

COMMODORE NICHOLSON OF OUR NAVY

Recommends Pe-ru-na—Other Prominent Men Testify.

Commodore Somerville Nicholson, of the United States Navy, in a letter from 1837 R Street, N. W., Washington, D. C., says: "Your Peruna has been and is now used by so many of my friends and acquaintances as a sure cure for catarrh that I am convinced of its curative qualities and I unhesitatingly recommend it to all persons suffering from that complaint."—S. Nicholson.

United States Minister to Guatemala Endorses Pe-ru-na.

Dr. W. Godfrey Hunter, U. S. Minister to Guatemala, ex-member of Congress from Kentucky, in a letter from Washington, D. C., writes:

"I am fully satisfied that your Peruna is an efficacious remedy for catarrh, as I and many of my friends have benefited by its use."—W. G. Hunter, M. D. Member of Congress from Virginia Writes.

Hon. G. R. Brown, Martinsville, Va., ex-member of Congress Fifth District, 50th Congress, writes:

"I cheerfully give my endorsement to your Peruna as a cure for catarrh. Its beneficial results have been so fully demonstrated that its use is essential to all persons suffering from that disease."—Hon. G. R. Brown.

The day was when men of prominence hesitated to give their testimonials to proprietary medicines for publication. This remains true to-day of most proprietary medicines. But Peruna has become so justly famous, its merits are known to so many people of high and low stations, that no one hesitates to see his name in print recommending Peruna.

The highest men in our nation have given Peruna a strong endorsement. Men representing all classes and stations are equally represented.

COMMODORE Nicholson

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

The New Woman

The New Woman, who glorified the closing decade of the last century, has been swept from her bloomers into oblivion, and from the cosmopolitan swirl of the present arises her successor, who wields a bewitching sceptre o'er a wondering world from a throne not made by chance. Aesthetic ever, ascetic never, she is posted in all the higher subtleties of passion as told by yellow journals, yellow novels, and from her own personal experience. A ready wit against the mistaken impressions of others she can unsheathe, and no use has she for the paths of cheap romance. As for her knowledge of the dynamical relations between the emotions and the gastronomical functions it is profound being in truth, common sense. She believes in roast beef, lollypops, ice cream, as well as in manicures and tooth brushes and from her wonderful health and complexion one notices neither hysteria nor enamel can claim her. She admires the strenuous life, revels in the atmosphere of the stage, the race track, golf, bridge, al fresco concerts, and the ball room, and is not at all averse to smiling encouragingly upon the ancestral countenance of a dressy simian who condescends to enlighten and enliven civilized society up-to-date with his own peculiar smilies (bless his soul), so patiently expressive of pleasant thoughts unutterable.

With the easy grace of a 2-year-old she will jump any barrier that separates the most exclusive elite from the rest of society, and finds nothing in the presence of plutocrats or kings to be amazed at. She understands. What is more, they understand her, or think they do, which, of course, is the same thing—you understand.

Appreciating the thousand discords of the world and the wild harmonies of the heart, she would throw herself at romance for the mere sensation of the thing rather than at a man's head, which is, by the way, generally too soft or too hard, and so difficult to depend on. Aware of the fact that Cupid's game is not quite an exact science, she guards her own secret with a merry smile for others whom the artful sprite has smitten. Upbraided for not having a soul, she will reply that a violin has more of that element than she ever dreamed of possessing; but if you can understand the eye as thoroughly as she, you will discover by a glance at hers that she knows herself and the world very well.

The United States is the producing ground, par excellence, for her species, as well as the happy hunting ground of the titled European for the same, for reasons quite clear enough to the living, dead and dying. Conventionality is a blight upon her spirit, as indeed it is upon the spirit of the European during hunting trips. As for her dislike to forms, it is distinct, inasmuch as she regards them as cunning veneers to hypocrisy, which she abominates.

She believes in marriage, but you have probably observed that their husbands are quiet gentlemen possessed of much latent determination and a very impressive eye, factors not only qualified by a certain intense humor, but altogether exigible with culture. You've probably, like the smiling ladies themselves, observed this, and said nothing.—W. Fabian in Philadelphia Ledger.

FALL KIDNEY CHILLS.

With the chilling air of fall comes an extra tax on weak kidneys.—It's the time Doan's Kidney Pills are needed—now recognized the world over as the chief Kidney and Bladder remedy.

Aching backs are eased. Hip, back, and loin pains overcome. Swelling of the limbs and dropsy signs vanish. They correct urine with brick dust sediment, high colored, pain in passing, dribbling, frequency, bed wetting. Doan's Kidney Pills remove calculi and gravel. Relieve heart palpitation, sleeplessness, headache, nervousness, dizziness.

DEERFIELD, ILL.—"It was called rheumatism, I could get no relief from the doctors. I began to improve on taking Doan's sample and got two boxes at our drug store, and although 38 years of age, I am almost a new man. I was troubled a good deal with my water—had to get up four and five times a night. That trouble is over with and once more I can rest the night through. My backache is all gone, and I thank you ever so much for the wonderful medicine, Doan's Kidney Pills."—J. H. RUMER, President, Ridgeville, Indiana, State Bank.

BAXTER SPRINGS, KAN.—"I received the free sample of Doan's Kidney Pills. For five years I have had much pain in my back, which physicians said arose from my kidneys. Four boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills have entirely cured the trouble. I think I owe my life to these pills, and I want others to know it."—S. DAVIS, Baxter Springs, Kan.

FALMOUTH, VA.—"I suffered over twelve months with pain in the small of my back. Medicines and plaster gave me only temporary relief. Doan's Kidney Pills cured me."—F. S. BUCKER, Falmouth, Va.

Desirable Cure.
"Perhaps your stomach trouble is due to over-eating, Maginnis. Why don't you try the fast cure?"
"The fast cure, is it? Begorry, that's the cure O'm ather wanting. The faster, the better."

Insist on Getting It.
Some grocers say they don't keep Deance Starch because they have a stock of a hand of 72 oz. brands, which they cannot hold to a customer who has once used the 16 oz. pkg. Deance Starch for the same money.

Allen's Foot-Ease, Wonderful Remedy.
"I have tried ALLEN'S FOOT-EASE, and find it to be a certain cure, and gives comfort to one suffering with sore, tender and swollen feet. I will recommend ALLEN'S FOOT-EASE to my friends, as it is certainly a wonderful remedy."—Mrs. N. H. Guilford, New Orleans, La.

More Flexible and Lasting.
won't shake out or blow out; by using Deance Starch you obtain better results than possible with any other brand and one-third more for same money.

As the hod-carrier goes up, so goes the house.

An Odd Scrap Basket.
Girls, do you want a scrap basket that will be picturesque and different from anything you have ever had before? If you do, ask your brother to take you to see your fisherman before your summer outing ends, and either buy or beg from him a genuine eel-pot. Not a brand, new, unused one, but an old and grayish brown affair that has really seen service. He will have plenty of them, and will surely be glad to let you have just what you are looking for. Take your prize home with you, tie your favorite ribbons through the two little handles at the sides, hang it by your writing desk and you have a treasure which will excite much admiration.

The Demand for "Change."
There is over $100,000,000 in half dollars, quarters, dimes, nickels and cents in circulation, about $80,000,000 in silver dollars, $75,000,000 in one dollar bills and $45,000,000 in two dollar bills. And still the cry is for change, change. In New York the street car companies instruct conductors to refuse anything larger than a $2 bill for fare, owing to the impracticability of carrying enough change to break up the fives and tens that would be forced upon them. A majority of fares are paid in nickels, then come, in the order named—dimes, quarters, halves and pennies. There is an occasional dollar and now and then a $2 bill. Women are responsible for most of the paper money that goes into the pockets of conductors.

CUBS' FOOD.

They Thrive on Grape-Nuts.
Healthy babies don't cry and the well nourished baby that is fed on Grape-Nuts is never a crying baby. Many babies who cannot take any other food relish the perfect food Grape-Nuts and get well.

"My little baby was given up by three doctors who said that the condensed milk on which I had fed it had ruined the child's stomach. One of the doctors told me that the only thing to do would be to try Grape-Nuts, so I got some and prepared it as follows: I soaked 1 1/2 tablespoonfuls in one pint of cold water for half an hour then I strained off the liquid and mixed 12 teaspoonfuls of this strained Grape-Nuts juice with six teaspoonfuls of rich milk, put in a pinch of salt and a little sugar, warmed it and gave it to baby every two hours.

"In this simple, easy way I saved baby's life and have built her up to a strong healthy child rosy and laughing. The food must certainly be perfect to have such a wonderful effect as this. I can truthfully say I think it is the best food in the world to raise delicate babies on and is also a delicious healthful food for grown-ups as we have discovered in our family." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Grape-Nuts is equally valuable to the strong, healthy man or woman. Grape-Nuts food stands for the true theory of health.

Could Not Shoot Doe.

There is a "dry" doe in the woods of Price county, Wis., which owes her life to the fact that she is not afraid of a light. This sort of deer is occasionally found by jack-hunters, but not often. Two men went out after deer along the north fork of Flambeau River last week. They were using a flat-bottomed boat, heavy and clumsy, and one of them drove it with a pole. At half past 10 o'clock they saw a buck. That is, they caught a glance of his eye as he slewed his head around and looked at them over his shoulder preparatory to leaping to bank. He started in half a second and the powerful carbide lamp showed just enough of him to expose his horns as he went.

An hour later they rounded a bend and the doe stood in full view. She was in prime condition, fat and sleek. She was not more than twenty yards distant and threw her head up and glared at the light as soon as it came within range. It is possible that the brightness of its rays blinded her. The wind was blowing from her to the hunters so she could not scent them.

The man who was poling dropped the long pole, sat down and took up the paddle. The boat continued to advance and the deer to stand still. It crept on foot by foot and she betrayed no nervousness. Now and then she thrust her nose far upward, turned her head to one side and expanded her nostrils in the effort to sniff the scent of the approaching party, but fight did not occur to her.

The boat got within twenty feet of her, then within ten feet. Another stroke of the paddle and it would have been upon her. Then she turned toward the bank and walked slowly away. Twice she stopped and looked back at the light; once she stopped, gathered a mouthful of water-grass and chewed it. Still at a walk, never hurrying even into a slow trot, she went up the bank and disappeared.

All this time there had been a man sitting with a high-power rifle just behind the light. He wanted deer meat badly, and could, of course have blown a hole through the animal if he had been so minded. In fact, he could have knocked it down with the guide's pole which lay in the bottom of the boat. He said afterward:

"I could not shoot. She was a very beautiful animal, standing relieved in the strong light so that every muscle showed. She looked straight at me with her lustrous, large eyes, that were not frightened, but merely inquisitive, peering into the great lamp to see if it contained anything harmful or useful to her. She could not see me, of course, as I was in the black shadow behind the light, but I could hardly persuade myself that I was unseen. Killing that deer would have been simple murder."

The man got back to camp at 3 in the morning, without a shot fired, but he says that he felt better for a clear conscience.

Real Deed of Heroism.

Who can imagine a more deliberate and cold-blooded bit of heroism than that performed by Keeper W. W. Gresser of the Buffalo life-saving station, who, in the teeth of an eighty-mile November gale, swam out in the icy waters of Buffalo harbor to rescue a man who was clinging to some pile 500 feet from shore? At times the seas broke over the man so deeply that he was lost from sight, and it was evident that in that awful weather he would soon succumb and go to the bottom. Gresser saw him, and knowing that it would be useless to attempt to launch a boat, determined to swim to him with a line. As he plunged into the lake the mighty surf caught him and flung him stunned upon the beach; but he was up and in again, and this time gained the water beyond the breakers. It took half an hour for Gresser to swim 200 feet against the storm; then, coming to an old pile, he wrapped his arm and legs about it and rested for a few moments. The cold was intense, and his clothes were frozen to him when he let go and slid into the water, again to resume his journey. At times he had to dive through the great combers to avoid being buffeted back to shore, and three times a floating telegraph pole struck him on the back with crushing force, once almost rendering him unconscious. But he fought it out with incredible courage, and at the end of an hour was near enough to throw the line to the poor fellow, who was pitifully crying for help. The half-frozen wretch had only enough strength left to tie the line about his wrist, and then dropped into the water. At that instant a wave caught and fouled the line about the piling, and hurled Gresser back a hundred feet toward the beach. Exhausted, but not dismayed or beaten, he made renewed efforts to regain lost ground, and at the end of another half hour had reached the man again, signaled the fouled line, and given the line to the people on shore to haul in.

In transmitting the gold medal which congress had awarded to Gresser for heroism, the secretary of the treasury said: "It would seem incredible but for indisputable evidence, that you performed the marvelous feat, which was, indeed, effected only at the extreme peril of your life."—Woman's Home Companion.

The Turtle's Eighty-One Lives.
The way cats cling to their proverbial nine lives is well known, but the average turtle will make a tougher stand than nine ordinary cats. Perhaps boiling will kill a turtle at once, but any other method seems hopeless. The severed head of a snapping turtle will bite for an hour after separation from the body. But more wonderful is the indifference of the green turtle of the West Indies to mutilation. A party of naturalists lately returned give an account of an experiment which proves beyond doubt that the green turtle's intelligence does not lie in its head.

A green turtle, found on the beach, turned and made for the water. One of the party severed its head with an axe and thrust the body around. The headless turtle ran, then stopped and turned towards the water again,
