IN MEMORY OF BUTT

FAMOUS MEN PAY REVERENCE TO DEAD OFFICER.

SPEECH OF PRESIDENT TAFT

Tears Bring an Abrupt Ending to What the Nation's Chief Executive Had to Offer.

Washington.—The life of Major Archibald W. Butt as a soldier, newspaper man, aide to presidents and lodge member, and his heroic death on the Titanic were commemorated by his commander-in-chief, a president, a secretary of war, a senator of his native state, a contemporary in the newspaper field and the fraternity of Masonry at an impressive memorial service here Sunday.

The tribute President Taft paid to his late aide epitomized all that was said: "Everybody knew Archie as Archie. I cannot go in a box at a theater; I cannot turn around in my room—I can't go any where without expecting to see his smiling face or to hear his cheerful voice in greeting. The life of the president is rather isolated and those appointed to live with him come much closer to him than any one else. The bond is very close and it is difficult to speak on such an occasion."

"Archie Butt's character was simple, straight-forward and incapable of intrigue. A clear sense of humanity lightened his life and those about him. Life was not for him a troubled problem. He was a soldier and when he was appointed to serve under another, to that other he rendered implicit loyalty. I never knew a man who had so much self-abnegation, so much self-sacrifice as Archie Butt."

"Occasions like the sinking of the Titanic frequently develop unforeseen traits in men. It marks them heroes when you don't expect it. But with Archie it was just as natural for him to help those about him as it was for him to ask me to permit him to do something for some one or for me."

"He was on the deck of the Titanic exactly what he was everywhere. He leaves a void with those who loved him, but the circumstances of his going are all that what we would have had, and while tears fill the eyes and the voice is choked, we are felicitated by the memory of what he was."

President Taft spoke with difficulty and he was forced to an abrupt ending by a failure of voice and a steady flow of tears. Beside Mrs. Taft sat Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Butt of Augusta, Ga.

Opposite them sat Secretary Wilson, Secretary Meyer and other prominent officials. Senator Bacon sat with the members of the Georgia delegation in congress and throughout the meeting place were statesmen, soldiers and friends of the dead officer. Temple lodge No. 32, of the Masonic fraternity was seated with the speakers.

MORLEY GUILTY OF MURDER.

Jury Recommends Life Imprisonment for Outlaw.

Lincoln, Neb.—Charles Morley, the only surviving member of the trio of state penitentiary convicts who broke jail March 14 after killing Warden Delahanty, Deputy Warden Wagner and Guide Hellman, was found guilty of murder in the first degree. Not Driven on Rocks.

Rome.—The government denied reports from Constantine that the Italian battleship Re Umberto had been driven on the rocks by a storm and sunk off the Tripolitan coast.

ISLANDS AS CABLE STATIONS

Small Strips of Land in Pacific Inhabited by Chief of Port and Several Others.

San Francisco, Cal.—When a submarine cable breaks in mid-ocean, it would seem to one unfamiliar with such work that the location of the trouble would be a rather hopeless undertaking. This problem was recently presented to the Commercial Pacific Cable company, when its cable from San Francisco to China, Japan and the Philippines refused to operate. The question was very easily settled, however, by the use of delicate electrical instruments, which told that the trouble existed on the coral reefs which surround the two little Midway Islands. These islands are 3,608 miles from San Francisco and 4,227 miles from the Philippines, each consisting of a strip of land of only a few acres in area, one being known as Sand Island, or Western Island, and the other Eastern Island, the cable station being located on the former.

In laying a trans-oceanic cable every possible precaution is taken to keep the line free from "trouble" and to this end the right of way, if we might apply such a term to the bottom of the sea, must contain no elements which will cause undue deterioration of the cable. In this instance, an unforeseen factor has arisen in the shape of a coral reef.

The motion of the water swaying the great cable to and fro over the rough coral surface chafed the insulation and wires sufficiently to cause the break, the cost of repairing which will amount to approximately $100,000.

The population of Sand Island, the home of the cable station, consists of 23 persons, namely, the superintendent of the cable company and his wife, one chief operator and his wife, a physician, cable operators and a few laborers, with two cows, two donkeys and some poultry. There is no government, no mayor, not even a constable. It is a law-abiding community and has no need of any machinery to enforce the law. At one time the United States had a few troops there, but they were withdrawn in the interest of economy, since their presence served no practical purpose.

Before the coming of the cable station, the island was totally uninhabited. As the birds nest a wild fowling family of over five hundred songsters.

CENTRAL AMERICAN VISITORS

Elsa and Salvador Castrillo, the children of the new minister from Nicaragua, were born in Nicaragua and are spending their first winter away from home. They are attending one of Washington's exclusive private schools.

John returned home at a very questionable hour, and among other souvenirs of a special evening he carried a considerable gash on his forehead. His wife demanded an explanation of the wound.

"Nothin' be harmed 'bout, m' dear. Jes' bit m' self."

"John Brown! How could you bite yourself on the forehead?" exclaimed his irritated helpmate.

This had presented no difficulties to the versatile John, if it had taxed the credulity of his spouse.

"I stood on chair, y'know," he exclaimed glibly.

John's Logic.

John returned home at a very questionable hour, and among other souvenirs of a special evening he carried a considerable gash on his forehead. His wife demanded an explanation of the wound.
