

PLAN

Then Act

Many people plan their whole lives to have a bank account and then leave this world without so much as a start at one. Planning isn't worth anything unless followed by action. Good intentions never land you anywhere. Make your plans to start an account with us this week and back up your plans with action.

The three lectures given in this city last week by Mrs. Lilla G. English, the first on "The Boys behind the Bars," and the other two to ladies only, were most pleasing and instructive to those who attended said lectures, and we believe were most profitable. Miss Ruby Charlton, who left here some two or three weeks ago to accept the position as city librarian at Cleveland, Ohio, will be a reader of the Northwestern while there, ordering the paper to her address in that city. Miss Charlton is one of Loup City's most popular young ladies and her host of friends here will follow her with best wishes for her success and happiness.
Our good friend, George Curry, has sold one of his farms in the west part of the county to his son, G. W. Curry, and has purchased some 1700 acres of land near Brownlee in Cherry county, and leased some 2500 acres more near there and will go into the cattle business on a large scale, taking his other son, R. W. Curry, with him. He will not move up into that country before next March. We wish all three the best of success, although we hate to see George leave us for the ranch country.
Our good friend, Hans M. Johnson, of Washington township, gave us a pleasant call on Tuesday with the remark that he was hungry for the news and wished to re-enlist in our army of readers. Friend Johnson some three weeks since resigned from the army of readers, but admitted he could not stay away and we could count him with us for life after this. That's the kind of pleasant comment we hear continually from our readers, making it a pleasure to publish the Northwestern and strive our best to make the best paper published in Sherman county.
Mr. T. L. Pilger has been quite ill the past few days with an aggravated form of typhoid fever, but at present reports from his bedside are to the effect that he is resting nicely and on the fair road to recovery. The report that his condition was so serious that his sons had been wired for is erroneous, but instead letters have been sent them keeping them informed as to his condition. At present his physician precludes friends from his bedside to save him the nervous exhaustion consequent upon seeing them, but it is thought within a few days he will be able to see them. We sincerely wish for his early recovery.
Lawrence Smith, who has been quite ill the past two weeks, is reported better at present with best chances for his ultimate recovery. Some two weeks since while feeding ensilage, Mr. Smith was struck in the left cheek with a corn stalk, quite severely injuring that cheek. Later he suffered much pain and laid it to an ulcerated tooth and going to the dentist had the molar extracted. Instead of easing the pain, it became rapidly worse, the face swelling and afflicting down the cords of the neck to the collar bone. His physician made three incisions, drawing therefrom quite a quantity of pus, every thing pointing to his trouble being blood poisoning. During part of his illness, we understand the entire left side of his body became more or less swollen and even at present, as his trouble is subsiding, he is still confined to his bed, where he has been for two weeks since he had the tooth extracted, and it is a question whether the trouble originated with ulceration of a tooth or the injury he received from the blow of the cornstalk which penetrated to the jaw bone. However that may be, he is overcoming his illness and it is expected will be up and around again soon.
