Republican National Convention

News from the Republican National convention at Chicago, which convened Tuesday, is not up to this writing giving any inkling of the probable result, so far as received by wire here, save that Taft won the vote, which would portend the nomination of the president, if all precedents were followed. Yet with the great and closely contending elements, we would not be surprised were Roosevelt to win the final heat and land the wish-erd prize. However, so far as we have heard up to the hour of going to press this (Thursday) morning nothing satisfactory of the probable result, unless the selection of Root for temporary chairman can be said to show the final outcome.

LATEST—Report by wire this morning says the convention adjourned at 5:50 last night in a row, with harsh names and fighting blood uppermost. The temporary organization was made permanent, so it seems Taft has the upper hand. Today will be nominations and perhaps balloting, and may end the fight, though some incline to think the end is still further off.

The governor of New Mexico says the Johnson-Flynn fight shall not be pulled off in that state on July 4th.

Farmers Attention

Did it ever occur to you, that you are getting a much better price for your cream delivered in Loup City, than is being paid in surrounding towns, and country and all because there is a creamery located here in Loup City. If it were not for the creamery located here, the price would undoubtedly be the same as at the surrounding points.

Why not give the Creamery the benefit of your patronage then, and help support, and build up a home industry rather than be sending your cream out of the country to larger towns and cities, that only care for us in proportion to the amount of business they get out of our community.

The Ravenna Creamery Co. is paying 24c for cream delivered at the creamery; compare this price with the prices being paid at other surrounding and nearby points.
