Don't forget you can save money on flour at Lee Bros.

For Sale—About 30 tons of good baled or loose hay, three miles north of Schaups, phone 8312. Frank Rossa.

We see by the Grand Island Independent that the American Express Co., will sell uncalled for packages on March 8th. Among them is one addressed to Sequel McPherson, Loup City, which was not called for. The Northwestern merely calls attention to it with the possible chance that this item may reach the person to whom said package was addressed, that they may yet claim it.

F. R. Schweitzer, field secretary of the Nebraska Y. M. C. A. was here Sunday and spoke in the afternoon at the M. E. church and in the evening at the Presbyterian church, in the interest of his work.

Mrs. J. K. Ward, formerly Miss Jessie Culley, was visiting friends here over last Sunday. Mr. Ward has purchased the Foster lumberyard at Arcadia, and he and his wife have resigned their positions at Ogallala in the public schools there, that he might take personal charge of his new business venture.

Do you like wit coupled with common sense? If you do, you don't want to fail to hear Colonel L. W. Leonard at the Farmers Institute. Mr. Leonard is a practical farmer, and will tell of some of his successes in the live stock line. His evening talks are of especial interest to mixed audiences. Everyone is pleased with Mr. Leonard's work.

Myrl A. Warwick came home from Grand Island yesterday and asking him about the horse market, he expressed himself laconically, "Rotten." And Myrl is onto the horse game, too.

The State Department of Agricultural Extension is sending Miss Louise Sabin of Beatrice, Neb., to this town as one of the lecturers for Farmer's Institutes. Miss Sabin is in such demand throughout the state for her practical talks on domestic science, that the town securing her is fortunate. We should show that we appreciate this by giving her a large audience. The State Department guarantees that no one will go away disappointed.

Chickens still wanted at Lee Bros.

Mrs. Ward Ver Valin entertained the ladies of the Entre Nous club at her hospitable home last Thursday afternoon. Either, hereafter, the Entre Nous ladies will have to divvy up with their masculine attaches, or there will be a "strike" that will make the "garment workers" of their households sit up and listen. No wonder the men put milk and sugar in their bouillon, with so little chance at the society eats.

We see by the Friend Sentinel that our jolly old editorial friend, Ed Brown, is having a siege of rheumatism. Ed confesses that he doesn't like it and very likely is a little cross over the thing, and when anything goes that far with that big fat bunch of good nature, what would be the effect of such a strain upon his little, weakened attenuated old side-part of the Northwestern, do you suppose?

Last week we spoke of our friend, John Blemond, being up from Lewellen, Neb., for a visit with his parents, and incidentally mentioned that he had sold out his business in Lewellen, in which we were in error. He had told us he was going to make a visit out to the Pacific Coast, and we must have conceived the erroneous idea that he had sold out his old home from that fact, as so many are and have done, and the editorial noodle got muddled in John's case. We are glad, however, that this section of the country is not to lose him to the Western Coast.

Next Attraction at the Opera House is Eugene Perry's excellent drama "PANAMA," a beautiful story well told in four acts. The scenery carried by this company shows the steam shovel and derrick ready for work on the canal. Mr. Perry has taken great care in selecting his company of seven people for this play, and guarantees a good clean show. An educational play for the school children, full of comedy, a play for the people. Third session for this play and you will say we have a dollar show at 50-35-25c prices. Feb. 21, 1913.

Miss Lilah Wilkinson who has been here the past number of weeks as nurse for C. E. Lundy, deceased, returned to her home at Lincoln yesterday morning.

A case of whooping cough is reported in this city. As there are liable to be more cases it would be well for parents to take due notice and govern themselves accordingly.

Dr. and Mrs. S. A. Allen arrived home Tuesday from their visit at various points in this state and in Iowa, and will go to housekeeping as soon as their new home is completed.

R. P. Starr had business at Ashton last Saturday, Col. Starr, Jr., going along to have a day in that metropolis.

We call the attention of all interested in the coming session of the Farmers' Institute to the program and list of premiums given on the first page this week. Get ready for the big time.

The veterans of Shiloh Post with the better part of their families had an oyster feed and campfire at their Post hall last evening. There are only sixteen of the old boys here, but we'll venture, without knowing, that they had a most enjoyable time.

J. J. Stominski accompanied his sister-in-law, Miss Martha Lewandowski, to Omaha Monday, where she was to undergo an operation for goitre. He was to be absent two or three days, securing her a place in the hospital and accommodations.

Edgar Draper last week sold his residence property to Mr. Henry Lewis of Litchfield, to give possession March 1st, when Mr. Draper and family will move to Fullerton and Mr. Lewis and family to Loup City. Our people will miss Edgar Draper and his family from our midst and will wish them all kinds of good fortune in their new home.

Mr. and Mrs. George Warren of Arcadia were here over Tuesday night visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Milburn, leaving yesterday morning for Toronto, Canada, where they intend making their future home. The ladies are sisters.

Col. Jack Pageler, our popular auctioneer, went down to Ashton last Saturday morning, cried a clothing sale for Will Simpson, and that evening drove to Ravenna, and by train to North Bend, Neb., where he was to cry a big sale running way up into the thousands of dollars near there on Monday.

Word was received from F. F. Roby and wife and Mr. and Mrs. B. O. Hostetler stating that they were in the best of health and arrived safely at New Orleans. They will make about a two months' trip throughout the eastern part of the states before returning to Kearney.—Kearney Hub.

In company with W. F. Mason, Dr. Chase and Will Schumann, the editor attended the G. A. Curry sale, Tuesday, some twelve miles west of this city. Everything brought good prices and the sale was a very successful one, outside of the horses, which it is claimed at sales this winter have not been at near as high prices as formerly. Of course, our party was invited to dinner, and Mrs. Curry surely must have heard of the reputation of the party as the table was loaded with good things, and to which they did ample justice. One thing sincerely to be regretted in connection with our visit and that was the illness of Friend Curry, who has been quite ill the past number of days, which was especially unfortunate, coming as it did on the day of his sale. We trust, however, he may speedily regain his former rugged health.

The Perry Amusement Company in offering their excellent comedy drama, "PANAMA" does so with the assurance that you will leave the theatre saying your time and money was well spent. The story of the play is woven around an orphan girl that was found on the door step of Hezekiah Struts near the canal. Mr. Struts named her Tuesday for the day he found her. At the age of seventeen Tuesday has grown into a very pretty girl, and has many admirers, but none seem to suit her till she meets Mr. Dave Higgins, a civil engineer from the U. S. A., the rest you will see at the Opera House one night only, Feb. 21, 1913. A guaranteed show. Your money's worth or your money back. Take the wife, sweetheart and be sure and take the children. 50-35-25c. Singing and dancing specialties between the acts.

Farmers Attention

Now is the time to start the incubators to produce those early hatched, high priced broilers.

Eggs set right now will make fine broilers by May 1st to 15th, worth from fifty to seventy five cents each.

We will guarantee a price of twenty-one cents per pound from April 1st to June 1st, for broilers weighing from 1 1-2 lbs to 2 1-4 lbs.

The price will probably be several cents higher than this all depending on the weather but the above is a guaranteed price and we will pay more than twenty one cents if the market will allow us to do so.

Ravenna Creamery Co.

The meetings at the Methodist church are starting off with fine interest, which is increasing from night to night. Rev. Hawley is preaching strong gospel sermons which are highly enjoyed by those who are fortunate enough to hear them. A chorus choir together with the congregational singing furnish good music and the inspiration of song.

There will be special music every night including selections by the Schwaners, Mrs. Robt. Mathew, the Depew sisters and others. All are most cordially invited.
