W. D. Simmerman returned Tuesday from a week's absence away.
The county assessors hold their annual meeting tomorrow.
Mrs. A. J. Johnson is recovering from her recent illness of three weeks' duration.
Special low prices on Plow and Lister Lays at Garner's shop.
Wood tanks made to order at Garner's. The brick shop.
Rev. W. E. Henry, wife and baby returned yesterday morning to Riverdale, after a few days here with relatives.
C. J. Tracy and wife returned the earlier part of this week from their winter's stay in Florida.
G. W. Collpriest and family spent Easter Sunday with friends at North Loup.
A new petition for a high school building is in circulation, generously signed by our people, and another try will be made for a new high school.
March 22nd, a marriage license was issued to Frank C. Frink of Sweetwater and Miss Elizabeth C. Petersen of Hazard.
The I. T. class of the Presbyterian church last evening gave Miss Lizzie Leininger a farewell party, presenting her with a souvenir spoon in token of their high regard.
Discs sharpened by either the cold rolling or cutting process at Garner's. Prices right and satisfaction guaranteed.
Hans Dietz came to town last Sunday to attend German church, tying his team at the east end of the church. During the services, a couple of loose horses chased by dogs scared Mr. Dietz' team, which in their frantic efforts to get away broke the tongue of the carriage, overturning the latter and reducing it into a fit condition for a repair hospital. Will Taylor happening along at the time managed to get the team loose from the carriage and saving still further possible damage.
Married—By County Judge Smith at his office yesterday (Wednesday, Mar. 26, 1913) Henry Siebler of Platte Center, Neb., and Miss Martha L. Henning, of Route 2. The bride is a sister of our jolly friend, O. F. Henning, and a most popular and respected young lady, while the groom is a prominent and enterprising young German farmer at Platte Center, where they will make their home. The Northwestern follows them with best wishes.
Joe Vaughn is happy. He received word last Thursday that the fixtures for his new drug store quarters had been shipped finally, and now he is looking for them every day. The fixtures were ordered last fall in plenty of time for the order to be filled and received here the first of last December, but unfortunately the factory where they were being made had a strike of workmen and only now after nearly four months of most aggravating wait they will be here, hurried in to position and the Rexall store will be able shortly to move into their handsome new quarters in the Waite block. Good.
Miss Lizzie Leininger left this morning for Aurora, where she will take six weeks' instruction in music under a most successful instructor. At the close of her term of instruction there she will return home and will then decide as to her future move. She contemplates at an early date thereafter to remove elsewhere to make her home, her good mother accompanying her. Our musical, social and church circles will certainly miss the lady sorely, at the same time wishing her the utmost success for the future, wherever she may conclude to locate.
Mrs. John Taylor, Mrs. Will Taylor and Mrs. Grace Trefny, mother and daughters, are expected from Alliance Saturday evening. Mrs. John M. had been for some months at Alliance visiting her daughter, Mrs. Trefny, when the latter was taken seriously ill, Mrs. Will Taylor being called there to nurse her. Mrs. Trefny has so far recovered from her illness and operation for appendicitis as to be able to make the journey, and so she comes to Loup City with her mother and sister, to remain during her convalescent period.

Mrs. Davis, who has been visiting at the home of Wm. Rutherford for some time, left for Arcadia last week.
Mrs. Grant Burt, sister-in-law of Clarence Burt, living at Valley, Neb., had her home destroyed by the cyclone that swept eastern Nebraska, Sunday evening. Herself and family were not injured but several neighbors near were killed when their homes were destroyed. One house and barn just across the road from Mrs. Burt's was torn to pieces by the wind and what was left took fire and burned. Mrs. Burt's husband died several months ago. Harold Burt just returned from a visit to her place last week. For once he was lucky.

Omaha Tornado Torn
200 Lives Lost and Hundreds Were Injured
Tornadoes in Various Towns Over the State—Many Lives Pay Forfeit—Millions of Property Loss
Loup City People Mourn Loss of Relatives

The most destructive tornado in lives lost and property damaged occurred at Omaha last Sunday evening at 6 o'clock which has ever visited this state. It began just west of Hascomb Park and traveled northeast through the densest populated residence portion of the city, tearing a path from four to six blocks wide and about four miles in length. From the starting point it moved a little east of north till it reached Cuming street, two miles north, when it veered slightly more east till Lake street was reached at 24th, a mile further on. Here it seemed to separate, the more destructive part moving east along Lake, Ohio, Maple, Locust and Binney streets, till it crossed the river more than a mile away, plowing through the best residence portion of the city. The most destruction appeared to be in the thickly populated residence portion along Fortieth, across Farnam, Davenport, Douglas, and on Dewey avenue, ending its existence by dropping a series of tornadoes over various portions of the city. When it crossed the river, it left death and property destruction in its wake over Council Bluffs and various towns over western Iowa. Besides the great horror in Omaha, branches of the tornado visited and tore to pieces the suburban town of Ralston, blotted out the town of Berlin, Neb., visited Waterloo, Valley, Yutan, where some twenty or more were killed, and numerous other towns not here enumerated.
The great tornado at Omaha caused sorrow in the family of John Lofholm of this city, Mrs. Lofholm's twin brother, A. J. Newman, of 4224 Dewey avenue, having his home demolished, his wife and baby killed and a son, aged 22 years, injured so badly his life is despaired of. There were nine children in the family, seven at home and two older sons in Kansas and California. Mr. Newman and five of the children escaped injury. Tuesday noon, in answer to a telegram from Mr. Newman telling of the death of Mrs. Newman, Mr. Lawrence Lofholm and Miss Berdie Lofholm took the noon motor for Omaha to give aid and sympathy to the stricken husband and father and his motherless children.

Later—a phone message from Mr. Lofholm at Omaha this morning stated that his cousin died from the injuries received, the funeral of mother and son to be held today. Another son, also badly hurt, lies in the hospital, whose recovery is uncertain.
Among the killed were Mrs. M. N. Holm, aged 28 years, and her 6-year-old daughter of 38th and Davenport streets, while the husband and father is in the Swedish hospital badly injured. Mrs. Holm was an own cousin of Mr. Vic Swanson of this city, and the only news he has received was through the death list in the dailies.
In the path of the storm, as mapped out, is the home of Agent J. A. Danielson of this city, situated on Dewey avenue, but as that home is not mentioned in the newspaper reports, and only one home very near, mentioned as being partially destroyed, Mr. Danielson trusts his Omaha home may have escaped destruction.
According to latest reports from Omaha the death loss is close to 200; the injured, 240; houses demolished, 350; churches wrecked, 11; schools wrecked, 8; buildings damaged or destroyed, 1250, and the property loss estimated up into the millions of dollars, while thousands of people are made homeless by the worst tornado ever visiting this state, by reason of its path being through a most densely populated residence portion of the largest city in the middle west.
