LONG, HARD HITS DROVE IN MANY RUNS

Jack Murray, Slugging Outfielder of Giants.

The hundreds of New York fans who saw Jack Murray go through the world's series without getting a hit and then wondered if McGraw would drop him from the team in 1912 may be surprised to know that this red-headed young Irishman is the White Horse of the Giants.

After looking over the bright galaxy of fence busters for the spring we find that the name of Jack Murray leads them all. He is the toast of the team and the pride of McGraw. Never in his life has Red played such havoc with spring pitchers.

Several of the players were discussing Murray's failure to hit in the big series, and for the first time McGraw discussed that much mooted subject.

"While he didn't get a hit," said McGraw, "I was quite well satisfied with his work, for he hit them all hard and on the nose. He was unlucky in having his drives shoot straight at some fielder. I never had any idea of letting him go. In criticizing Murray for his lack of batting, the fans probably overlooked the fact that during the season he drove in many a winning run with his long smashes."

FEW CURVE BALLS ARE USED

Hans Lobert of Philadelphia National Team Tells of Methods of Modern Pitchers.

"If you ask a big league ball player about the curves and benders thrown by the various pitchers he won't give forth a mine of information. In fact, he is likely to tell you that they don't really recognize such things as curves any more," said Hans Lobert the other day. "We only figure on what we call a straight ball and a ball with a hop on it. All the so-called curves are included in the category of 'balls with a hop on them.' Most of the apparent wonderful curves are just balls slanted at the plate from a different angle. The fade-away is a slow ball that is dropping of its own weight. The in or out curves are simply fast balls with a hop," and outsiders call them in or out curves, mainly to see a left or right handed batter facing them.

"Here and there an occasional pitcher tries all sorts of grating shoots,

"INSIDE BALL" PUZZLE

Explanation of Term That Bothers Many Enthusiasts.

In the Long Run Team Which Plays Game as It Should From Start of Season to End Will Finish Better Than Its Rival.

"Inside ball" is a term which puzzles many enthusiasts. The expression immediately brings to mind secret manipulations on the diamond and is generally passed up as being too deep. In reality inside ball is nothing more or less than playing the game. There is no mystery about it. Of course, every major league and minor league squad has its "signs," or signals as they are called by the fans, writes Malcolm McLean in the Chicago Evening Post. But so have football teams and basketball squads.

Take the average ball game. The home team is at bat, nobody is down and there's a runner on first. The batter tries to lay down a sacrifice bunt, and misses the ball. "Aw, hit 'er out," yells a bleacherite in disgust. Then he turns to his neighbor and growls, "Gee, I can't stand for that kind of a game. What's that guy trying to do? Why don't he hit 'em to the fence?"

This instance is one of the many "mysteries" of inside ball. It's playing the game to sacrifice that man around to second, from which point he can easily score on a single. If the batter tries to hit safely right from the jump there's the immediate danger of a double play, and two men out.

Take another case. There's a man on first and a left-hander at bat. Such a hitter generally slaps one to right field or between first and second. So, naturally, as soon as the ball is hit the shortstop runs to cover second in the hopes of negotiating a double play. If the batter hits right-handed the second baseman usually covers second. Yet this is the so-called inside ball which has so many fans wondering what's it all about.

The Cubs in the past were called masters of inside ball. The reason was they had played together so long that every man knew the instant the ball was hit just what to do under the circumstances. In other words, it was second sense or "inside ball" if you prefer.

Yet this style of play doesn't always win—far to the contrary. Frequently the Boston Red Sox have thrown inside ball to the winds and played the hit-and-run game instead of sacrificing. They broke up the defense of the rival teams by pulling stuff when not expected. It's far more spectacular if they get away with it. For instance, with first and second occupied and none out, to have the batter knock the ball over the fence at the first pitch warms the cockles of the heart more than a dinky little bunt and an out at first.

But you'll find that in the long run the team which plays the game as it should from the start of the season to the end will finish better than its rival, if both squads are about equal in strength.

Changes at Toledo.

Manager Hartsel of the Hens is said to have come to the conclusion he had better stay out of the game and play Art Griggs in the outfield. It looks as if he was going to let Fred Derrick stay at first base.

Speed of Cincinnati Reds.

The Cincinnati Reds have shown a big improvement in base running and this is in a great measure responsible for their sensational work. They have much natural speed and Manager Hank O'Day is making the most of this.

One Great Hitter Retires.

A one time great hitter slid gracefully into oblivion when the Milwaukee American Association unconditionally released George Stone, the reigning sensation in the American league during 1906. During that year Stone, who was with St. Louis, smashed every American league pitcher without fear or favor, finishing the season with the percentage of .358. Stone had a peculiar crouch at the plate and, being a left-handed hitter, he chopped and swung many of his hits down the left field foul line and to left center. George, however, was no startling fielder, being particularly weak on ground balls and using poor judgment of fly balls, especially those which went over his head. His wonderful hitting, however, covered these smaller sins until the American hurriers found his weak spot.

DIAMOND GOSSIP

Chattanooga has purchased Pitcher Boehler from Washington. He was with Springfield, O., last season. Rip Vovkine has been released.

Block, the catcher St. Paul secured from the St. Louis Cardinals, is leading the American Association leaders according to recent averages.

Manager Mike Kelley of the St. Paul team, is arranging a Hank Gehring day for the benefit of the widow of Hank and his orphaned daughter.

It is the turn of the White Sox to know what injuries mean to a team, though Callahan can point with some satisfaction to his substitute brigade.

Frank Killen, star left hander with the Pirates a good many years ago, has the fever, and thinks he would like a job in the United States League.

Larry Doyle has stolen more bases than any other player in the National League. Sam Crayford holds this distinction in the American. Ty Cobb has not broken into the stolen base column to any extent as yet, but may be depended upon to do considerable pilfering of the sacks before the season ends.

Physicians Recommend Castoria

CASTORIA has met with pronounced favor on the part of physicians, pharmaceutical societies and medical authorities. It is used by physicians with results most gratifying. The extended use of Castoria is unquestionably the result of three facts: First—The indisputable evidence that it is harmless: Second—That it not only allays stomach pains and quiets the nerves, but assimilates the food: Third—It is an agreeable and perfect substitute for Castor Oil. It is absolutely safe. It does not contain any Opium, Morphine, or other narcotic and does not stupefy. It is unlike Soothing Syrups, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, etc. This is a good deal for a Medical Journal to say. Our duty, however, is to expose danger and record the means of advancing health. The day for poisoning innocent children through greed or ignorance ought to end. To our knowledge, Castoria is a remedy which produces composure and health, by regulating the system—not by stupefying it—and our readers are entitled to the information.—Hall's Journal of Health.

Letters from Prominent Physicians addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Dr. B. Halstead Scott, of Chicago, Ill., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria often for infants during my practice, and find it very satisfactory."

Dr. William Belmont, of Cleveland, Ohio, says: "Your Castoria stands first in its class. In my thirty years of practice I can say I never have found anything that so filled the place."

Dr. J. H. Taft, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I have used your Castoria and found it an excellent remedy in my household and private practice for many years. The formula is excellent."

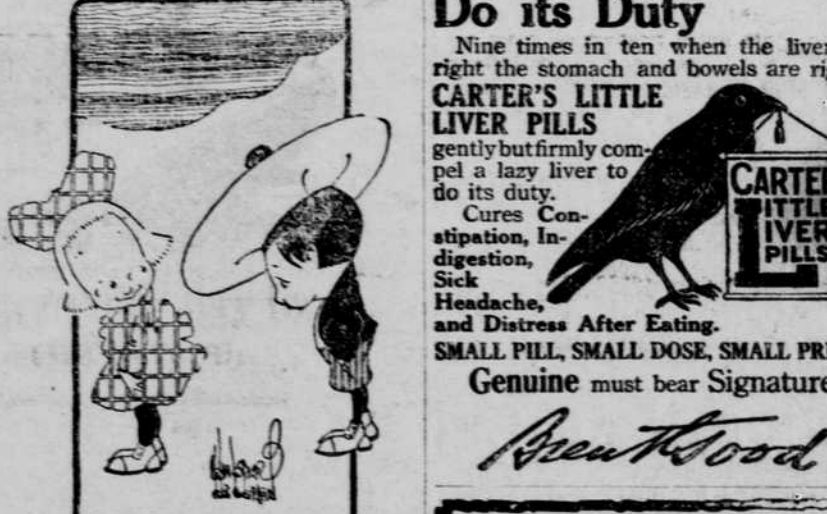

Dr. R. J. Hamlen, of Detroit, Mich., says: "I prescribe your Castoria extensively, as I have never found anything to equal it for children's troubles. I am aware that there are imitations in the field, but I always see that my patients get Fletcher's."

Dr. Wm. J. McCann, of Omaha, Neb., says: "As the father of thirteen children I certainly know something about your great medicine, and aside from my own family experience I have in my years of practice found Castoria a popular and efficient remedy in almost every home."

Dr. J. R. Clausen, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "The name that your Castoria has made for itself in the tens of thousands of homes blessed by the presence of children, scarcely needs to be supplemented by the endorsement of the medical profession, but I, for one, most heartily endorse it and believe it an excellent remedy."

Dr. R. M. Ward, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Physicians generally do not prescribe proprietary preparations, but in the case of Castoria my experience, like that of many other physicians, has taught me to make an exception. I prescribe your Castoria in my practice because I have found it to be a thoroughly reliable remedy for children's complaints. Any physician who has raised a family, as I have, will join me in heartiest recommendation of Castoria."

HEART NEEDS ESPECIAL CARE

Strain on the Vital Organ Must Be Avoided When Middle Life Has Been Passed.

"The death by heart failure of Gen. Frederick D. Grant," says the Medical Record, "emphasizes the repeated warnings of the medical profession that we should treat a senile heart with respect. As far as we know there is not the slightest disagreement on this one point—every human heart over fifty, and perhaps over forty-five, cannot stand much internal pressure without being ruined or at least damaged. A very slight man may go through severe muscular exertion with but little damage, but a heavy man, like the general, places on the heart and arteries a hydrostatic pressure beyond the safety point, and it never recovers."

"The pitiful feature of this deplorable death is the fact that Gen. Grant in his last annual report had called attention to the opinion of life insurance examiners that army officers were becoming poor risks on account of the increasing strain on their profession. It is safe to predict more deaths like Gen. Grant's, unless we treat the heart of a man over forty-five with more gentleness."

To Preserve Historic Building.

A movement has been started in Frankfort, Ky., to preserve the "little red brick" building on the old State House square on account of its historic interest. The building now standing is 98 years old, and Daniel Boone, on the occasion of visits to Frankfort after it was erected, visited the offices on business. In two years the building will be 100 years old, if left standing, and is the oldest state building in existence.
