which I see but do not understand.

Systematic Investigation.

The reading of men has much to do with the correct management of men. It is easy to coax a man to do something he is able to do, but an energetic manager can get many men to accomplish more and better work in quantity and quality than they could if left to themselves. If you want to be a better manager you must become better acquainted with yourself and learn how to analyze others as a chemist would analyze an unknown liquid. Some books will help you a little, but observation will help you more, and the suggestions of friends and enemies will become the most useful of all. A course of private, systematic investigation for results must be taken up, either consciously or unconsciously. Some men think day and night without effort and of course they succeed. Other men decide they will think more carefully; they plan how to think and what to think about, and know all the time that they are thinking; these men succeed also.

Meeting Emergencies.

Some managers are like oil on troubled waters and are successful if things move along all right, but if a condition requiring original and rapid thought comes up they fall down. Other managers are like pebbles in your shoe, but on account of their unlimited natural strength they just make things hum a golden tune whether anybody likes it or not.

Self-Management.

No doubt you have realized that the popular educational information turned out by the printing press during the last century has caused things to be a little different from what they once were. The manager is not able to do to-day in the same way that which he could do twenty, forty, sixty years ago. And the time is coming when, if he would be successful, he must not only have wit and a strong hand, but a humane heart and an ever clear head. As some may not recognize the necessity of an occasional rest from every-day work, I will repeat a story I heard recently.
A great corporation offered a smaller one $10,000 in settlement of a claim.
The small concern refused. The large one had a famous lawyer with assistants, witnesses and money. The lawyer of the little concern had little money and had to fight it alone. After securing $200,000 for his clients he confessed he never could have lived through the fight if it had not been for his habit of dropping all work at midnight Saturday and not taking it up again until Monday morning. I know of another man who made a practice of lying down after the most difficult morning's work of the week, and by sheer will-power forcing himself to take a fifteen-minute nap before starting off for the most difficult afternoon's work of the week. It is necessary to know yourself and know how to manage yourself. The successful management of men begins in the correct management of self.

A scissor cyclopedia, which you would make, may be only a few dozen envelopes of newspaper clippings or it may consist of a room full of cases of boxes, but whatever it is, it could not be purchased with money or secured in any other way. You are able to enjoy the position of editor without being worried by critics. You get the best education, that which you give yourself. The chances of rearrangement tempt you to improve and cultivate good judgment and you can find a scrap or whatever it is in an instant.

Have you ever made a list of reasons for your own private study and benefit, why some succeed and why some fail in the work you are in? It is a daylight-bringer to do so.

Clay as a Duelist.
General Cassium M. Clay once contemplated fighting a duel with Julian Hawthorne, on account of disrespectful allusions to his wife in a review of his memoirs. He demanded an unequivocal retraction, which Mr. Hawthorne wrote, and so saved himself from violence. After all, speaking musingly, reviewing his life, he confessed to a reporter, when he was about 84, that he was opposed on principle to the duel, thinking it a savage way to settle a difficulty. "But there are some cases for which it seems to be the only remedy." It was not his wont, however, to wait for the slow processes of the core—his bowie knife worked much faster than any pen and ink.

"Diamond Jim" Brady.
James Brady, the well known bridge builder of New York, is an inveterate theatergoer and is especially fond of patronizing roof gardens and similar summer entertainments. Also he has an extraordinary passion for diamonds, in displaying which he has many startling ideas. In addition to a full assortment for fingers, shirt, cuffs and less exposed articles of apparel he carries a beautiful stone in the handle of his umbrella, another in the ferrule of his cane and several finer than all on the handlebars of his bicycle. To this fact he owes his nickname of "Diamond Jim" Brady.

Y. M. C. A.'s Founder.

The founder of the first Young Men's Christian association is a fine looking man of 82, living at No. 13 Russell Square, London. He is Sir George Williams, knighted in 1894, the fiftieth anniversary of the Y. M. C. A.
He and a few fellow clerks in the employment of Hitchcock & Rogers, now Hitchcock, Williams & Co., banded themselves together for purposes of domestic worship and mutual help, and from that small beginning grew the great society of today in Europe and America. Of course, Williams, being a good boy and faithful employe, fell in love with Hitchcock's daughter Helen and married her, becoming later a member of the firm. The possibilities are that the society would have failed but for his gift of $25,000 to hire a hall and speed the work of the organization.

Just Fitted Her Case.

Mrs. Van Vorst, the author of "The Woman Who Tolls," had many amusing and odd adventures during her life as a worker. One adventure that has not heretofore been printed concerned a tacturn man. She met this man on a New England road, mending a worm fence. "Can you tell me," she said, "how far it is from here to the next town?" He pointed forward.
"Milestone little further on will tell you," he growled. Rudeness such as this vexed Mrs. Van Vorst. "But the milestone will be no good to me, for I can't read," she said. Thereupon the tacturn man chuckled a little.
"Ho, ho," he said, "it is just the kind of milestone for people that can't read, for all the wridin's been washed off of it."
