Wayside Philosophy. "Easy Street must be a nice street to live on." remarked the first hobo. "That's nothing to me," declared the second wayfarer. "I never found that the alley back of it provided anything extra in the way of pickings."

Must Be Reckless. "Women like a brave man," remarked the first chappie. "That's right," assented the other chappie. "A fellow's got to be reckless where women are concerned. If a girl offers you a kiss, wade right in. Don't stop to ascertain if her lips have been sterilized."

"There's a question I'd like to ask you, to settle a family dispute." "Well?"

Absent-Minded? Oh, No! Two absent-minded college professors were walking together on the street.

"Do you know," said one, "I must have a double. The other day a woman stopped me on the street and asked: 'Your name is Mr. Kennington, isn't it?'" "Well, well!" his friend replied, "and was it?"

Very Many Like Him. Sometimes children are more obedient than they are credited with being. Little Rob's mother, for instance, was telling a visitor how "masterful" another neighbor was in his home life when Rob, unnoticed beside her, put in his little ear. "I don't think Mr. Tate is so awful bossy, mamma," he remarked suddenly. "Course he does a lot of talking, but he never makes Mrs. Tate do a thing she doesn't want. I've noticed that."

Parliamentary Suspension. Sir Henry Lucy drops a hint from the "Cross Benches" in the Observer as to the "suspension" of members of the house—and the vagueness of the penalty. Can it be true that members get themselves named and suspended on purpose to achieve a compulsory holiday? Eight pounds a week will make for modest comfort at Brighton or Eastbourne. The member of parliament is paid whether he is in the house or at Margate or in the Clock Tower. Budapest has a more dramatic way. If the member is suspended he is fined 16 shillings a day. That teaches him to behave. Now that we pay our representatives we might make payment conditional on their representing us in the proper place.—London Chronicle.

Convicts College Students. More than 50 convicts are enrolled at the State Agricultural college at Manhattan, taking the various courses offered at the college. They are, so far as is known, the only convict college students in the United States. Few, if any, of the convicts have ever seen the college building, and it will be some time before any of them can see it, but nevertheless they are enrolled students doing regular work.

All the convict college students are inmates of the United States penitentiary here. They do their class work in their cells and mail their lesson papers to the college for correction. Some of the convicts are studying agriculture, some civil engineering, others mechanics, and some are studying carrying. Nearly all of the students enrolled in the agricultural or dairy courses are men employed on the prison farm or in the dairy.—Leavenworth Dispatch to New York Times.

MEMORY IMPROVED. Since Leaving Off Coffee.

Many persons suffer from poor memory who never suspect coffee has anything to do with it.

The drug—caffeine—in coffee, acts injuriously on the nerves and heart, causing imperfect circulation, too much blood in the brain at one time, too little in another part. This often causes a dullness which makes a good memory nearly impossible.

"I am nearly seventy years old and did not know that coffee was the cause of the stomach and heart trouble I suffered from for many years, until about four years ago," writes a Kansas woman.

"A kind neighbor induced me to quit coffee and try Postum. I had been suffering severely and was greatly reduced in flesh. After using Postum a little while I found myself improving. My heart beats become regular and now I seldom ever notice any symptoms of my old stomach trouble at all. My nerves are steady and my memory decidedly better than while I was using coffee."

"I like the taste of Postum fully as well as coffee."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Write for booklet, "The Road to Wellville."

Postum comes in two forms. Regular (must be boiled). Instant (Postum doesn't require boiling but is prepared instantly by stirring a level teaspoonful in an ordinary cup of hot water, which makes it right for most persons.)

A big cup requires more and some people who like strong things put in a heaping spoonful and temper it with a large supply of cream.

Experiment until you know the amount that pleases your palate and have it served that way in the future.

There's a Reason for Postum.

LEAGUE MANAGERS ARE MEN OF EXPERIENCE

Miller Huggins of St. Louis.

All of the managers in the two big baseball leagues have had actual experience in the game. Even Stallings was a big league catcher many years ago. Of the sixteen managers one is a catcher, two are first basemen, two second basemen, one shortstop and two outfielders—eight, in all, still in the game. All the rest, except Mack and Stallings, have been in the game so recently that they can practice with their men and know, by actual feel of the bat and ball, just how everything is going along. Two—McGraw and Jennings—are graduates of the great Baltimore team. Three—Chance, Evers and Tinker—worked together on the conquering Cubs. Oddly enough, three more—Dahlen, Callahan and Griffith—all had their schooling on the Chicago team that preceded the Cubs—a gang of merry "joy-riders," whose individual abilities were great, but who could win no flags. Stallings is a come-back.

Evers, Tinker and Huggins got their first show this spring. Chance has been transferred from one league to the other. As to the actual skill and knowledge of the game these managers may possess—it might be figured this way: If each of them had the arm and the wind that he had a few years ago what team of either league could stand against them? How far would any club get if matched against this aggregation: Doolin, catcher; Griffith and Callahan, pitchers; Chance, first; Evers or Huggins, second; Jennings, Dahlen or Tinker, short; McGraw, third; Clarke, Birmingham, Stahl, outfield.

Many New Catchers. Six major league clubs have new catchers in the role of first string maskmen this season. In the National Ivy Wingo replaces Bresnahan at St. Louis, Tom Clark has Larry McLean's job at Cincinnati, Radken is in King's Boston shoes and Kelly and Simon are doing most of Gibson's Pittsburgh work. Over in the American Ray Schulck is the Sox regular and Agnew has Stephens' place with Stovall. Then, with Otto Miller at Brooklyn, Henry and Ainsworth at Washington, Cady at Boston and O'Neill at Cleveland the day of the young catcher has apparently arrived.

To Develop Thorpe. Jim Thorpe, the famous Indian athlete who made such a big noise in the baseball world some time ago, but who has not been heard from since the season started, may develop into a good pitcher. The red man has been practicing with the spit ball and is confident that he will be able to master this style of delivery. The Giants will hold on to the Indian, as it is believed that he will make a good player in time.

Sure of Flag. Manager Griffith of the Washington baseball team, who made such a great showing last year, is quoted as saying "Barring accidents, we will surely win the American league flag this year. We finished second last year and certainly ought to improve this season and if we better our position we are bound to win the pennant."

Cree Likes Polo Grounds. Birdie Cree, the Highlanders' star outfielder, is rather pleased with playing on the Polo grounds. In a recent game Birdie poked a double, triple, a sacrifice fly and was given a base on balls.

No-Hit Game. Pitcher Friedley of the Attica, Ohio, team twirled a no-hit-no-run game against the Bucyrus High. He also fanned 15 batters in this game.

Weight of Pirates' Bats. A statistical person has figured out that the bats used by the Pirates in the twenty-six seasons they have been in the big leagues represent 1,379,080 ounces, or 80,130 pounds, or 43 tons of wood. It's all right, but, according to our figuring, 1,379,080 ounces make 86,192 pounds.

Wood's 1913 Salary. Joe Wood's 1913 salary is said to be $7,500, more than any other pitcher in the American league is getting, not even excepting Walsh of the White Sox and Johnson of the Washington club. Wood is the star pitcher of the Boston American league team.

Increase Seating Capacity. President Comiskey of the White Sox plans to increase the seating capacity of his park from 30,000 to 45,000 for 1914. The changes contemplated will involve an expenditure of more than $150,000.

Jackson After Record. Baseball writers, critics and fans included claim that Joe Jackson, the hard-hitting right fielder of the Naps, will break all previous records in batting this season.

Announce Each Batter. President John H. Farrell of the New York State league has instructed his umpires to announce the name of each batter when he comes to bat the first time.

Better Than Expected. While the chances to fly a pennant in St. Louis are away outside, neither the Cardinals nor the Browns are as punk as they were touted to be before the opening of the season.

BIG SALARIES IN BASEBALL

Average Player Receives Six Times as Much Money as Average Minister—Chance to Think.

It must take an ordinary, or even extraordinary, lawyer, doctor or minister very, very much fatigued to read, day after day, of the fanciful salary figures that are being printed of and concerning diverse and sundry dark necks who are capable of hitting above .300 and stealing a few, now and then, says the Milwaukee Sentinel. Indeed, if these worthy professional gentlemen who have probably denied themselves years of fun and amusement have scrimped and pinched in every way to get an education and have made themselves and families economize until they could get established, stop to think at all about the matter, it must make them sick at heart and peevish at the confounded order of things that makes such a condition possible.

The average ballplayer gets six times as much salary as the average minister, probably three or four times as much as the average lawyer and from two to three times as much as the average doctor, and all because he neglected brains for brawn. When one stops to think how many good barbers, brakemen and bartenders there are getting more than doctors, lawyers and preachers, it knocks the props out from under his idea of the fitness of things.

There is a chance here for a lot of comment, but the object of this little preachment largely is to get you folks thinking about it. Try it. If you don't get "hot," then it's because a kindly fate has declared you in on this easy "stuff."

WHITE HAS SHUT-OUT HONORS

Chicago Twirler Holds Record for Blanking Foes, Not Jack Chesbro, Says Statistician.

George L. Moreland, the Pittsburgh baseball statistician, has found figures tending to prove that "Doc" Harry White of the Chicago White Sox established the world's record for consecutive runless innings for 45 innings and not Chesbro for the Highlanders with 42 as recently contended. White shut out Cleveland, St. Louis, Detroit, New York and the Athletics in nine inning games in 1904.

Barrows' Chances. Manager Ganzel of Rochester has received a letter from Roland Barrows, in which the injured outfielder said that his physicians had told him that he need fear no permanent injury to his left leg. Barrows is optimistic that he will be able to get into harness again at least by August 1.

Weight of Pirates' Bats. THE LURE OF THE WEST

WESTERN CANADA ATTRACTING THOUSANDS OF SETTLERS.

Writing on the Canadian West, an eastern exchange truthfully says: "The West still calls with imperative voice. To prairie and mountain, and for the Pacific Coast, Ontario's young men and women are attracted by tens of thousands yearly. The great migration has put an end to the fear, freely expressed not many years ago by those who knew the West from the lakes to the farther coast of Vancouver Island, that Canada would some day break in two because of the predominance of Continental European and American settlers in the West."

This is true. While the immigration from the United States is large, running close to 150,000 a year, that of the British Isles and Continental Europe nearly twice that number, making a total of 400,000 per year, there is a strong influx from Eastern Canada. It is not only in the prairie provinces that these people go, but many of them continue westward, the glory of British Columbia's great trees and great mountains, the excellent agricultural valleys, where can be grown almost all kinds of agriculture and where fruit has already achieved prominence. Then the vast expanse of the plains attracts hundreds of thousands, who at once set to work to cultivate their vast holdings. There is still room, and great opportunity in the West. The work of man's hands, even in the cities with their record-breaking building rush, is the smallest part of the great panorama that is spread before the eye on a journey through the country. Nature is still supreme, and man is still the divine pigmy audaciously seeking to impose his will and stamp his mark upon an unconquered half continent.

The feature that most commends itself in Western development today is the "home-making spirit." The West will find happiness in planting trees and making gardens and building schools and colleges and universities, and producing a home environment so that there will be no disposition to regard the country as a temporary place of abode in which everyone is trying to make his pile preparing to go back East or becoming a lotus-eater beside the Pacific.

The lure of the West is strong. It will be still stronger when the crude new towns and villages of the plains are embowered in trees and vocal with the song of birds.—Advertiser.

Not Worth It. "Why did you name the baby Nebuchadnezzar?" "His Uncle Nebuchadnezzar has promised to leave him $5,000."
